

Reports Show Phenomenal Growth Of Red Bank Presbyterian Church

Rev. Charles S. Webster, Red Bank Presbyterian church pastor, disclosed in his annual report at a congregational meeting Wednesday night of last week that 179 new members had united with the church during 1954. This number brings the active membership to 1,105, which constitutes an increase of more than 100 per cent during the last five years. The report also showed the church school enrollment now numbers 500 and its youth budget pledges for 1955 exceed $4,300, an increase of 300 per cent over 1953.

Enlarging Church Staff

The minister, who presided over the congregational portion of the meeting, further disclosed that the church is about to add to its staff an assistant minister, who will be given the appellation, "minister of education and visitation." His primary duties will relate to the church school, the varied youth program of the church, and aiding in parish visitation.

In the light of this contemplation, Mrs. John Mayskens, who has served as church visitor in the church since May, 1949, tendered her resignation effective Feb. 1, in order to assume a similar role in the Shrewsbury Presbyterian church. Mrs. Robert S. Douglas, Jr., director of Christian education, likewise found it necessary to resign inasmuch as she soon will be leaving this area. The congregation voted its appreciation to these staff members for their faithful and effective service.

Elders, Deacons Elected

At the congregational meeting, the following were elected elders: Harry O. Metzgar, one year; Robert H. Edmunds, two years; and Ramsey E. Cammack, Edwin S. Chase, William L. Ford, George Reid, Robert W. Upson, and David W. Woodward, three years. An expression of thanks was extended to Ralph R. Eckert, William J. Florence, Louis O. Ford and Ralph A. Norton for their services as elders during the last three years. Other elders presently serving the church are Philip E. Bailly, Craig Grenshaw, Joseph C. Davison, Harold

Some talk Thursday was given to the board plan to dispose of the unneeded Pine Brook school. Mr. Steinmuller said he had been advised that the Borough of New Shrewsbury wants the building and the board was inclined to permit the borough to have it. If the borough decides against accepting it, it will be put up for private sale, as decided previously.

Leon Williams, spokesman for the Pine Brook community, said he hoped the borough will permit the building's use for community recreation.

Parish House Ceremony Set for Saturday

SHREWSBURY — Rt. Rev. Alfred L. Banyard, bishop of New Jersey's Episcopal diocese, will preside Saturday at ground-breaking ceremonies for the new parish house of Old Christ church and for the church yard consecration.

Also participating will be Very Rev. Harry L. Hadley, S.T.M., pastor of St. James church, Bradley Beach, who is dean of the Monmouth and Ocean county convocation. Rev. Theodore E. A. LeVan, rector, will be host at a reception in the parish house following the ceremony.

Twp. Educators Adopt $279,044 School Budget

Teachers' Pay Will Be Raised; Other Board Notes

TINTON FALLS—The Shrewsbury township school board last Thursday night adopted and presented to the voters Feb. 8 its $279,044.56 budget for 1955-56 that will finance the operation of the Tinton Falls and Sycamore schools.

Some explanations of specific budget items were given—mostly to satisfy questions asked by candidates for school board seats—but no objections were made to any of the items listed.

At the meeting, a drawing was held to determine the order in which names of the six candidates who are competing for three full-term board seats will be listed on the school ballot.

Order on Ballot

They will appear in this order: Sarah E. Bess, Nelson M. Holman, George W. Johanson, Russell G. Canfield, Mrs. Agnes Epps and Joseph S. Gilbert. Of the group, present members running for re-election are Mr. Canfield and Mr. Gilbert. A member not running for re-election is Mrs. R. C. Hallett.

The budget provides for teachers' salary increases, based in part up on the state standard set up by legislative bill A-3, with variations. School teachers will get raises of $300 a year or more under the formula approved, which follows:

The minimum will be raised to $3,300. Maximum pay will be $9,000 to $5,100 a year for teachers with a two-year normal school education, to $5,400 for those with bachelor degrees and $5,700 for those with master degrees.

The board gave School Superintendent George C. Malone the right to act independently in hiring any minimum-salary teachers needed. He will have to confer with Louis A. Steinmuller, board president, and members of the teachers' committees on any who will be paid more than minimum salaries.

Other Higher Items

Other budget items which are higher include transportation—up from $25,250 to $39,000, owing to the necessity of starting new routes for the growing local population; administrative salaries, up from $9,700 to $10,800, to provide for an increase in pay of $1,375—from $5,625 to $7,000 for Superintendent Malone; tuition (Red Bank High school) up from $56,400 to $65,250, and repairs and replacements, from $8,850 to $10,400. This will pull the overall budget figure up from 1954-55's $215,855 to $271,679.

However, there is offset by higher aid from the state and federal governments and the board does not expect the school tax rate to be increased this year.

Name Election Order

Council Pays Tribute to Peter J. Eichele

Peter J. Eichele, who retired as a member of the Fair Haven borough council Dec. 31 after 16 years of service, was tendered a testimonial dinner Saturday night at Old Orchard Country club by his former colleagues on the borough's governing body. The dinner was arranged as a surprise for Mr. Eichele. Above, Mayor Edgar V. Denise left, presents an ex-councilman's badge to Mr. Eichele.

Also recipient of an ex-councilman's badge was former Councilman James A. Enright. It was presented by Councilman Tony E. Hunting. Present members of the council receiving badges were Eugene M. Magee and Jack Danico, presented by Councilmen Russell H. Minton and Arthur H. Rieman, respectively. Mr. Danico is Mr. Eichele's successor on the council.

Mr. Eichele was chairman of the finance committee at the time of his retirement from the council. Mayor Denise praised the guest of honor for his many years of service to the borough and for his efficient management of the borough's financial affairs.

Joining with the mayor in paying tribute to Mr. Eichele were Joseph J. Seaman, borough auditor;

Theodore D. Parsons, borough attorney, and his associate, William R. Blair, Jr.; borough clerk M. Floyd Smith, Councilman Jesse J. McElroy and the other members of the council already mentioned.

After expressing his appreciation, Mr. Eichele recalled incidents to show the fine spirit of cooperation that exists among the members of the borough's official family. He referred to George Curchin, borough collector, as one of Fair Haven's outstanding officials. Mr. Curchin was invited to the dinner, but was unable to attend because of illness.

Strong Buyer Interest in Local Realty

Strong buyer interest and many sales are reported by Ray Van Horn this week to The Register. According to Mr. Van Horn, who is head of the Ray Van Horn Agency, Fair Haven, there are many more prospective home seekers in the market right now than at any time in several months, so it is indicated that the Spring season of real estate sales should be a very busy one, with many buyers coming from out of town.

Joseph J. Seaman, Jr., of Monmouth Beach has purchased through the Van Horn firm a new ranch house in Charles Crest, Little Silver, built by Maimone Brothers. Mr. Seaman recently married Barbara Samuelson of Fair Haven. The couple returned from a wedding trip to Bermuda and are now residing in their new dwelling.

The Van Horn firm has also sold the remodelled Minton home- stead owned by Mr. and Mrs. William V. Kacen, located on a plot of nearly an acre on Poplar ave., Fair Haven, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jones of Woodside, N. Y. This rambling one-story cottage, painted barn red, has six rooms, picture windows, wood paneling and many interesting features.

Stanley Dahlgren Seeks Board Seat

FAIR HAVEN—Stanley Dahlgren of 266 Hance rd. has filed a petition as a candidate for the board of education here.

The candidate said this week: "I was educated in Evanston, Ill., and at Northwestern university. He is employed as a project engineer by the Wilcoator company of Elizabeth. Mr. Dahlgren, who has two sons attending the Knoolwood school, is a member of the local cub scout committee, sea scout committee and Dads, Inc. He is former treasurer and former member of the board of governors of the Shrewsbury River Yacht club.

The candidate said this week: "Together with most of the citizens of Fair Haven, I share the belief that we have a serious responsibility to provide continued improvement in our schools. I feel it is an honor to be a candidate for the school board and, if elected, I will vote for the measures that in my opinion will broaden the educational opportunities and provide inspiration for our children. I consider half-sessions an objectionable expedient that should be eliminated at Fair Haven schools at the end of the current year."

Local Guardsmen At Fort Knox

Louis I. Augier of 53 Wallace st. and Vito Morano of Long Branch, sergeants in the New Jersey National Guard, have been attending the advanced non-commissioned officers' course at the Armored school, Fort Knox, Ky., since Jan. 10 for a 14-week tank commander's course.

Sgt. Augier and Sgt. Morano, members of Company "B," 64th Tank Battalion in Red Bank will attend courses of instruction designed to train selected personnel for tactical duties as tank commanders in all phases of offensive and defensive operations.

Instruction will include maintenance, driving, offensive operation, defensive operation, armored infantry operation, staff subjects, communication, tank gunnery and other related subjects.

Sgts. Augier and Morano will receive regular Army pay and maintenance while at school and upon completion of the course in May they will return to their units.

Estate Planning Council To Meet Here Monday

A meeting of the Estate Planning council will be held at Peter's restaurant at 6:30 p. m. next Monday.

The council is composed of attorneys, accountants, life underwriters and trust men of Monmouth county, and its aim, G. L. Bielitz, president said, "is to develop cooperation and understanding between groups interested in problems of estate planning and taxation, in order that the general public may be better served."

The discussion at this meeting will be "Income Taxation of Estates and Trusts."

Paul W. Jahnes, trust officer of the Second National bank of Red Bank and secretary of the council, is in charge of reservations.

Observes Fiftieth Anniversary as a Nun

KEYPORT—The Parent-Teacher association of St. Joseph's school met recently, at which time Sister Mary Charlotte, principal, outlined the procedure of mid-year examinations and the method of grading students.

Sister Mary Germaine of the faculty was presented with a gift from the association in observance of her 50th anniversary as a nun.

A merchandise club is being formed under the chairmanship of Mrs. Stacy Carhart. Fathers' night will be observed at the February meeting.

Sister Mary Salvatore's grade I-C and Sister Mary Protase's grade 2-C won the attendance banners. A special prize was awarded to Mrs. Eileen Windrem.

Dr. John J. Cahill of Keyport, a former pupil of St. Joseph's, was guest speaker.

CD Tests Planned At Fair Haven

FAIR HAVEN—William L. Burling, local Civil Defense and Disaster Control chairman, has announced plans for several Civil Defense tests in which the public will be required to participate.

The program will include an air raid test in the early spring. Notice of the test will be given by the Red alert—a steady three-minute blast on the fire horn. This will be followed by the white all-clear—three one minute blasts interspersed with two minutes of silence.

A subsequent test, according to Mr. Burling, will be in the nature of a disaster other than an air raid. For this situation, he said, the public will be warned by the signal 4-4 on the fire horn.

Mr. Burling also announced that the ground observer post at Sea Bright is in need of spotters. Volunteers, he added, may contact him, the Fair Haven police or the post at Sea Bright.

Also present at the meeting were Dr. John B. Movable, medical officer; Mrs. Amelia Scott, R.N., assistant medical officer in charge of nurses; Leonard Mack, fire officer, and Fred Maffeo and Lawrence Farley, members of his committee; Mrs. Lawrence J. Schilling, public relations officer; John Cain, deputy director; and Roy Nelson, representing Police Chief Carl Jakubecy, staff police officer.

Chief Boatswain Patrick J. Byrne, U. S. Navy, of Rumson, right, who received the Legion of Merit at ceremonies Friday at the Lakehurst Naval Air station, is congratulated by James H. Smith, assistant secretary of the Navy for air. Chief Boatswain Byrne, who has logged 22,000 hours in the air while flying 140 different types of Naval aircraft during his 37-year career in the Navy, received the Legion of Merit in recognition of "an outstanding flying career."

Gross Farm Value Drops 5 Per Cent

TRENTON—A five per cent drop in the gross "on-the-farm" value of New Jersey farm products last year was reported in preliminary estimates for 1954 by the Federal Statistical Service. About $281,500,000 worth of agricultural products were reported last year in the Garden state, a decline of $21,000,000 from 1953.

The greatest value decline from the previous year was noted in eggs, although production in 1954 reached a record high. Still ranking first, eggs accounted for $112,600,000 for the total value, a drop of nearly $20,000,000. Poultry, including chickens, turkeys, ducks, geese and baby chicks, again ranked fourth, accounting for about $34,000,000, a decrease of roughly $3,000,000.

The combined value of eggs and poultry contributed approximately 38 cents of each farm dollar of gross income compared with 32 cents in 1953.

Milk again ranked second in on-the-farm value, accounting for $85,000,000, an increase of $600,000. Vegetables were in third place once more, valued at $54,500,000, about $5,000,000 under 1953.

Increases over 1953 were noted for nursery and greenhouse products, ranking fifth, to $33,000,000, 22 per cent above 1953; hay to more than $17,000,000, three per cent more than the previous year, and tree fruits to $10,625,000, an increase of four per cent.

Miscellaneous products, including grapes, honey, lumber and fur, rose $200,000 to $1,300,000. White potatoes, which took a considerable drop in 1953, rose 23 per cent, 1954 to a gross value of $6,810,000.

Slight declines from the previous year were recorded for grains to nearly $23,900,000, meat animals to $17,700,000, and berries to almost $7,300,000.

91 Heart Victims To Help Launch Fund Campaign

To Attend Sunday Tea at Reade Home To Open Canvass

MIDDLETOWN—The 91 victims of various heart diseases who have been helped by the Monmouth County Heart association during the past few years will be guests at a tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reade, Jr., on Navesink River rd., Sunday afternoon to open the 1955 heart fund drive for a goal of $30,000.

The campaign will be conducted during February, which is known as Heart month. A general house-to-house solicitation in every municipality in the county will be made Feb. 20, which is National Heart Sunday.

Mr. Reade, chairman of the campaign, announced that guests at the tea will include officers of the county association, municipal chairmen for the drive and members of the special gifts committee, of which S. L. Oyenheimer of Rumson is chairman.

Dr. Louis F. Albright, president of the state heart association, will be guest speaker. Others who will address the group are Dr. Paul K. Bornstein, president of the county association; and Mr. Reade.

"We have invited these heart disease patients to our opening function in the campaign," Mr. Reade said, "because we want them to be with us as we launch another fight to help save the lives of many more county residents. Many of these people probably would not be alive today, or certainly would not be as physically able as they are, if it were not for the wonderful work done by the Monmouth county heart association, and we feel they are an important part of it."

Mr. Reade went on to say that the various heart diseases cause 59 per cent of all deaths in the country, "and now through the great work of the heart association, we are able to reduce that figure considerably."

He added that Monmouth county has become a leader in the research and progress made in recent years on heart ailments. "The necessity for these funds can be readily seen when one realizes that of only 33 heart clinics in the nation approved by the American Heart association, we in Monmouth county are fortunate enough to have two of them right here at Monmouth Memorial and Pitkin hospitals."

The county association, unlike many affiliates of national organizations, retains and spends the majority of the money it raises in Monmouth county. The funds are used for research, examinations, operations, medications and medical and nursing care.

Steady Planning Seems to Keep County Ahead of Water Dry-Up

Reunion Dinner For Class of 1935

Mrs. Ada A. Crandall of Clinton, retired Red Bank high school teacher, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Wilborn of Huntington, L. I., will be guests of honor at the 20th reunion dinner of Red Bank high school's February class of 1935 Saturday at Crystal Brook inn, Eatonville, N.J. Sunday afternoon for a goal of $30,000.

The campaign will be conducted during February, which is known as Heart month. A general house-to-house solicitation in every municipality in the county will be made Feb. 20, which is National Heart Sunday.

Mr. Reade, chairman of the campaign, announced that guests at the tea will include officers of the county association, municipal chairmen for the drive and members of the special gifts committee, of which S. L. Oyenheimer of Rumson is chairman.

Council Sells Old Fire House

FAIR HAVEN—The mayor and council Monday night sold the old fire house on Fair Haven rd. to Victor Meyers of Haddon park, this place, for $7,500.

A bid of $7,000 for the building was submitted at council's last meeting by Russell Borus, local realty representative. Mr. Meyers, who there were no other offers Monday night Mayor Denise explained council felt the $7,000 figure was too low for the property. The building was sold after Mr. Borus raised the bid to $7,500. The vote to sell was unanimous, except for Councilman Tony Hunting, who abstained because of his association with Mr. Borus. The realtor said Mr. Meyers has tentative plans to convert the building for business office use.

Salary Increases
Council introduced on first reading a new salary ordinance under which all borough employees will receive raises. Salaries proposed under the new measure are as follows: Borough collector, $4,700; treasurer, $700; assessor, $1,300; borough clerk, $4,100; police chief, $5,300; police sergeant, $4,800; patrolman, $3,500; temporary patrolman, $3,167; temporary patrolman when on duty, $3,500; librarian, $2,600; library and police department janitor, $700; senior sanitation employee, $3,900; junior sanitation employee, $3,300; sanitation employee, $3,200; sanitation employee, $3,100; borough electrician, $500; magistrate, $1,500; court clerk, $200, and custodian and utility employee, $3,750. All figures represent annual salaries except the $316.67 for temporary patrolman, which would be paid monthly.

Mayor Edgar V. Denise called attention to the fact that street lights in the borough have remained out several nights in a row due to a curtailment in Jersey Central Power and Light company's repair service. He asked Councilman John C. Danico to look into the matter.

A request from Robert L. Edwards of Lincoln ave. that a street light be installed on Chestnut st. between First and Second sts., was referred to the public utilities committee with power to act. Mr. Edwards' property runs between Lincoln ave. and Chestnut st. and his garage and car were destroyed by a mysterious fire two weeks ago.

Plant Modernized Is Going Forward Quickly

Plans being made or suggested by technical experts outside the industry are being weighed and studied.

Consideration and effort is being made to improve—through pay, pensions and recreation, as well as continuing emphasis upon safety at work—the lives of water company employees.

Co-operation is being asked and received from experts in the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development and the Water Supply and Public Utility commissions in company supply and rate questions.

Friday's tour, a detailed one, started at the Newman Springs station, just east of the Garden State Parkway.

How Operation Works
There, one could see how gravity and underground streams push new water into a huge mixing tank. The water is kept swirling around this tank, over big "elbow brushes," as alum and lime are injected to form a sort of jelly that collects bacteria, mud and other impurities. The water then goes into a settling basin where the impurities sink and can be disposed of. Carbon is added to remove all traces of odor and taste. The water goes on through filtering tanks to be further "washed" by sand and gravel, and mixed with chlorine to safeguard its purity, and fluorine, for the protection of children's teeth. The chlorine, added at the rate of 3 part per one million parts water, kills bacteria and controls plant growth. Fluorine goes in at one part per million, a state regulation. The purified water then is pumped away to storage tanks and into the system.

Set For Emergencies

The Newman Springs pumps work by public electricity. But huge Diesel engines are kept ready to run to supply power if the electricity, for any reason should fail.

One busy man at Newman Springs is Harry Hochstetler, research analyst, who sees to it that the water is kept at a standard of high purity and reports his findings to the state.

The company's Swimming River reservoir is the chief source of supply for the system. Overlooking a vantage point, from a hill, is the company recreation area with dining halls for employees who are invited out for two big parties a year.

The next stop was at the Jumping Brook station, where as much as five million gallons of water a day can be taken from the surface supply and 1.5 million gallons from a deep well. Here, an iron removal plant, another water-washing system, is in use and a second one planned. Water here is put through HIGHLANDS—Councilman Herbert Hartsgrove was guest of honor at a testimonial dinner Saturday at Bahrs Landing restaurant.

Byrne Awarded Legion of Merit For 'Outstanding Flying Career'

U. S. NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST—Climaxing a career of 37 years in the Navy, Chief Boatswain Patrick J. "Pappy" Byrne, USN, of Rumson was awarded one of this nation's highest honors—the Legion of Merit—by James H. Smith, Jr., assistant secretary of the Navy for Air, at a formal ceremony here Friday.

The 58-year-old Byrne, known throughout the Navy as "the grand old man of naval aviation" earned the honor by logging 22,000 hours of flight time—about two and one-half years in the air—flying 140 different types of aircraft.

Mr. Byrne's citation reads: "The President of the United States takes pleasure in presenting the Legion of Merit to Chief Boatswain Patrick J. Byrne, United States Navy, for services as set forth in the following citation: For exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services to the government of the United States during the period of 1 Jan. 1918, to 1 Jan. 1954. Throughout a notably successful and distinguished naval career, Chief Boatswain has logged over 22,000 flying hours in more than 140 different types of aircraft, establishing an enviable record in the field of aviation. Piloting aircraft in the beginning which had no instruments other than an oil pressure gauge, he has flown all naval planes so proficiently through the years, including the seaplane "Mars," that the name Byrne has become a legend among naval aviators. A resourceful and expert pilot, he has aided in establishing the location of practically every United States Naval seaplane base in the world, and has conducted aerial surveys for commercial concerns, laying out certain of the initial world seaplane routes. His outstanding professional skill and conscientious and resolute devotion to duty during his many years in the Navy reflect the highest credit upon Chief Boatswain Byrne and the United States Naval service."

The Legion of Merit is awarded personnel of the Armed Forces of the United States who have distinguished themselves by exceptional meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services.

Before entering the Navy Dec. 14, 1917, CHIEFS Byrne already had flying experience, flying a Burgess-Dunne seaplane with the late Gen. Howard S. Borden of Rumson. He had his first flight in this plane Apr. 15, 1915.

After receiving Navy training as a machinist mate in 1918, he flew as co-pilot, plane captain and signalman with the seaplane patrol unit, U. S. Naval Air station, Norfolk, Va.

In Feb., 1919, he was ordered to a unit to form the first Fleet Air Detachment in the Navy under the command of Capt. George W. Steele aboard the flagship USS Shawmut. Using F5L and H-16 type aircraft this unit flew the first aerial flights in the Caribbean sea areas.

In 1920 Mr. Byrne received his flight training, graduating in the first class of enlisted men and was designated Naval aviation pilot 10. As pilot 10 he then instructed at U. S. Naval Air station, Pensacola, Fla. for two years.

In 1922 he was transferred to the USS Wright, where he served as pilot for patrol and scouting squadron, Atlantic fleet.

Mr. Byrne then served aboard the USS Langley, the Navy's first aircraft carrier. From the Langley he was transferred to the cruiser USS Richmond, where he worked on hydrographic surveys in Tasmania, the Marquesas Islands, Australia, New Zealand and the Galapagos Islands, beginning a long career of surveying for seaplane routes and seadromes, both for the Navy and for civilian organizations.

Although he has flown almost every type aircraft the Navy has including jets, Byrne's career has been centered around seaplanes. Capt. D. L. Mills, USN, commanding officer of the Naval Air station at Miramar, Cal., says: "CHIEFS Byrne is without peer in the field of flying boats."

While attached to a patrol squadron in the Pacific area, Mr. Byrne was ordered in Feb., 1942, to the Naval Air station, Norfolk, Va., to aid in the commissioning of VR-1, seaplane division. This was the first unit of the Naval Air Transport service, now known as Fleet Survey flights over the Atlantic Logistic Air Wing. In 1943 he flew survey flights over the Atlantic and Mediterranean for the commander of naval forces in North Africa and the Mediterranean for the purpose of establishing seaplane routes and bases.

In 1944 he was instrumental in the establishment of VBP 4, a large seaplane unit at Floyd Bennett field, a field named for another Navy aviator with whom Byrne served in the early days of his career.

Since 1948 Mr. Byrne has been active in ferrying seaplanes from the East Coast to Seattle, Wash. This is a highly dangerous task, for after leaving Corpus Christi, Tex., there are only four bodies of water large enough to make emergency landings.

In 1950 he flew survey flights all over the Mediterranean for the chief of naval operations, at that time the late Admiral Sherman, for the purpose of establishing seaplane bases and anchorages to provide logistical support to the Mediterranean fleet.

Mr. Byrne took time out from his Navy duties in 1939 to lay out the initial world seaplane routes for American Export Airlines, now known as American Overseas Airlines, and later merged with Pan American Airways at the former airline's request. Again in 1946 he made a survey flight to Callao Harbor, Lima, Peru, which led to the establishments of seadrome sites for Lima-Tampa-New Orleans Airlines. One of the return flights on this survey was a 3,900 mile non-stop flight.

Being a pioneer in Naval aviation, Byrne first flew in planes which had, instead of the maze of complicated gauges and dials found in the planes of today, merely an oil pressure gauge. He used a string tied to the bow of the plane to tell whether the plane was slipping, skidding or flying straight ahead, and he judged his airspeed by the singing of the plane's wires.

Mr. Byrne had established such an excellent reputation of his flying ability that he was selected in 1942 to make the test flights of the famous "Mars" Navy flying boat.

EXPORTS OF FARM PRODUCTS

TRENTON — New Jersey farmers have a vital interest in the exports of all farm products, pointed out Gwynn Garnett, director of International Trade Development, American Farm Bureau Federation, at the adjourned session of the 36th annual convention of the New Jersey Farm Bureau.

"Speaking on 'Developing Foreign Markets for New Jersey Farm Products,'" Garnett told the Farmers week gathering that two out of three acres devoted from basic crops in 1954 were due to loss of export markets since 1951. Many of these diverted acres are being used to produce feed for milk cows and poultry and for vegetables which compete with New Jersey farm products.

"Beyond this there is a potential market abroad for dried milk, eggs and poultry which could be of increasing importance to New Jersey farmers," he continued.

Waite on 'Atka' At South Pole

FORT MONMOUTH—The icebreaker "Atka," enroute to the Antarctic, left Little America last week with a Fort Monmouth electronics engineer salvaging signal equipment he installed at the polar exploration base more than 20 years ago.

Amory "Bud" Waite, of Fortaupeck, one of the ten civilian scientists on the expedition and Signal Corps observer on the trip, found his electric generator still turning after 20 years. This was during the era he made expeditions with Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

By means of helicopter "airlifts," the party brought some small items back to the boat. These included cameras, surveying equipment, medical books and a case of cocoa to replenish the ship's short supply, plus Waite's generator to strengthen the ship's radio output.

Little America's history as a base for polar exploration has come to an end. One entire side of the harbor is broken into icebergs, leaving a shallow indentation in the coast, which is now an unbroken line of ice cliffs 80 to 150 feet high.

An earlier report direct from Waite after sailing from Wellington, New Zealand, indicated everything running smoothly.

The five-month voyage of the classified "scientific survey" of the Antarctic is scheduled for return to the United States in mid-April. Leaving Boston harbor Dec. 1, the mission of the crew aboard the 650-ton icebreaker is to enter the South Polar region to examine current ice pack conditions and possible sites for the planned U. S. Antarctic efforts during the coming International Geophysical year in Little America and other areas. The Antarctic is a land mass of 6,000,000 square miles.

Waite's specific activities as Signal Corps observer cover everything that applies to meteorology, communications, radar, sonar, loran, wave propagation and photography.

Already, in reference to the audio frequency whistle program concerning the length of soundwaves, he has mailed nine rolls of recordings of tiny, lightning-originated whistles to Boulder, Colo., where the program is under the sponsorship of the Bureau of Standards.

During the 20,000 mile expedition, Waite also is conducting observations of time signals from England, Japan and the United States. These are on ten frequencies every two hours throughout the trip.

Waite, formerly of Wollaston, Mass., is chief of the equipment reliability test group with the radio communications branch in Cotes Signal Laboratory—a component of the Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories.

A prediction come true...

a promise to you made good

...a challenge renewed for 5-D Gasolene

CITIES SERVICE OIL COMPANY
PRODUCERS • REFINERS • MARKETERS • EXPORTERS
NEW YORK 5, N. Y.
SEVENTY FINE STREET

Memo To Our Customers:

Cities Service refineries are now turning out gasolene with the highest octane available to you . . . Cities Service New 5-D Premium.

Nobody—literally nobody—tops Cities Service New 5-D Premium in octane. And many of today's gasolenes do not even approach it.

That is why we renew a challenge made when Cities Service New 5-D Premium was first introduced in the fall of 1953. We challenged any motorist driving any car to make the motor knock with New 5-D.

For 1955, we repeat it. The new model engines have all substantially increased compression ratios—some went as high as 9 to 1. These engines demand more of gasolene. They get more from Cities Service New 5-D Premium. Cities Service research and technology have kept pace with the automotive engineer—and far more!

We again challenge you to just try and make your engine—new or old—knock with Cities Service New 5-D Premium Gasolene!

But high octane is not all the story.

As the name implies, Cities Service New 5-D combines five outstanding improvements in a single gasolene. Today, most gasolenes have incorporated some of these improvements. But Cities Service New 5-D—and only 5-D—has all five . . . and you need all five to bring out the top performance of your engine. For example, would you want any of these features missing from your gasolene?

1. EXTRA-HIGH OCTANE. No gasolene on the market has higher octane . . . most have a much lower octane rating.
2. ANTI-CARBON. The first gasolene to drastically reduce harmful carbon formation and promote a new high in engine cleanliness.
3. ANTI-RUST. Prevents rust throughout entire fuel system.
4. UPPER-CYLINDER LUBRICANT. Built-in lubrication to protect valve stems and top-rings . . . plus an anti-oxidant that stops this lubricant from oxidizing the way ordinary upper-cylinder lubricants do.
5. ANTI-STALLING. Stops annoying stalling due to weather changes in winter, spring and fall.

When the original 5-D Premium was introduced over a year ago, Cities Service predicted that the great competitive petroleum industry would bring forth improvement after improvement.

We also promised you that our research scientists at Cities Service would never rest on their laurels, would leave nothing untried, nothing undone, to produce even finer gasolene.

We are completely confident, because this ever-moving goal of improvement is backed by a research program second to none in progressiveness and underwritten by an investment of more than $35,000,000 during the past two years alone in the latest refining facilities.

Our renewed pledge to you and the 19,000 Cities Service dealers is that this improvement will continue. Fine as it is today, we confidently expect Cities Service New 5-D to be still finer in the days ahead.

A.B.C. Criticizes
12-Day Penalty

KEANSBURG — William Howe Davis, director of the state division of Alcoholic Beverage Control, has criticized the mayor and council here in the 12-day suspension of the liquor license of the Maplewood hotel, 88 Maplewood ave.

Mr. Davis, in a letter Friday to Borough Attorney Howard W. Roberts, which was released to the press, said it is the practice of the A. B. C. "in similar cases to impose a penalty of not less than 30 days' suspension (and possibly more in aggravated cases) with remission of no more than five days for the confessional plea."

Borough council Tuesday night of last week—with Ma. or James J. Gravano absent, confined home by illness—suspended the hotel's plenary retail consumption license 12 days after a plea of guilty was submitted to a charge of selling alcoholic beverages in original containers for off-premises consumption on a Sunday.

The 12-day suspension will go into effect next Monday.

Noting the A. B. C. practice of the more stringent penalty, Mr. Davis added: "Apparently the mayor and council has less regard for its own hours regulations and the effect of the local hours referendum than we have."

No Comment

Mr. Roberts would not comment on the letter from the A. B. C. director.

Councilman Martin C. Lohsen was in the chair last week in the mayor's absence. Councilman William Turner concurred in the penalty.

Mr. Davis' letter follows: "This acknowledges your letter of Jan. 19 [Wednesday of last week] reporting disposition in disciplinary proceedings conducted by the Keansburg mayor and council against Maplewood hotel, Inc., trading as Maplewood hotel, 88 Maplewood ave."

"It is noted that the licensee, charged with sale of alcoholic beverages in original containers for off-premises consumption during hours prohibited by state regulation and sale of alcoholic beverages during hours prohibited by municipal regulation and referendum on plea of guilty was penalized by suspension of license for 12 days, effective Jan. 21.

'Deliberate . . . Customary'

"It is further noted that the violations (all occurring well before noon on a Sunday) were obviously deliberate, flagrant and customary as evidenced by the number of patrons being served and the statement of the licensee's president to our agents that 'next time, like on election days, Sundays and holidays, please park it (their car) on the street in front' (rather than in the parking lot of the hotel).

"Please express to the mayor and council our appreciation for conducting these proceedings. However, as the mayor and council knows, it is our practice in similar cases to impose a penalty of not less than

Easter Seal Campaign Set

ASBURY PARK — Alan Silbergleit, local merchant and civic leader, will be county chairman for the 1955 Easter Seal appeal for the crippled. Ott Klein of Baleville, president of New Jersey Society for Crippled Children and Adults, has announced. The appeal will open Mar. 10 and continue until Easter Sunday, Apr. 10.

This will be the first year that there has been a separate Easter Seal appeal in Monmouth county. In the past, the county has been linked into larger appeal areas. For the last three years, Leon Anshelewitz of Asbury Park, has been Monmouth-Ocean Easter Seal chairman. Last fall Anshelewitz was elected to the board of trustees of the New Jersey Society—the statewide Easter Seal society.

As 1955 Easter Seal chairman, Silbergleit will sign the approximately 50,000 Easter Seal appeal letters which will go to Monmouth county residents starting Mar. 10 and will coordinate other aspects of the appeal. Funds from the annual Easter Seal appeal, Klein pointed out, support the year-round statewide program of treatment and other rehabilitation services for the crippled which is maintained by New Jersey society.

Silbergleit, who operates Asbury Park's oldest men's clothing store, is active in business, civic and fraternal organizations. He is president of the New Jersey Retail Clothiers and Furnishers association, a director of the Asbury Park Chamber of Commerce and a member of major Chamber committees, chairman of the board of directors of Congregation Sons of Israel, a past president of Northern New Jersey Council of Bnai Brith and a member of the advisory council of its Anti-Defamation league, past Grand Tall Cedar of the Asbury Park Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, and a member of Jordan Lodge 247, F. and A. M.

Born in Asbury Park, Silbergleit attended Asbury Park high school and Syracuse university. His home is at 8 Lakeview Drive rd., Deal.

SCHOOL NEWS

Bernard Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hoffman of 146 Monmouth st., Red Bank, has been elected a member of the Honorary Historical society of the Washington Square college of N. Y. U., according to a letter received at R. B.H.S. from Dean W. H. McCloskey. Hoffman graduated from R.B.H.S. in 1951, winning the Whitfield scholarship. The Honorary Historical society exists to stimulate interest in the study of history, and is composed of high ranking majors and minors in history.—Robert Graves Examinations in major subjects were given last week in Red Bank high school. A maximum of 75 minutes was allotted for each subject. Examinations in most minor subjects were completed last week during regular class periods.

Willis M. Sisson, acting principal, gave this reporter some suggestions for preparing for important examinations. He stated that cramming is of little help if the student does not know the material which has been covered in class. The purpose of semester examinations is to determine how well the student has learned the subject through the past months. If daily assignments have been regularly prepared, the approaching exams should cause no worry. Mr. Sisson also suggested that the entire list of questions or problems be read, and that the student should then answer first those which appear easiest, leaving until last those which appear most difficult.—Patli Keiper

People at Riverview hospital will be seeing new faces at the Coffee shop, since girls from Red Bank high school and River Street school have volunteered their services.

Under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen VanBunt, the girls will wait on tables, sell gifts, and assist in other useful ways. Girls who will help are Sharon Burdge, Diana Garruto, Nancy Hurd, Penny and Pam Petrell, Lucy Laverick, Wanda Richmond, Carol Aldinger, Barbara Aumack, Erminia Benincasa, Judy Mc Laughlin and Betty Rae Beck, from R.B.H.S. From River Street school will be Beth Dobb and Linda Kaehel.

Other girls from the high school who wish to volunteer, may contact Mrs. V. J. Pazio, chairman of the volunteers.—Diana Garruto and Penny Petrell

Fritz Cleary, school news editor of the Asbury Park Press, has been giving talks on journalism to Carl Bomberger's sixth period freshman English class of Red Bank high school. Members of the class are writing articles for the school news section of the Press. Students who succeed in having eight articles printed will receive a reporter's card, and after having 16 articles used, will be eligible for a trip to Bear Mountain and West Point in May.

A good deal of interest is being sustained through the highly interesting and humorous talks given by Mr. Cleary each Tuesday morning at R.B.H.S. Mr. Cleary illustrates his points by sketches. For example, a car with a man at the wheel, suggested a sentence carrying an idea. Spark plugs stood for effective words. Another symbol was a stairway, the top portion illustrating the climax, the bottom indicating the less important details.—Diana Garruto

ED SULLIVAN SAYS:

"I say you don't know what you're missing until you own a new Mercury"

"Your dealer is making it easy for you to buy one right now!"

"Every dealer I've talked to says the same thing. The 1955 Mercury has caught on like wildfire. And with plenty of good reasons. Mercury's styling is exclusive. Distinctive lines, unique color combinations. You don't have to look twice to know it's a Mercury. And there's new performance to match. For every 1955 Mercury is powered by a new 188- or 198-horsepower SUPER-TORQUE V-8 engine. 'John Wesley' to Be Shown at Embury Church

Pictured is a scene from the motion picture, "John Wesley," which will be shown at Embury Methodist church, Little Silver, Sunday, Feb. 6, at 8 p. m. In the photo the 18th century English churchman, evangelist and educator, is seen breaking tradition by preaching in the fields to Bristol miners. The 77-minute film was produced in Eastman color by the Radio and Film commission of the Methodist church in co-operation with J. Arthur Rank.

Rev. James W. Marshall, pastor of Embury Methodist, said the film begins by showing John Wesley's miraculous rescue from a burning house at the age of five, and continues to unfold the story of a man of impelling influence upon his contemporaries and upon history. His venture in America as a missionary to the Indians in the Red Bank area.

George colony opened the door to his discovery of a religious certainty, which led him to face mobs unafraid. Rev. Mr. Marshall said the film is being released only to Methodist churches during the initial period. He invited the public to view the picture at Embury Methodist since it will be the first showing in the Red Bank area.

Hamma to Build Post Office

FARMINGDALE—Fred C. Hamma, president of the N. J. Shore Builders association, who recently announced he will start work soon on a supermarket in this borough, said this week that he had received word confirming the fact that his proposal for a new post office had been accepted by the post office department in Washington.

Confirmation came from Assistant Postmaster General Kiehl and from Congressman James C. Archinloss, he said.

The building, which will be located on Mr. Hamma's property adjacent to the Farmingdale National bank, will encompass 4,000 square feet of floor space. This footage will include two large stores on each wing of the post office building. It will front on Main st. and be of all masonry construction.

Mr. Hamma said he will use truss roof construction which will allow him to build much of the roof structure indoors and be erected on the scene.

Phineas T. Barnum, showman and circus owner, was born in Bethel, Conn.

Naming a New Street

The first steps in converting the road-way in the parking lot from West Front st. to White st. to a public street were taken by the mayor and council last week when Borough Attorney Leon Reussille was directed to prepare the necessary ordinance.

What name shall the council give to the new street? Shall it bear the name of one of the first families in Red Bank or shall it memorialize a public servant who was an outstanding citizen of the community? It should not bear a name similar to any other street or avenue in or near the borough, as there is too much confusion already with streets which are alike or nearly so.

Why not a contest to select the name? It could be held under the supervision of the borough council. Some names which have played an important part in Red Bank's growth, and since forgotten except by a few—human nature being what it is—may be suggested, and out of these may come the best and proper selection. It's worth a try. The Register will give a $25 U. S. Savings bond to the winner.

Sportsmen Honor 'Stew'

Stewart VanVliet of Shrewsbury, who has been The Register's rod and gun editor since May 2, 1940, was given a genuine surprise recently at Shadowbrook. The occasion was the Navesink River Rod and Gun club's annual banquet at which the Addison J. Howland trophy, donated by Rep. James C. Auchincloss, is awarded for the greatest contribution to sportsmanship and conservation.

When William J. Mackey, president, presented the coveted award to Stew, the 139 guests on hand loudly applauded Mr. Mackey's comment that: "This award is being given to a man who has used his head, his heart and his pen in the great cause of sportsmanship and conservation for the past 25 years."

We at The Register are proud of the great job Mr. VanVliet has done and is doing. We're happy, too, that the club saw fit to pay him this fine tribute, which, according to the club's secretary, Richard H. Moeller, was "long overdue." In congratulating Stew, we know we express the affection and regard of The Register subscribers among our many thousands who look forward to reading his weekly column.

The Need for Teachers

From all sides, as school budgets are made up and presented at this time of the year, you hear that there is a constantly growing need for teachers in this fast-growing county of ours—true, in the nation itself.

One observation being made is that not enough parents and not enough schools today are taking steps to assure young people that a fine, proud and responsible career could lay ahead of them if they would turn to teaching. No one, aside from parents, carries a greater responsibility for molding the minds and the future of children than teachers. Theirs can and should be a job of challenge, honor, ambition and high respect—things mighty important and attractive to anyone at work.

Let it be hoped that with the steady growth of our population—local and national—there will be young people among us who, in sufficient quantity, will get out, study hard, and take the opportunity open to them, as American teachers.

Women Far Outnumbered

The state has reported the arrest of 2,883 traffic violation repeaters in 1954, a 45 per cent gain over 1953. Of the 2,883—and this will surprise many—only 27 were women. Nearly two-thirds of the repeaters were "married and had dependents," with some 60 per cent being under 30 years of age.

The system under which motorists get points scored against them seems to work, though. Motor Vehicle Director Frederick J. Gassert, Jr., said that "figures compiled over the year show that 92 per cent of the drivers penalized have been in no further conflict with traffic laws." And of the repeaters, he said, a good third declined an opportunity to have their cases heard by the state motor vehicle division, "realizing, apparently, the futility of attempting to defend their records of habitual violation."

The point system has had the desirable result of getting many dangerous drivers off the roads, and keeping them from causing accidents. Violation repeaters—those who cannot realize that driving is a privilege and not a personal right—require the time it takes to renew a revoked license to think it over.

The Farmer Looks Ahead

With projects to find sources of water supply for future needs figuring prominently in current discussions by engineers and utility officials, it is interesting to know that progressive farmers also have been busy along these lines. Ross C. Clayton, chairman of the Freehold soil conservation district, reports that more than 50 farm ponds were constructed last year in the Freehold district, which comprises Monmouth, Middlesex and Mercer counties. These ponds have been built, not only to meet critical water needs for crops, but also as a watering place for cattle, as a source of supply in the event of fire and, from the esthetic standpoint, in improving the appearance of the countryside.

Many farmers have been busy, Mr. Clayton reports, in providing drainage and also in erosion prevention work. In the three counties, nearly 700 acres of sloping land were protected against erosion by contour farming and diversion terraces, and excess water and soil loss was reduced on thousands of acres by the use of cover crops, rotations, and hay and pasture seedlings. In addition, approximately 200 acres of steep land were planted to forest seedlings.

The farmers were assisted in these accomplishments by the co-operative efforts of the soil conservation service, the extension service and the agricultural stabilization program, Mr. Clayton states. These improvements not only benefit these farmers individually, but also indirectly benefit the general public, for whichever way the farmer goes, so goes the country.

Deserved Honor of 'Pappy' Byrne

President Eisenhower's award of the Legion of Merit to Patrick J. "Pappy" Byrne of Rumson marked the highlight in a distinguished 37-year career. An outstanding Navy officer, Chief Boatswain Byrne has become a legend as a pioneer in aviation, not only among the armed forces but in commercial flying as well.

Known throughout the Navy as "the grand old man of naval aviation," he is credited with aiding in establishing the location of practically every U. S. Naval seaplane base in the world. In addition, he has laid out certain of the first world seaplane routes. His first flight dates back 40 years when he piloted a Burgess-Dunne seaplane with the late Gen. Howard S. Borden of Rumson.

We know Chief Byrne and members of his family are proud that so great an honor has come to him and we at The Register rejoice with his thousands of friends in and out of the Navy. Our wish for him is many more healthy and happy years in the Navy he so dearly loves among planes with which he has no peer.

Burning a Big Hole in America

Fire burned a big $870,984,000 hole in the fabric of America in 1954. There can be small comfort from a report by the National Board of Fire Underwriters that this loss was 3.6 per cent under that for 1953. The improvement was not a steady one, says the board. There were more costly fires in Dec., 1954, than in either Nov., 1954, or Dec., 1953.

Further evidence that the record was poor can be seen from the figures of 1952, when over-all losses went to $784,953,000. This shows that there is something of a continuing gain in fires. All of the experts say that human error or sheer carelessness is to blame for most fires. When, year after year, Americans are burning up nearly one billion dollars worth of their own property—not to mention a tragic loss in lives—and so much of this calamitous waste could be avoided surely, now, it is time to devote some attention to caution.

Safety against fire calls first for orderliness of one's belongings and one's habits. Practice order and you'll help stop the unfortunate practice of burning up America.

Caution: Women at Work

In a broad look at "American Labor: 1955," a government spokesman said that of 65 million persons in the nation's working force, 20 million are women and of them an increasingly growing number are women 40 to 55 years of age.

That's the finding of Dr. Ewan Clague, commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, U. S. Department of Labor. He said the number of older women at work is growing all the time.

Dr. Clague appeared on a panel program with Dr. Dorothy V. Whipple, pediatrician and child care specialist, and John V. Waller, a Washington executive.

All agreed women with small children should stay home but, said Dr. Whipple, even the young married woman without children is "technologically unemployed" in the home. Mr. Waller's view on the situation was that it was quite a thing. The woman works to buy appliances, uses them, has plenty of leisure time because she has them, gets bored and then goes back to work.

Be all that as it may. This appears quite evident to be another good reason why one should "never underestimate the power of a woman." They're busy and at work. And, from all we hear, they're doing a good job.

Refresher Course for Dairymen Set for Feb. 4 at Freehold YMCA

FREEHOLD—Principles of soil, water and crop management, along with better dairy practices, will make up the morning and afternoon sessions of the annual Dairy Institute for Monmouth county milk producers Friday, Feb. 4, in the Freehold Y. M. C. A.

Announcing plans for another in a series of popular refresher courses in dairying, M. A. Clark, county agricultural agent, says that the program has been arranged to help dairymen take a long look ahead.

At the morning session, to begin at 10 o'clock, specialists from the College of Agriculture at Rutgers university will deal with crop production. They will take into account good soil, water and crop management practices that mean high crop yields of relatively inexpensive feed.

At the afternoon session the emphasis will be on long-range breeding, saving feed dollars and engineering tips for efficiency and economy. The schedule will allow plenty of time for questions and answers and other discussion.

Sign-Up Begins

Monmouth county farmers who wish to enroll in the 1955 agricultural conservation program, may do so any day now by visiting the office of the county conservation committee at 44 West Main st., Freehold. Stanley M. Orr of Freehold, chairman of the county committee, announced that applications are being taken from participants in the program. He particularly stresses the need for early sign-up because of the requirements that many of the conservation practices must be first given an O. K. by the county committee.

Soil Conservation

Many conservation and improvement measures were established on the farmlands of Monmouth, Middlesex and Mercer counties during 1954. The Freehold soil conservation district supervisors, Ross C. Clayton, chairman for Monmouth county; John Schauer, treasurer, for Middlesex county, and Benjamin Hart, for Mercer county, report that over 50 farm ponds were constructed last year. These ponds helped meet critical water needs for many acres of cropland. But despite the dry year, 25 miles of ditches and brooks were dug to provide drainage on many wet fields. Approximately eight miles of these ditches and brooks were completed by groups of farmers working together. Additional wet cropland was improved by installation of tile lines.

Nearly 700 acres of sloping land were protected against erosion by contour farming and diversion terraces, and excess water and soil loss was reduced on thousands of acres in the district by the use of cover crops, rotations and hay and pasture seedlings. In addition, approximately 200 acres of steep land were planted to forest seedlings.

Chairman Clayton reports that farmers were assisted in these accomplishments by co-operative efforts of the soil conservation service, the extension service and the agricultural stabilization program.

Use Best Seed

The highest priced seed is usually the cheapest in the long run. With cheap seed, results may be disastrous, and the average vegetable grower cannot afford to lose a crop.

Many vegetable growers who are growing specialty crops will test seed from a number of sources a year in advance and when the crop has proved itself will then place orders for that strain, states M. A. Clark, agricultural agent. Ordering seed from the same seedsmen, giving the stock number or lot number of the seed also helps to eliminate difficulties in getting a reorder of the strain planted last year if the strain planted last year is the one you wish to duplicate this year.

"Seedmen act in good faith in filling orders of varieties specified, but when seed passes through a number of hands, mistakes in labeling sometimes occur. When a grower receives an order that does not come true to name, or variety, he becomes cautious and then begins to test his seed in advance. This helps him to be sure that he has the right seed of the right variety to plant."

Sometimes when even seed is tested a year in advance, weather conditions may influence growth. Elimination of as many hazards as possible is well worth the effort when costs of production are high and the market price is uncertain.

Preventing Manure Waste

Since low egg prices have forced more attention on economy in feeding, many poultrymen are concerned about waste of manure out of hoppers. Both hand-filled and mechanical feeders are subject to the same criticism, reports Richard O. Rice, associate agricultural agent,

Corrective practices for reducing this loss in stationary hoppers is not to fill them over one-third full at most, and to use equipment which has a definite flange or angle directed inward along the top edges.

Mechanical feeders with rather wide flaring flanges and with a type of drag that moves all of the feed along continuously during operation cycles is reported to have considerably less feed wastage than the narrow top, rectangular cross-section form of trough.

Nothing is more discouraging in early spring than to see a once good stand of alfalfa or red clover almost completely killed as a result of frost heaving or other winter injury. Winter losses with these legumes cannot be entirely eliminated on all soils, but some practices help to reduce the danger.

Temperature and moisture are most important in causing winter loss of legumes. Losses are due chiefly to alternate freezing and thawing that results in "frost heaving," ice sheets, which have a smothering effect on the plants, and low temperatures causing freezing, states Mr. Clark.

Heaving causes the most serious losses on most New Jersey soils. Plants are lifted, causing the crown and portions of the roots to be exposed to drying and to temperature damage.

What steps will lessen the losses from heaving and other forms of winter damage? Provide good drainage. Use a legume-mixing rather than a pure legume stand, as the fibrous-rooted grasses help hold the soil better and allow more contact with the soil after being heaved.

Use sufficient fertilizer and lime to obtain a vigorous stand with well-developed roots. Finally, manage grazing and clipping so that the stand goes into the winter with at least six inches of top growth. This stubble or other vegetative cover, such as straw mulch, helps maintain a more uniform soil temperature and also provides for a greater accumulation of snow and longer duration of the snow cover.

Know Your Government

The Long Road

Sussex county shortly will seek to conclude a 42-year-old story of the high cost and longevity of public debt.

Freeholders of New Jersey's northernmost county propose to include in their 1955 county budget an $8,092 appropriation to terminate a record of indebtedness dating back to 1913. At that time the county floated a $1½ million bond issue for construction of roads.

News reports quote one freeholder as saying that some of the roads "are not even in existence now." And that during the passage of time interest payments have aggregated more than the amount of the original debt.

With retirement of its debt, Sussex will join an exclusive group of New Jersey counties boasting debt-free status. The 1954 report of county financial statistics issued by the New Jersey Taxpayers association showed that at the close of the previous year only three counties—Hunterdon, Gloucester and Salem—at that time enjoyed debt-free status.

The same financial report showed that over-all debt of the 21 counties has been on the rise in New Jersey since 1945 and, as 1954 opened, totaled nearly $104 million. This was only part of the New Jersey public debt picture. The 649 school districts last year owed $276 million; the 587 municipalities $236 million; the state government $118 million, plus the $285 contingent state debt incurred by the New Jersey Highway Authority.

World's greatest debt is that of the federal government. This will total an estimated $274 billion at the end of the current fiscal year. New Jersey's estimated "share" of this is almost 50 per cent more than the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the state, totaling $6.8 billion.

Society to Honor Newest Members

A panel discussion, "What the Women's Society of Christian Service Stands For, Its Work and Purposes," will be featured at a meeting of the W. S. C. S. of the Red Bank Methodist church Wednesday night in Fellowship hall. New Members will be guests. Speakers will be past presidents and society officers.

Mrs. Robert Glasser is in charge of devotions. Mrs. John Bell has arranged a musical program and members of Circle E will serve refreshments.

EVENTS OF YEARS AGO FROM REGISTER FILES

Fifty Years Ago

A thorough inspection was made of the Red Bank public school buildings, particularly in relation to fire hazards. Recent interior changes were made in the different schools with the view of security from fire, and they were in wonderful condition for such an emergency. The method of dismissing classes in case of fire was the most advanced system in practice in the county, if not in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Thompson of Leonardville, former residents of Red Bank, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. One of the gifts was a cake lettered "Mr. and Mrs. John J. Thompson, 1855-1905," which was presented by their only grandchild, Eleanor E. Salter. The couple were the recipients of a liberal number of gold pieces.

The new officers of Mizpah lodge of Odd Fellows of Eatontown were publicly installed. John Richman's lodge orchestra from Belford furnished plenty of fun and music for the audience, and Arch Brown of Red Bank made a big hit by his recitation entitled "Christian Science."

Harry F. Smock, son of Mrs. Mary Smock of Broad st., died in his 26th year. He had been ill for over a year and went to Colorado to improve his health, but this was not successful. He was a member of the Y. M. C. A. and was employed in Bergen & Morris, formerly Schroeder's drug store.

Homer Dwight died at the Champlain house on Union st., where he made his home with his sisters, Mrs. Theresa D. Champlain and Mrs. Ellen D. Pease.

Elias Stryker of Marlboro, aged 82 years, died of heart disease. He had lived at Marlboro practically all his life. He left two children, Mrs. Samuel Schooley of Long Branch and Robert Stryker of Brooklyn.

A quilting bee was held by the Degree of Poochontas lodge when they finished an article on which they had been working for a long time. It was disposed of by chance, and was won by Frank Woods. The garment netted the lodge about $50.

A women's basketball club was formed at Belford, and a team was to be selected from the members that showed the most proficiency. Charter members were Misses Lila Bennett, Mabel Johnson, Grace Wilson, Mabel Lockman, Berkeley Campbell, Lena Rupp and Blanche Foster, and Mrs. Hattie Richmond and Mrs. Charles Hobbs.

Theodore Johnstry, a former resident of Belford, who was employed on a Central railroad ferry boat, got caught between the guards of the ferry boat and the cradle of the ferry slip and was rendered unconscious by the squeezing. He was laid up several weeks by the accident.

An ice skating carnival, conducted under the auspices of Fred Frick, brought several thousand people to town. Morris Wood of Long Branch, the national amateur champion, won the half-mile open and the two-mile handicap, and Del Fisher of Red Bank captured the Monmouth county championship.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Osborn of Bridge ave. entertained about 40 guests at a house dance, with music being furnished by George Graman and his son, Henry. A good time was had by all, and the party did not break up until almost 4 o'clock in the morning.

It was the same old story. Robert Van Cleef of Eatontown was handling a revolver which he did not know was loaded. It was suddenly discharged, the bullet going through his right hand, near his forefinger. Although the injury was very painful, it did not prove serious.

Mrs. Robert Hance of Riverside ave. and her daughter, Julia, left for Florida for a three months' stay at Winter Haven, for the benefit of Mrs. Hance's health.

Lufburrow & Thompson of Middletown village bought the Morford store property at King's Highway and Conover ave. They planned to improve the building and to occupy it in the early spring.

There were over 1,700 creditors listed in the various departments of the defunct Mercantile bank of Red Bank, and they were clamoring for relief. The bank was liquidated by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

John Brown, who was over 80 years old, and prominently known throughout the county, was stricken with apoplexy in the Abbott hotel at Long Branch, of which he was proprietor. His condition was considered very serious.

The Monmouth Steamboat company, which operated the steamboat "William V. Wilson" out of Monmouth, was sold to John E. Schenck, president; Charles E. Snyder, secretary; and Cornelius Ackerson, treasurer.

The old, established grocery firm of Walling & Anderson at Keyport, was dissolved by mutual consent, and the business was continued by James S. Walling.

Michael Riordan, Jr., of Shrewsbury, who had been laid up for several weeks, resumed his position as conductor on the trolley line between Red Bank and Long Branch.

Twenty-five Years Ago

Fire destroyed the home of J. J. Boyd, Jr., at Rumson park, near the Rumson Country club. The furniture in all the rooms but three was destroyed. The loss, estimated between $75,000 and $100,000, was covered by insurance.

A card party for the benefit of St. Dorothy's Catholic church of Eatontown was to be held in the social room of the church. Prizes were to be awarded and refreshments served. The prize committee consisted of Misses Helen Hughes, Ruth LeMarche and Hilda Stelle.

The refreshment committee comprised Mrs. Harvey Erving, Mrs. George Hughes, Mrs. Frank Marcell, Mrs. Anthony Wallis, Mrs. John Dolan, Mrs. William Dwyer and Mrs. Mary Dolan. Hostesses were Miss Ella Conway, Mrs. Walter Wyndorf, Mrs. Harry Duppy, Mrs. Leon Smock, Mrs. Ralph Wiederholt, Mrs. John Ganley and Mrs. John Johnson.

The secretarial training class of the Leonard high school organized a bank for practice in bank book-keeping and filing systems. Marie DeTura was president; Berwin Gutman, vice president; and Elizabeth Holmes, cashier. The directors were Claire Lingo, Elizabeth Blair, Margaret Haug, Anna Gartland, Erna Day and Christina Matula.

Red Bank and Freehold were to be the first Monmouth county towns to receive funds for the erection of new post office buildings. Tentative plans for the building at Red Bank had been prepared, and it was expected that work on the new post office would be started early that summer. The cost was $140,000.

Three girls and a boy were hurt in coasting accidents at Highlands. Verian Dorsett suffered a fractured wrist when she fell into a ditch on the Miller at Hill. Ned and Cottrell was also on the sled, but she escaped injury. Margaret Garrity suffered a broken wrist in a coasting accident on the same hill. Residents of Belford found it impossible to sleep for about two hours one night because of the shrieking of the siren of the Chemical fire company. Someone controlled the electric box which kept the siren, and the apparatus let out a continual shriek. Daniel Ahearn, who lived nearby, was affected by the noise. He dressed, went outside and stopped the racket.

The Sunshine Four of Matawan, the Jolly Four of Atlantic Highlands and the Northern university's quartet were to meet in a singing contest at St. Paul's Baptist church at Atlantic Highlands. A CANDIDATE'S VIEWS

Rumson, N. J.
 Jan. 24, 1955

To the Voters of Rumson
 As a candidate for membership on the school board, not identified with either side in the present controversy, I feel it incumbent to file my statement with The Register prior to the vote Tuesday, Jan. 25, so that I cannot be having adopted the winning side as if it were my own.

I am sorry to confess that I am one of the many who paid too little attention to the problems confronting the school board even though as a father of three children who attended the public schools, both at Lafayette st. and Ridge rd., I have a very personal interest in immediate steps being taken to correct a shameful neglect of the borough's children's welfare, especially when it can well afford to give them the best.

Unfortunately both sides appear to have taken such opposite positions backed up by contradictory statements of facts and figures that anyone trying to make an independent vote Tuesday, Jan. 25, date cannot help but be confused and wonder whether the truth may lie in between the two extremes.

My own investigation, through questioning members of both sides, convinced me that while both sides are intent on the same end, that the emotional and intransigent positions some individuals have taken in public make it impossible for them to come to a meeting of minds until they are willing to do so in a spirit of good will and compromise. On one hand, there is a sincere belief that best for the children can be had at less cost and with less delay if the board is excused by pressing need for school improvement.

On the other hand, there is the sincere belief that the proposed plan had through study over a period of many months and that for the opposition to say that savings can be made is tantamount to saying that the school board is incompetent and careless in the spending of public funds.

Lack of confidence in its elected officials on such grounds by even a minority is a threat to the whole school system, elementary and regional, and the confidence must be re-established. This can only be accomplished in my opinion by bringing together the leaders of all interested factions who must do so whether the vote Tuesday is "yes" or "no," and making an attempt in a spirit of good will to understand the other's position. I feel they will not find themselves very far apart.

If the vote is "yes" I will, if elected, insist on such a meeting before the final letting of bids for the building, and if any of the criticisms of extravagance can be justified I will work for any reasonable extension of the board's term to the educational program. I do, personally, believe such savings can be made though not to the extent envisaged by the opposition and that the board plan.

If the vote is "no," I will work for the prompt resubmission of the K-8 concept but at less cost through savings in building materials and building layout, possibly by more complete utilization of the school yard. I am not in favor of any change which would adversely affect a forward looking and modern educational program. I am convinced the proposed non-classroom facilities are essential for that purpose and cannot be pared down or such rooms eliminated.

If elected to the board, I pledge myself to promote in every way possible the renews of the entire borough's confidence in its school board and to see that in the future necessary improvements entailing additional expense and taxes are not suddenly brought to the board's attention and a vote called for without time for creating full understanding. In my opinion, this can only be accomplished by consulting representatives of all interested groups prior to public meetings to discuss such proposals. Contradictory statements of fact and emotional appeals only serve to confuse issues and cause bitterness through misunderstanding or mistating the opposed side's motives or proposals.

I hope you will approve my position at the polls Tuesday, February 8th, and making an attempt to elect a vote for candidates of like mind.

13-Year-Old Safety Patrol Girl Asks: 'Would You Deliberately Take a Life?'

SHREWSBURY — Howard E. Matteson, principal of the local grammar school, this week released an article submitted by 13-year-old Susan Gerard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gerard of Sycamore ave., and an eighth grade pupil here, as her contribution to the school's safety program.

A member of the school safety patrol, the youngster entitled the treatise, "Would You Deliberately Take a Life?" It follows:

"The answer to this important question is, of course, no! Everyone knows that, but how simple it is to take a child's life by simply not obeying the elementary rules of good driving. This condition arises at the corner of White and Broad sts. in Shrewsbury, near the public school.

"Most cars are fully equipped with automatic blinkers, signalling right or left turns, but how many drivers take the time to turn on the signal so that a young child will know what direction the car is about to take?

"In the Shrewsbury school, student patrol members of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades guide the children across the street. How can these patrol members possibly protect the other children when they have no idea which direction the driver is about to turn?

"There is only one policeman on duty at the school. It is humanly impossible for him to direct traffic between two zones a block apart. Therefore, this plea is made to you to use a flick of the wrist to save the risk of killing a child. Our plea to you is simply to use your signals at all times."

Others elected were Mrs. William Bedford, vice president; Mrs. William Don, secretary; Mrs. Lawrence G. Flanagan, treasurer; Mrs. Gaylord Barto, financial secretary; Mrs. James Bennett, chaplain; Mrs. Herbert Frake, trustee for one year; Mrs. Ralph Barto, trustee for two years, and Mrs. Edward Finn, trustee for three years.

A new member, Mrs. Edward Seale, was introduced. Mrs. Frank Johnson received the meeting prize. Refreshments were served by Mrs. August Dreyer and Mrs. Dor. Mrs. Albert Klotzin and Mrs. Walter Patterson will be hostesses at the February meeting.

6,431 Boys Registered as Scouts In County at End of 1954

LONG BRANCH — Boy Scout headquarters here has put the active registered membership of the county scout organization at 6,431 boys as of Dec. 31. E. Donald Sterner, Belmar, president of Monmouth county's largest youth movement, said the net gain in boy membership in 1954 was the greatest in the 35-year history of the council. The goal set a year ago was 6,200 by Dec. 31.

A series of ten new units in Deember and the heavy additional enrollments in the existing units accounted for the gain. In the first 20 days of January, Cub enrollment had a net gain of 200 scouts.

The council will set the 1955 membership goal at a meeting of the executive board Feb. 16. Sterner said. The council president also predicted a probable membership of 7,250 scouts in 1955, "sufficient funds are received in our February drive. Membership has snowballed with the county population increase and now presents a serious financial problem."

Cub scouts, 8 to 11 years of age, accounted for the biggest gain and ended the year with 3,030. Boy Scout membership in troops was 2,676. Explorer Scouts, 14-year-old scouts, in ships and posts numbered 723. Volunteer scout leaders in the county, including den mothers, reached 2,016 for a total boy and leader tally of 8,447.

Unit membership jumped 27 boys per existing unit in the county. About 1,000 boys became members from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1 in the round-up program. Of the county's 220 units, 165 added five or more new members during the round-up and will be awarded the council award during scout week in February. A report of the membership of Monmouth council of Boy Scouts is sent to the national headquarters, which audits the 512 councils in America in preparation for the annual report to the Congress of the United States, which granted a charter to the Boy Scout movement in 1917.

Boy Scout membership figures are based on the net active registered membership and does not include boys attending meetings who are not registered nor those who were members during the year and were graduated, separated or transferred. Total boys served during the year would add about 1,700 additional to the current membership figure, Mr. Sterner said.

Lewis R. Lowry, Little Silver, chairman of organization and extension, said the council added 32 new units during the year which included ten troops, nine Cub packs and 13 Explorer units, but that 11 sponsoring groups had failed to renew their charters as of Dec. 31 and had been officially dropped from the membership figures. The dropped units were one troop, three packs, and seven Explorer groups. At present, the council has 16 new units on the waiting list to be organized in March and April with training courses for parents and leaders scheduled.

Cancer Fund Quota Is $54,000

Walter W. Reid, Jr., chairman of the Cancer Fund drive in Monmouth county announced this week a quota of $54,000 for the 1955 drive which starts April 1. This is the same as last year's quota.

Mr. Reid pointed out that 39 of the 52 municipalities of the county are already organized for the drive.

At a meeting of the board of managers of the county chapter American Cancer society, at the headquarters in the Allenhurst borough hall Thursday night, Theodore D. Parsons, chapter president, commended Mrs. B. L. Atwater, Red Bank, executive director of the chapter, for outstanding leadership. She was presented a plaque inscribed with a resolution paying tribute to her service during the five years she has served as director.

During that period, collections in the drive have reached new highs. Mr. Parsons said, and the work of the chapter has been greatly expanded.

Her resignation, to take effect June 1, has been accepted by the chapter. Mr. Parsons said applications for the position are being received at headquarters.

Dr. Daniel F. Featherston, chairman of the executive committee, said that since Sept. 1, the chapter spent $5,721 on home care of cancer patients in Monmouth county.

Mrs. James Wincelster, Spring Lake, was appointed service chairman, replacing Mrs. Harold A. Kazmann, who resigned the chairmanship. Two new cancer dressing units have been organized, bringing the total to 23. Mrs. Kazmann reported.

Elks Ask $200,000 For Crippled

Red Bank Elks will be among those in the state who will begin the 1955 Shield Campaign for Crippled Children Tuesday with a state goal of $200,000 to augment funds appropriated by local Elks lodges.

Letters will be sent every home. Differing from previous years, this year's mailing will include a single sticker for home or car windows instead of the sheet of 50 seals formerly used.

William R. Thorne, state chairman, said last year's contributions amounted to $131,000. State lodges expended $161,500 to aid crippled children, bringing the total for this work in 25 years to $4,200,000. Substantial contributions were made to cerebral palsy clinics, hospitals in the state and the cleft palate clinic at St. Barnabas hospital in Newark. Mr. Thorne stressed that the Elks' appeal is the only statewide fund drive where all monies collected remain in New Jersey to help New Jersey children. He said the drive has no connection with any other drive and makes no contribution of its funds to any national organization for either administration or promotion expenses. Among those on the state committee are Joseph A. Burns of Long Branch. The chairman of the crippled children's committee of each lodge in the state constitutes the state board of directors.

Left to right are Mrs. Noel Coates of Red Bank, executive director; Mrs. Charles A. Johnston, Shrewsbury, president, and Mrs. Gustavus Sickles, Jr., Rumson, vice president. Others elected, but not present, were Mrs. Hugh V. Alessandrini of Rumson, vice president, and Mrs. Otto Lehmann, Long Branch, secretary.

Executive board members named by Mrs. Johnston were: Mrs. Chester Parent, Rumson, Mrs. Howard

Leon and Mrs. J. A. Weinheimer, Fair Haven, Mrs. Frank Schreiber, Long Branch, Mrs. Ray Mattingly, Oceanport, Mrs. William Quinn, Matawan, and Mrs. Garrett Post, Keyport. Named to the nominating committee were Mrs. Joseph Pace and Mrs. Lawrence A. Pick, Little Silver; Mrs. Channing Clapp, Matawan, and Mrs. Robert Pearce, Rumson.

Mrs. Pearce, a former council president, received a "thanks" badge for outstanding services to the council and a gift. Mrs. Pearce, expressing appreciation to women who served on the Christmas Unlimited committee, said $2,700 was raised in the project. Mrs. Sickles led a discussion on general troop fund-raising and a film on the subject was shown. Council approved a resolution which will allow each troop to hold two fund-raising projects a year. Sales of such items as greeting cards, candies or cookies may be undertaken by troops without council permission.

A film, "Let's Go Troop Camping," was shown at the conclusion of the meeting.

Disabled May 'Freeze' Rate

ASBURY PARK—Totally disabled persons may now have their social security benefit rate "frozen" as of the time they became disabled. Benjamin Sandberg, district manager of the Social Security Administration Office here, said this week. This entirely new provision of the amended Social Security Act applies equally to those who are now disabled as well as to those who become disabled in the future, he added.

"This new provision," Mr. Sandberg said, "is of immediate importance to persons now suffering from either a physical or a mental impairment. It is important to the person receiving social security as he may have his benefit rate recomputed to exclude a period of disability which began prior to his attainment of age 65. It is equally important to the disabled person under age 65 so that he may protect his insured status by 'freezing' his average monthly wage on which his future old age and survivors insurance benefit will be based. In this way he will not lose his right to future benefits and the payments will not be reduced because of his years of no earnings due to disability."

To qualify for a disability freeze, Mr. Sandberg explained, the disabled person must have been engaged in covered employment for at least five out of the ten years prior to disability and one and one-half years out of the three years immediately prior to disability. In addition, his disability must be medically determinable and have lasted for more than six months.

Persons who measure up to this yardstick, Mr. Sandberg added, should contact their local social security office at once. Disability applications received between Jan. 1, 1955, and July 1, 1957, will apply to the whole period of disability. After June 30, 1957, the "freeze" application will be retroactive for only one year.

An additional purpose of the new law is to bring to the attention of state vocational rehabilitation agencies disabled individuals who can be restored to gainful work. Individuals applying for the "freeze" will be referred to a state agency to see whether rehabilitation services may be helpful to them.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER DEATH?

In a few score years, all who read these lines will have vanished from the face of the earth.

Every day, almost a hundred thousand human beings finish their earthly span and pass off into the vast beyond. That our turn will come we all know, but when and where and how we cannot be sure.

No merely human being ever has been able to look into eternity and tell us what it is like. No scientific knowledge or scientific instruments can pierce the curtain that divides this world from that into which all of us must eventually journey.

All we know about God's eternal plans for us... all we know about what lies beyond the grave... comes from the God Who made us and to the extent He has seen fit to reveal it to us.

But we can face eternity without fear. For we do have a definite answer to the mystery of death. With the facts God has put at our disposal through the inspired books of the Old and the New Testaments, the Catholic Church always has given, and gives today, a definite answer to the tremendously important questions raised by the fact of death.

Man's life in this world, the Church tells us, is a preparation for the world to come... a testing-time which ends with our death. What happens after that depends on whether death finds us loyal to God, or opposed to Him and the way He expects us to live. "...it is appointed unto men once to die and after this the judgment" (Heb. IX:27).

Christ gave us (Matt. XXV) a description of God's judgment, which leaves no room for doubt that our worthiness of everlasting reward will be judged solely according to the way we have lived our lives on this earth.

Death does not bring merely a long, unconscious slumber, but rather a quick awakening to the irrevocable judgment of our Creator. Nor does it bring us a second chance to prove ourselves or to amend our erring ways. In our own hands rests the opportunity... and upon our own heads the responsibility... to determine if death shall be the threshold to everlasting life among the blessed, or among the lost.

Men blessed by youth and good health often feel that death for them is far away—something to be worried about only in the twilight years. Some scoff at the suggestion that an everlasting hell could be permitted by a merciful God. Others seem to think that God will treat them kindly if they live reasonably moral lives, even though they pay Him no special honor which is His due.

But whatever they think... however they avoid the question... all men must eventually face the fact of death. To think about it wisely... and in time... is the most important thing in our lives. If you would like more information on this subject... on Heaven, Hell, Purgatory, the end of the world and the resurrection and judgment of all men... we shall be happy to send you an interesting pamphlet free of charge. Cadillac

Only 35-But He Has Earned It!

Used to be you didn't see a young man at the wheel of a Cadillac very often.

Most of the proud and happy people driving Cadillacs showed at least a little gray at the temples.

But things are changing. In fact, it isn't at all unusual any more for a man in his thirties to move up to the "car of cars."

There are two basic reasons for this.

In the first place, success is coming earlier now to a great group of young men than in years gone by.

Men are going into business and the professions with fine technical training which starts them off at levels they used to be years in attaining.

And, secondly, the news of Cadillac's remarkable economy is spreading far and wide.

Actually, once a man feels justified in making the initial investment, he is economically on sound ground when he selects a Cadillac.

First of all, he can keep it and drive it with pride for almost any period of years he may elect—for its endurance is beyond all practical measurement.

Upkeep is remarkably low—and few cars of any size or price will run farther on a gallon of gasoline.

And even when it comes to the purchase price, there is much to be said for the "car of cars." There are twelve models of other makes which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac.

Thus, it is small wonder that more and more people in a younger age bracket are making the move to Cadillac. It has become a logical and practical thing for them to do.

So, if you are ready for a Cadillac—remember that achievement—and not age—is the criterion.

INSURANCE VIEWS

BY
ROLSTON WATERBURY

Mr. Smith, a man in a fairly high income tax bracket, was reviewing his financial affairs not long ago.

"Why do you carry such a small amount of fire insurance on your nice home?" the financial adviser asked.

Mr. Smith shrugged. "In case of loss, I'd recover some from the insurance company, and the rest I'd take off as an income tax deduction."

"That's little comfort," said the adviser. "Any tax loss is limited to your actual cost. In your case, since you built nearly 15 years ago, the amount you would collect from insurance would equal your cost. You would have NOTHING to deduct, even though you suffered a loss amounting to many thousands of dollars."

"Wow," Mr. Smith exclaimed.

"Even if your cost was equal to present day values, your recovery through tax reduction would be just a portion of the loss—say 40% or 50%. That would still leave a loss that you would have to bear."

The financial adviser continued. "You would have to replace your home—to some extent on borrowed money. Because under the high tax rates even you would find it hard to pay for a large loss out of current income."

"I'm glad you explained that to me," Mr. Smith said. "I can see my best bet is more INSURANCE."

Governor Answers State Realtors
On Discontinuance of Trade Paper

TRENTON — Gov. Robert B. Meyner ranged over a variety of topics today in his monthly press conference for the editors of weekly papers.

He discussed the misuse of state funds for propaganda purposes, proposed highway improvements in Bergen county and elsewhere, his views on authorities to build highways, uses by municipalities of monies received from the state for education, tax assessments, the need for additional water supplies, relations between the state government and municipalities, probation and the future of the physical facilities at the former Bordentown training school.

The governor called attention to a news release from the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards, dated Jan. 21, which took him to task because the New Jersey Record, the real estate commission's official report and digest, was discontinued. The association's news release said members were willing to pay increased dues because of assurance of "educational" services such as the Record. The governor then read from the fourth quarter, 1953 issue of the Record in which it referred to Paul L. Troast as "the man who is expected to succeed Alfred E. Driscoll as governor."

because they are taking over the functions normally belonging to a department of government, in this case the highway department, which is subject to executive and legislative control. The authorities are not.

"When such an authority is set up in order to sell the bonds, the authority is granted power which cannot be revoked so long as it has any indebtedness. The New Jersey Turnpike is making more money than it anticipated, but it cannot be used for any other purposes. The authority has no legal responsibility to anyone except the bondholders. It is a case of a contract between the bondholder and the authority, and no state can impair the obligation of a contract. Even the Turnpike Authority cannot use its funds for extensions without the unanimous consent of all the bondholders.

"In setting up maintenance services, the turnpike adopted policies different from those of the highway department. However, there has been an amicable arrangement with respect to policing. They have taken some of our State Police and paid us the equivalent. I discovered, however, that such payment did not include any contribution for retirement benefits, amounting to almost $1,200 per year per man, and I insisted that that amount be paid also. I am not saying this to promote differences with the authorities. Mr. Palmer, the State Highway Commissioner, tells me they have been co-operative. I wish to emphasize that authorities are relatively supreme."

Asked about the fencing squabbling in Essex county, involving the Garden State Parkway, the governor said it was another example of the authoritarian approach. "I think the planning could have been much better than it was with reference to the probable need for fencing safeguards."

"The basic issue in this case," continued the governor, "is whether the state should use state funds to publish a trade paper, especially one which advocates the candidate of one party for governor. It is an example of some of the types of publicity you find. This is the only instance I know of where public funds are used to print a trade journal.

"If this policy were followed, we would have professional agencies, such as the State Board of Medical Examiners and the State Board of Beauty Culture Control, using state funds for their own group propaganda. I have told the department heads that I want the public information people on their staffs to give the facts and let the people draw their own conclusions. We don't want propaganda and we don't want people saying they are the best. It is a little disturbing to get this type of propaganda. There is even a question as to whether it is legal. The real estate commission has stopped issuing this publication." The governor added that it had been edited by A. Charles Corotelli, who is public relations director of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards.

"It has been my position," he continued, "that the state shall not spend public funds to persuade citizens to vote yes or no on certain issues." He said he was against the Highway Authority using public funds to get a favorable vote on the Garden State Parkway referendum. He said further that while he favored approval of the referendum for a state medical-dental-public health center, the administration did not spend funds for publicity purposes to tell people how to vote on the question.

He was asked if any consideration had been given to the social and economic problems involved in the proposals of the Port of New York Authority for extensive improvements in Bergen county. The governor said he had conferred and would confer at some length with the Highway Commissioner, Commissioner of Conservation and Economic Development, and president of the Public Utilities Commission before taking a final position on proposed large scale improvements involving highways and social and economic matters.

He emphasized that the proposals have not been studied completely. They were announced, he said, to let the public know what is being considered and suggested. Final determinations could well be influenced, he said, by what policy the federal government finally decides on as its grant-in-aid policy for interstate highway improvements. At present, it grants assistance on a 60-40 matching basis, the federal government paying the 60. The so-called Clay (after General Lucius Clay) proposal would pay 100 per cent for construction of certain limited and well defined interstate highways.

Comment on Toll Roads

Asked if the state would depend more and more on toll roads, the governor said, "There are two questions: Either you want them or you don't and either you want authorities to build them or you don't. My own feeling has always been to be very suspicious of authorities to perform marriages. "It might become contagious." New Jersey's bachelor governor added.

Home, School Club Buys Equipment

EATONTOWN — At the Home and School club meeting last week, it was voted to purchase a film strip projector and screen for the Vetter school an da record player and $50 worth of records for the Steelman school.

Also appropriated was $200 toward the purchase of a new movie projector. If the school board decides that it is more feasible to rent one, however, this money will be used to purchase other audiovisual equipment.

Members also decided to sponsor another Brownie troop, and gave $5 for this purpose. Col. George Morgan suggested that the club be prepared to assist the eighth grade in contributing funds toward the class trip to Washington in April, if necessary. William H. Ransley, supervising principal, said that $170 made by the school from the recent photographs of the children could also be used toward the trip. Col. Morgan also urged greater public interest in the school board, citing the small attendance of the public at board meetings as a sign of continued apathy.

The six candidates for election to the school board were present. They are Mrs. Curtis Adams, Mrs. Raymond Alton, Kenneth Hampton, Clarence Meeks, Frederick Stillwell and Donald Vaughan.

A skit, "High Pressure Area," sponsored by the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, was presented by the "recent graduates group" of the American Association of University Women. Members of the cast were Mrs. H. E. Rowe of Little Silver, Mrs. Rogers Sayers of Rumson, Miss Joan Newquist of Fair Haven and Mrs. Richard Marzen of Middletown. Norman Theford led the discussion which followed. Mrs. Betty White's third grade won the attendance plaque.

Reports on Finances
At the corporate meeting, presided over by George W. Grimm, Jr., president of the board of trustees, the church was reported in a sound financial condition. Annual receipts in 1954 were 300 per cent higher than five years ago, $17,500 to $53,000, and, if the $267,000 received in cash for the new church building fund were included, it would mean an increase of over 600 per cent in annual receipts.

It was also noted that the church will engage in the not too distant future in the building of a new fellowship hall and education building in response to vital needs.

At this meeting the following men were elected for a term of three years to the board of trustees: Robert D. Eichman, Edgar N. McCles, Oscar A. Newquist, H. Leslie Webb and George Worthley, Jr. A vote of thanks for services rendered during the last three years was given to Robert L. Snowden and Clark E. Wallace. 7 Children Taken From Mrs. Moody

FREEHOLD—County Judge John C. Giordano ordered the seven children of Mrs. Susan Moody, Maple ave., Keansburg, placed in custody of the state board of child welfare Friday when he put her on probation for neglect of the children.

Earlier last week she had pleaded no defense to neglecting the children ranging from one to ten years old. Her husband, Robert, also under indictment for the same charge, was released in his own recognizance.

Judge Giordano said, "I'm going to take your children away from you and afford you and your husband an opportunity to re-establish yourselves in society. I hope this may be a lesson to you." He added that the children would be returned to her when she indicates a willingness to care for them properly.

The probation period set by the judge is five years. One of the children neglected by Mrs. Moody was a year-old son, who was bitten by a rat last month and had to be hospitalized when he became critically ill.

Judge Giordano ordered a sentence of one year to 18 months in state prison for James S. Gray, 38, Washington, for causing death by auto. Gray was driver of a car which skidded into a bridge abutment on E. 79, near Morganville, Oct. 23, causing the death of Robert Russell, 12 Orchard st., Matawan.

Final plans for the food sale to be held Saturday of this week in the Friendly shop in Matawan by the Ladies' auxiliary of Independent fire company were made at a meeting in the fire house last week. Mrs. Daniel P. Brewer is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Roland Boyce, Mrs. Earl Woolley and Mrs. Robert Smith. The sale will start at 9 a. m. The new by-laws of the organization were discussed at the business session conducted by Mrs. John Penka, president, and several changes were made. Mrs. Norman Janwich was welcomed as a new member. Others attending were Mrs. John Babrisky, Mrs. Joseph Spurgat, Mrs. Louis Becker, Mrs. John Holtz, Mrs. Frank Ratcliffe, Mrs. Chiles Snydam, Mrs. Charles L. Holmes, Mrs. Edward Preston, Mrs. Walter Lambertson, Mrs. Fred Marz and Mrs. Harold C. Quackenbush.

Saturday night guests at a supper party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Quackenbush in celebration of the birthday of Stacy P. Conover were Mrs. William E. Clayton, Garden City, L. I., Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Quackenbush and children Susan and Robert, Harold V. D. Conover and Alfred L. Conover.

Mrs. James McCormick was guest of honor at a shower given by Miss Leona Lamura at her home recently. Among those present were Mrs. Eugene Lanzaro, Mrs. Louise Peterson, Mrs. Alfred Lamura, Mrs. Lee Florence, Mrs. E. Koons, Mrs. Ray Brown, Mrs. Tille Jamison, Mrs. Joseph Lamura, Mrs. Marge Hammonstrom and Mrs. Virginia Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Leach have sold their home on Tenth rd. and have moved to Florida.

The Cub pack 89 went on the cub train trip Saturday, arranged by the county council and the Jersey Central railroad. As part of the January theme of "Railroad-ing," the trip included a tour of the Jersey City terminal, inspecting locomotives, both steam and Diesel, and the different types of coaches. This was followed by a ride on the ferryboat Elizabeth in New York harbor past the Statue of Liberty, Governor's Island and the Brooklyn Navy yard. In the local group were Harold Quackenbush and son Robert, Douglas Alt and sons Jack and Ted, Barry Henriksen, Carl Antisell, Carl Joseph Spurgat, Gilbert Anders, Wayne Morris, Richard VanPelt, Russell Rayalski, George Phillips, Jerue Irons, Steven Ludemann, Edward Becker, William McCann, Arthur Bumpus, Mrs. R. Falco and son Richard, Mrs. Eugene Lanzaro and son Larry, Mrs. Martin Smith, Jr., and son Martin, and Wayne Pogers.

A leaders' planning meeting for the Cub Scouts was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Silvester McCann. Plans were made for the pack meeting tomorrow, a swimming party at the Perth Amboy Y.M.C.A. Saturday and the Blue and Gold dinner in February. Attending the meeting were Mrs. Edward Bumpus, Mrs. Eugene Lanzaro, Mrs. Martin Smith, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Antisell and Douglas Alt.

Pupils of the public school here received the explanatory information and forms for the student accident insurance plan which is sponsored by the Morganville P.T.A. These forms are to be signed by the parents as to whether they wish their child enrolled at the cost of a dollar per year. The plan has been approved by the Marlboro township board of education and is being used in all three township schools.

coke trays, aerated with oxygen, treated with alum, lime and carbon and pulled through a big tank that looks like a giant washing machine. It then goes through sand filters and a clear well before going into the mains.

At the Corlies ave. Neptune, station, almost a million gallons of a day, drawn from Jumping Brook in Summer months is given similar treatment. Two deep wells draw water off from the underground sands at Ocean Grove, as much as two million gallons a day of it in the summer months. One new well went in last year and another is projected here for 1955. Two wells also are in use at the Whiteville station, with a water capacity of two million gallons a day. The company can get another million gallons a day from a new well at the West End, Long Branch, station and up to five million gallons a day from surface supplies at nearby Whale pond and Cranberry brook.

At West End, until early this year, the company did its pumping with steam turbines. These are now being replaced with new electric pumps.

Meters are Rebuilt

At Neptune, three men are kept hard at work repairing and rebuilding hundreds of meters. Mr. Newquist said that almost always when a meter fails it does so at the expense of the company, by giving a family more water than shows up on the dial. So efforts are made to keep "things even" by fixing the meters.

During winter, when resort residents are not here, Monmouth Consolidated depends mostly on Newnan Springs as a supply center. But Jumping Brook water comes from other stations, men are "on the ready," around the clock to cut in their supplies whenever needed.

The company puts a lot of responsibility in its individual workers, said Mr. Newquist, and, to see them, they look like a proud and happy lot. Two rules have to be obeyed: No drinking (water excepted), and no sleeping on the job. That goes for everyone on all shifts Disobey and the job is gone.

Mr. Newquist says he welcomes all efforts "outsiders" are making to give Monmouth county an even better water supply.

He expressed interest in a plan advanced this month by the Monmouth County Planning board—to develop about 100 lakes and ponds which would supply old-time grist mills.

County Board's Plan

William B. Duryee, the board's agricultural representative, told the board in Freehold that in some parts of the state the water table has dropped as much as 15 feet in one year. He said Monmouth could become a 'county of lakes' if this program was carried out. County Engineer Leo H. McKee said Monmouth's water table has been dropping because new developments are causing a faster run-off through storm sewers.

Mr. Newquist said that perhaps the greatest value to be considered from lake and pond development would be in "giving the earth around them more water to absorb." He previously has spoken out against water waste through failure to hold enough of the county's usually generous supply of rain water, against possible contamination from sewage in development areas and has told of water loss through increased farm irrigation.

"Water," he said, "is something to be preserved wherever it can." To bolster its supplies, Monmouth Consolidated is spending one million dollars for improvements this year.

Also liked by Mr. Newquist is a plan by the New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers, as outlined earlier by the chairman of the society's public works committee, Eric A. Black of Red Bank. That envisions the creation of a 16-mile water basin predicted to yield 110 million gallons of water a day.

'We're on Right Track'

He also thinks "Red Bank is on the right track." This borough now produces about 1.4 million gallons a day from two wells—1,000 gallons a minute from the 670-foot deep Raritan sand strata and 500 per minute from the 280-foot deep Englishtown strata. Another Englishtown strata well is to be dug here this year, boosting the supply.

All in all, from The Register's study, it would seem that the shore area of Monmouth has got a much more favorable water supply than the rest of the state. Experts here seem only a little concerned over what may happen if the residential boom continues and heavy industry moves in. But they are keeping a "weather eye" on conditions and planning well ahead for "what could happen to us."

Players Mark 2d Anniversary

RUMSON—Members of the Monmouth Players last week marked the second anniversary of its founding.

Meeting Thursday night at Bingham hall here, more than 50 members and guests of the Players took part in a discussion of the need for a permanent casting committee and the possibility of sponsoring a production for the organization's benefit.

Mrs. Van R. H. Greene of Fair Haven, Players president, was in the chair during the business session. A sketch, written and directed by Donald P. Davis of Monmouth Hills, was presented. In the cast were the director, Victor F. Sartori of Red Bank; lighting committee, John Hemleb of Fair Haven and W. Ray Hyde of Red Bank; the stage manager, Robert M. Earle of Atlantic Highlands; the make-up girl, Mrs. John Smith of Long Branch; property girls, Mrs. Renee Cater and Mrs. Polly Marsh of Fair Haven; "Lady Calpurnia," Mrs. Dickie Hoyt of Fair Haven; her husband, Harry Donoghue of Atlantic Highlands; Standish, Herb Denton of Red Bank, and the sponsor, Robert G. Pearce of Rumson.

Refreshments, including a large birthday cake, were served at the Rumson Inn.

Mr. Pearce was the first president of the Players, serving from January until June, 1953, when Robert Goodman of Navesink was elected for the following full year. Last June, Mrs. Greene was installed president. She will serve until June. Other officers are vice president, Mr. Pearce; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marsh; recording secretary, Mrs. Jane Raviele of Long Branch, and treasurer, Mr. Hemleb.

The Players have produced seven shows, with an eighth now in rehearsal: Lillian Hellman's drama, "The Little Foxes."

The Monmouth Players production of the play will be presented at the Carlton theater, Red Bank, Mar. 1, the second in the foundation's 1954-1955 series.

Directed by John B. Green of Locust, associate producer of the "Home" show on WRCB-TV, "The Little Foxes" cast includes Mrs. Cynthia Edwarsden of Eatontown as Regina; Mr. Sartori as Horace; Miss Rita Tiernan of Matawan as Alexandra; Robert Burnside of Little Silver as Ben; Dick Ashie of Ashbury Park as Oscar; Mrs. John Hemleb of Fair Haven as Birdie and Mr. Denton as Leo. Mr. Earle is production manager for the show.

almost solely by the transfer of the bonus and any adjustments in salaries.

"In classification C—Regulation, the increase of $58,812.27 is also due in part to the transfer of the bonus to salaries and wages, and $5,140.72 has been added to the appropriation for the mosquito commission—in order to take care of their increased activities and obligations, and the appropriation for the planning board has been increased by $9,354 and an appropriation of $3,500 has been added for civil defense and disaster control.

"In classification D—Roads and Bridges, the increase of $92,407.84 is due partly to the transfer of the bonus to salaries and wages, and also increased amount of expenditures due to the heavy increase in traffic and also additional work necessitated by the parkway interchanges.

"Under classification E—Charitable, Correctional and Penal, have again increased, this year by $116,609.22. The welfare board appropriation increased from $248,557 to $272,423, which, of course, is due to the addition of the bonus to salaries and wages, and also additional improvements in the Briar Hill welfare home in order to qualify for additional state aid—and in the miscellaneous revenues.

Actual Receipts

"It will be noted that while $150,000 was anticipated from that source in 1954 the actual receipts were $183,695.87.

"Old-age assistance jumped from $338,211.20 to $364,678.50, and the permanent disability increased some $16,000. The appropriation for board of patients in state institution increased by some $28,000.

"Under classification F—Educational, the increase is due to the bonus transfer and an additional $5,000 to Monmouth junior college.

"Under 'unclassified,' the decrease was $85,070.83 due to the transfer of the bonus appropriation—but offset in part by increases in the county pension fund and the contribution to public employees retirement system and social security due to the new law which went into operation Jan. 1.

"The amounts anticipated from surplus revenue and miscellaneous revenues on the income side of the budget are practically the same as last year. It will be noted that the amount received from the county's share of inheritance taxes in 1953 was $135,025.35, but dropped down to $39,405.17 in 1954. However, this was offset by increases in other revenues—and your board has always followed the policy of being conservative in the amounts of revenue anticipated to guard against any unexpected drop in one or more particular sources of revenue.

"The county tax board has given us the following figures as to the increased amount of ratables this year over last.

"A careful check of the certification of 1955 assessments by the local assessors and allowing for exemptions and allowances for 1954 appeals, the estimate of the total amount of ratables upon which county taxes will be apportioned in 1955 is $234,074,665, the amount for 1954 was $223,784,600.

"It is estimated that the 1955 county tax rate will be $1.76 per $100. The 1954 county tax rate was $1.63 for an increase of 12 cents per $100."

The Mayas figured out a calendar with an error of only one day in 6,000 years.

State is Worried

New Jersey, as a whole, seems somewhat worried.

In Elizabeth, said the New York Times on Sunday, a citizens' committee has called for a Union County Water Supply commission which would build a big reservoir and sell water to municipalities and industries.

Reporting from Trenton, the Times said it has "become increasingly apparent" that action soon will be taken "to alleviate New Jersey's serious shortage of potable water."

"Present supplies are barely sufficient to meet growing demands," it said, recalling "Gov. Robert E. Meyner has stressed repeatedly the need for immediate action."

The state's Republican-controlled legislature last week called for an immediate appropriation of $200,000 for a "study of various proposals for increasing the state's water resources."

In Monmouth, there appears to be a lot "to fall back on"—Monmouth Consolidated's undeveloped Manasquan river area, east of the parkway; the engineers' proposed 25-mile water sand trap, which would be built in connection with a new inland waterway link; new wells and possible future use of tideland water which might be freed of salt.

Staikos Changes Kidnaping Plea

FREEHOLD — Anthony Staikos, 31, of Willow st., Matawan township, who pleaded guilty Jan. 11 to kidnaping Joel Robert Katz, 16, Yonkers, N. Y., and tying him in the basement of his home, reversed himself and entered a not guilty plea Friday before County Judge John C. Giordano.

Staikos changed the plea on the advice of his attorney, Leo Weinstein, Matawan, who was assigned to him after the original plea was entered. Staikos had pleaded not guilty to a second charge, alleging he wrote a ransom note for $100,000. The sentence for kidnaping ranges from 30 years to life and for writing a ransom note, the death penalty may be imposed unless the jury recommends imprisonment.

Staikos is being held in the county jail in lieu of $50,000 bail. No date for the trial was set by Judge Giordano.

Lifetime Incomes in Red Bank Top $185,500 According to Census Bureau

NEW YORK CITY—The lifetime earning capacity of the average male resident of Red Bank has reached new heights.

Based on current conditions of employment, of national productivity, of education and of life span, the average local man starting out to earn a living now has a prospective lifetime income of $185,500.

This projection into the future is based on data compiled by the Census Bureau as reflected in the current earnings of local residents. At present, these earnings are running 24 per cent above those received generally throughout the United States, and ten per cent over those in the Middle Atlantic states.

The $185,500 the average Red Bank worker stands to collect for his years of toil is much more than the expectations of workers elsewhere in the United States, who will get $150,000. In the Middle Atlantic states, men will receive $165,000 on the average.

The economic value of man in the United States, taking into account the effects of inflation, has more than doubled since the beginning of World War II, according to the Census Bureau. It is attributed to the growth of opportunity, the rise in the educational level and the improved skill of the working population.

Education is a principal factor usually, in determining a man's earning capacity. An elementary school diploma will raise prospective lifetime income some 66 per cent over the amount going to those with five years of schooling. A high school diploma raises a third more in income than an elementary school one. College graduates stand to receive two-thirds more than high school grads, according to the report.

The last census showed a good educational level for residents of Red Bank. The median years of schooling among adults locally came to 11.3. This was more than was attained in the United States as a whole, 9.3 years. In the Middle Atlantic states, the median was also 9.3 years. Since that time there has been an improvement, due largely to war veterans returning to school under the GI bill.

U. S. Aid for Private Lands Now Being Sought by Rep. Auchincloss

SEA BRIGHT—Rep. James C. Auchincloss (R-3d Dist.) is now drawing up a bill asking Congress to approve federal aid for erosion work on private as well as public sections of the beach.

The bill, which would amend a law passed in 1946, appeared to have been drafted in direct response to a letter to him by Mayor Thomas Farrell noting that "Washington aid until now has been blocked largely on grounds that it is limited for work on 'publicly owned' property."

Provision is cited

This "publicly owned" limitation has been cited before, by Sea Bright's mayor and by Assemblyman Alfred N. Beadleston, Freeholder Director Joseph C. Irwin and state officials. They call it a barrier to effective federal assistance, because so much beach property is in private hands.

If Mr. Auchincloss's amendment becomes law, it would appear that Washington would have a free hand to step in and help with current and urgent efforts to put new sand on eroded Atlantic coast and other of the nation's ocean, Gulf and Great Lake beaches.

Mr. Auchincloss' action follows up Mayor Farrell's New Year address recommending a $300,000 federal-state-local program to put up 20 wooden jetties along the shore to pull in drifting sand and safeguard costly sea walls and property by keeping the sea from crashing through, as it keeps on doing in storms.

The Rumson congressman took immediate interest in the mayor's proposal and asked that U. S. Army engineers make an inspection to find out if, under Public Law 727, passed in 1946, Sea Bright could not qualify for aid in getting the jetties built.

Nothing yet has been heard from the Army in this regard, but the mayor and council decided unanimously Tuesday that efforts would go forward to widen interest in the jetty plan.

Call Jetty Luncheon

Letters are going out to Peter Gannon, chief of the state's navigation bureau, and James Rankin, top engineer for the state, inviting them to a private luncheon conference with the governing body at a date they will select.

Freeholder Joseph C. Irwin has been reluctant to talk too much about any part the county might be willing to play at this time in building Sea Bright jetties. He has listed as the county's "number one priority" the build-up of a $400,000 South Beach Sea Bright-Monmouth Beach sea wall, for which contracts are expected to be awarded this spring. But he also has placed himself as seeing "eye-to-eye" with Mayor Farrell on the need for jetties to gather sand and save the sea walls from a beating by storm-pushed seas.

Mayor Farrell Tuesday agreed with Mr. Irwin on the importance of the sea wall. He expressed hope that if Washington and Trenton aid comes through for jetties Sea Bright could take up the difference and spare the county expense for the job.

'Up to Congress'

As to Mr. Auchincloss' new bill, he said its outcome is "all up to Congress."

The mayor, in his letter of suggestion and thanks to Mr. Auchincloss, dated Jan. 18, said that "it is fine to see that you understand and want to help us work out our serious erosion problems." But he made it clear that Sea Bright "cannot fight the Atlantic ocean alone."

In the letter, he also said that largely to efforts by Mr. Irwin the South Beach sea wall is going to be built "in an area that has been exposed to real danger."

Mr. Auchincloss, responding to another Sea Bright request—that Army engineers dredging channels dump sand off shore to build up the beach supply—communicated this information backed by his own request for action to Col. E. A. Hanson of the Army. The congressman said such dumping helped to "nourish the beaches."

Here, however, the response was less encouraging. Colonel Hanson replied that Army tests showed there was no beach improvement from off-shore sand dumping in 1948 or 1952. And, in deepening the bor, it has been found cheaper to carry the sand further out to sea.

Asks Army Re-Study

Col. Hanson said, however, that he would turn the request for renewed dumping over to the Army's chief engineer for restudy and possible action.

Councilman Ralph W. Lawrence, who has been very active in seeking ways to build up beach sand, and the mayor both said they hoped that the chief engineer would give approval to renewed dumping. Officials here feel certain that such dumping did help Sea Bright in years past and want it started again.

Justice Brennan To Address Legal Aid Unit Meeting

Annual Event to Be Held Tuesday Night At Shadowbrook

SHREWSBURY—Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan of Rumson will be guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Legal Aid Society of Monmouth County Tuesday night at the Shadowbrook.

Mrs. George L. VanDeusen, Fair Haven, chairman of the committee, said about 100 reservations have been made and the meeting will be the best attended in the four-year history of the organization.

Retired Supreme Court Justice Henry E. Ackerson, Jr., Keyport, president of the county organization, which provides legal assistance for indigent persons, will conduct the meeting. The agenda includes a report by Hugh F. Dugan, director of the society's activities in 1954, and the submission of a slate by the nominating committee.

Heading the list of invited guests is Miss Elma Phillipson, associate director of the National Legal Aid association. Miss Phillipson is editor of Brief Case, the magazine published by the national organization. Other guests include the board of freeholders, judges sitting in Monmouth county, representatives of social and welfare agencies, and representatives from Fort Monmouth and Earle.

Assisting Mrs. VanDeusen on the committee are Justice Ackerson, Mr. Dugan, Miss Ruth LaMarche, Rumson; Edward W. Wise, Sr., Monroe Eisner and Samuel Carotenuto, all of Red Bank; Leon Zuckerman, Middletown township; Charles Dittler, Freehold; Peter Cooper, Asbury Park; Leo Weinstein, Marlborough; and Adm. Andrew Shepard, New Shrewsbury.

The society had its biggest year in 1954, offering assistance to more needy persons than ever before. Persons who cannot afford to retain an attorney may apply to the society at its Asbury Park office for help. If the person is found to be indigent, the society assigns an attorney in the applicant's area to handle the case.

Talk on Narcotics By Local Attorney

George Gray, local attorney and assistant prosecutor of Monmouth County, will be the guest speaker at the 32d and Templars club at their monthly dinner-meeting held last Wednesday night at Luigi's restaurant, Newman Springs rd.

Prosecutor Gray spoke on narcotics, and then answered questions by the members present. Club president Sam J. Rutberg gave a report regarding the presentations made to outgoing illustrious potentate Charles F. Andrews, and incoming Potentate Walter S. Gibbs of Crescent Temple, Trenton.

County Judge John C. Giordano will be the guest speaker at the next dinner-meeting to be held on Feb. 16, at Willowbrook restaurant, Fair Haven.

City officials, civic leaders and mayors of neighboring communities whose residents are served by the gas company's Long Branch office have been invited to inspect the office at 11:30 a. m. The general public is invited to visit the new office on that day from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Builders from Monmouth and Ocean counties will visit the office at 6 p. m. They will attend a meeting in the hotel sponsored by the company, at which W. Daniel Williams, vice president, will explain how the company's new uniform rate schedule will result in lower costs in home heating by gas.

William Rahill, district manager in charge of the Long Branch office, said a large display of new gas appliances will be featured in the new office, which has about 1,400 square feet.

Mr. Williams said the company is moving into the larger office because of the increase in business in this area and to carry out the company's policy of providing maximum service for its customers.

Boro Buses to Inaugurate Through Service to Newark

Boro Buses of Red Bank will in the near future inaugurate through bus service from Long Branch and Red Bank to Newark and return. In making the announcement, David W. Russell, general manager of Boro Buses, stressed the fact that the public will in a great degree control the scheduling of the new line. "If the public demands additional service," he further stated, "we are entirely willing and able to provide it."

The need for this new bus service has increased in the last few years, according to Mr. Russell, due to the substantial number of new homes built in this area. In many cases, these new residents have moved from north Jersey metropolitan areas. This new through service will also provide access to points in northern New Jersey for persons who have for many years been residents of this area. In Newark, bus and train connections to all points can be made by travelers.

This service will be furnished by G.M. cruiser Diesel buses which are the ultimate in comfort and convenience. These buses will be driven by dependable drivers whose record of service and safety has been proved by millions of accident-free miles on the present routes of Boro Buses. To inaugurate the new route and until the demands require it, the service will be on the basis of three trips daily in both directions, with extra trips scheduled for the week-ends. The proposed schedule and fares will be printed in all of the papers in the area in which the buses will operate.

On the new route to Newark, passengers will be picked up between West End, Long Branch and Sayreville on route 25. Other pick-up points include Oceanport, Little Silver, Red Bank, Middletown, Keyport, Cliffwood, Laurence Harbor, Morgan and Sayreville. To shoppers, students and commuters, the new line will supply clean, safe and direct service to Newark and will be particularly appealing to commuters on week-ends who desire to go to points in north Jersey.

Mr. Russell further stated that "this new service to Newark is for the convenience and comfort of the people in the shore area and also the folks in north Jersey who desire to come to the shore. We need the help and support of all our friends and patrons to make this line a success. Your advice on how to improve and schedule this new service to the best interests of all the riders is particularly desirable," he concluded.

Council Estimates $9.88 Tax Rate

LITTLE SILVER—The mayor and council Tuesday night introduced its budget for '55, calling for an estimated tax rate of $9.88 per $100 assessment compared to last year's $8.78.

The borough's operating budget increases $17,503. Councilman George K. Weigel, chairman of the finance committee, said $3,830 of that figure is for salary increases, including $1,500 for part-time police and $2,330 for 13 non-police employees. The regular police force, however, will not receive a salary hike. Mr. Weigel said, because of the heavy expenses incidental to the purchase of a second police car.

Other items causing the increase include $3,000, new fully equipped police car; $2,000, new multi-purpose road equipment; $2,000, appropriation for the Little Silver first aid squad; $2,000, increased sanitation, street lighting and insurance expenses; $3,000, streets and drains; $1,000, engineering fees to bring tax maps up to date and for other small engineering jobs.

The school board's budget increases $50,000, principally because of $24,000 more in tuition to Red Bank high school and $17,000 for additional teachers' salaries.

The breakdown shows a 43-cent increase per $100 for municipal purposes, 66-cent per $100 for school purposes. To prepare the budget, the county tax was estimated at $1.69, the same as last year. In 1954, the county estimates its tax will increase 12 cents per $100, which would bring this borough's total tax rate to $10 per $100. The public hearing will be Feb. 22. The entire budget will be advertised in the Feb. 10 issue of The Register.

Tentative OK Given for 85-House Development by 3-2 Council Vote

LITTLE SILVER—Following an hour-long argument, the mayor and council by a 3-2 vote Tuesday night gave tentative approval to a preliminary map of Westside park, a 53-acre tract west of Mainone Brothers' Charles Crest.

Sidney Lichter, vice president of the board of health, began the discussion by informing council the planning board's recommendation for approval did not follow the procedure outlined in the borough's subdivision ordinance.

Mr. Lichter said the board of health should have been supplied a map of the development so it could check contours, drainage and percolation tests before council acted, even for tentative approval.

Howard W. Roberts, borough attorney, said a strict interpretation of the subdivision ordinance indicated the law had not been complied with. He added, however, that council could decide whether or not to waive its requirements. In the resolution council adopted, specially worded by Mr. Roberts, the tentative approval included a provision that the map be subjected to approval by the board of health.

Health Officer Authorized?
Abraham J. Zager, attorney for Sidney Berg Associates, developers of the tract, said his clients since June have been trying to comply with planning board requirements. He and Henry Labrecque, civil engineer, said Dr. Edwin F. Stewart, health officer, approved the set-up. Mr. Lichter countered that the health board had not authorized Dr. Stewart to approve such maps.

Councilmen Joseph F. Lord and George R. Woodhead cast negative votes. Voting "yes" were Councilmen Victor P. Satter, Charles W. Stephens and George K. Weigel. The development is designed to contain 85 split level houses, each on half-acre lots. Mr. Lichter and several residents who supported his view contended that drainage facilities would be inadequate.

Councilman Satter said, however, that Borough Engineer O. Wolcott Morris inspected the area and reported it to be higher than adjacent land. Mr. Satter said the developers, "in justice," should be permitted to take the first step, particularly since council has held up action on the map so long.

Korey, King Publish Directory

LONG BRANCH—The publication of "Career Schools of the Middle Atlantic States," by Herbert A. Korey and George G. King, was announced this week by Guidance associates of this city.

Herbert A. Korey

Mr. Korey is guidance director at Rumson high school. Mr. King is guidance director at Long Branch senior high school.

George G. King

The directory offers coverage of accredited career schools in the New Jersey-New York-Pennsylvania area. Reference data on more than 1,000 schools are described in the volume. Each school is annotated as to its address, director, year of founding, types of courses offered, length of courses, admission requirements, term dates, tuition, accreditation, V. A. approval, and offerings of scholarships, work-study programs and correspondence courses.

Among schools described are those offering courses in air-conditioning, auto mechanics, aviation, art, barbering, bartending, brewing, beauty culture, business, cooking, drafting, fashion designing, embalming, nursing, practical nursing, secretarial training, welding, and many other types of trade, technical, business, and semi-professional courses.

Schools and courses are listed alphabetically. Both lists are cross-referenced.

"Career Schools of the Middle Atlantic States," the authors said, "is intended to fill the gap in the informational program describing non-college career schools, available to principals, guidance counselors, teachers, librarians, social workers, and other professional personnel." Mr. Korey is completing studies for his doctorate degree in guidance and personnel at Rutgers university, where he also received his B.S. and Ed. M. degrees. He is chairman of Monmouth county for the New Jersey Personnel and Guidance association, a member of the State New Jersey Education association committee on elections, president of the Rumson Teachers association, a member of the National Education association, the Shore Guidance council and the Monmouth county Education association. Graduating Class Members Become Registered Nurses

Monmouth Memorial Has 100 Per Cent State Board Approval

LONG BRANCH—Twenty-five nurses from the September graduating class of Monmouth Memorial hospital's school of nursing have received registered nurse licenses from the New Jersey board of nursing department of law and public safety.

Examinations for licensing were held in November, when 700 graduate nurses from 37 New Jersey hospital schools were examined for professional registered nurse licensing.

Monmouth Memorial's school of nursing was one of 12 of the examined groups to receive one hundred per cent approval for licenses. Of the 25 newly licensed graduates of the Long Branch nursing school, 21 are on the staff at the hospital.

Applications are being accepted for the two-year program in nursing to be initiated by the hospital's school of nursing in September. One of seven schools in the country selected to participate in the cooperative research project in junior and community education for nursing conducted by Teachers college, Columbia university, the program has the approval of the New Jersey board of nursing.

The two-semester year program will prepare students to meet the requirements for graduate professional nurse licensure in New Jersey in a shorter period than the current three-year plan. The curriculum will include additional courses in general education and planned experience in patient care. In the new program, the age limit for enrollment has been extended to 45. Qualified applicants will be accepted regardless of family responsibilities and students will be able to live at home. The 11-year affiliation with Monmouth Junior college in providing the basic arts and sciences will be continued in the new program.

TIRE FACTS

The writer has long admired the column written by Mr. Robert Waterbury which appears in this paper each week. Each article contains a timely story with timely advice and friendly suggestions regarding the reader's insurance requirements. It occurs to us that this is advertising of the highest order.

The tire business is one that is confusing, stimulating, exciting, sometimes frustrating and a lot of other adjectives that we cannot immediately think of. But, in all of this, it is always interesting and we feel that we may be able to pass along, in a similar column, facts concerning tires that will be of interest to the reader. Having received Mr. Waterbury's gracious acquiescence, we will "take" his type of column in the future and try to include in each issue timely and interesting facts related to tires.

The most timely item we can think of to start with is the Tubelast Tire which is brand new, now being delivered on all new 1955 automobiles, but not too well known by the average consumer.

If you are interested in learning a little of the tubelast tire's advantages and why they were selected by the automotive manufacturers over conventional types, look for our article in next week's issue.

Judge Giordano Denies New Trial

FREEHOLD—County Judge John C. Giordano Friday denied a motion by Robert Miller, 45, of 54 Chingarora ave., Keyport, for a new trial to recover more than the $26,000 he was awarded last month by a jury for injuries he suffered last year in an explosion.

The motion for the new trial was made on the grounds that the award to Mr. Miller, a volunteer fireman, was inadequate for the injuries to him. He was hurt Jan. 15, 1954, at the home of Dr. Sidney Becker, Keyport, where there was an explosion.

The suit was against the New Jersey Natural Gas company for $200,000, charging the company with negligence in supplying gas to the Becker home. Mr. Miller was represented by Edward Parry, Jr., Keyport, and Robert V. Carton, Asbury Park. Harvey G. Stevenson, East Orange, appeared for the company.

Courter Receives Award of $500

Robert E. Courter, Sr., of Michigan ave., Port Monmouth, recovered an award Friday of $450, plus medical expenses, in Workmen's Compensation bureau, granted by Deputy Director Harry S. Medineta. Mr. Courter, represented by William T. Wichmann, of the Red Bank law firm of Wise and Wise, testified that while working for H. S. Strauss, trading as Steel Products company last Feb. 16, he injured his back as he was picking up a five-gallon can of paint. The company was represented by Thomas J. Osborn of the law office of George E. Meredith.

Seek Regional Board Seats from Fair Haven

William Barnes

Emil Jakubecy

Frank Kenney

The above candidates will seek four Fair Haven seats on the Rumson-Fair Haven regional board of education in next Tuesday's regional district election. Mr. Jakubecy and Mr. Minton were appointed to the board by Earl B. Garrison, county superintendent of schools after formation of the district. Mr. Barnes will be unopposed in his bid for the one-year term, and Mr. Minton and Mr. Kenney will be unopposed in seeking three-year terms. Mr. Jakubecy and Mr. Magill will vie for Fair Haven's two-year term.

Mr. Barnes
William J. Barnes who, with his wife Frances and their three sons resides on Laurel dr., is a native of Philadelphia. Prior to coming to Fair Haven three years ago, he was a resident of Swarthmore, Pa. Mr. Barnes was graduated in 1938 with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from the Drexel Institute of Technology. He served in World War II as a major in the U. S. Army's Ordnance department. He is associated with E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company at the Parlin photo products plant and is presently serving as chairman of the du Pont North Jersey Engineers.

Active in religious and civic affairs, Mr. Barnes is a member of the Red Bank Presbyterian church where he serves on the board of deacons. He is an assistant scoutmaster of troop 24 and also is active in Cub pack 24 and Dads, Inc. Regarding his candidacy for the regional board, he states, "It was most gratifying to be asked to become a candidate for the board. If elected, I shall discharge my duties to the best of my abilities, and shall be glad to be of service to the community."

Mr. Jakubecy
Emil L. Jakubecy is assistant vice president of Commercial Factors, one of the largest factoring organizations in the world with which he has been associated the past 18 years. He is 39 years of age and except for approximately seven years has always resided in Fair Haven. He is the father of two children attending Fair Haven schools, one of whom will attend the regional school starting Sept., 1955, which is the date on which this board expects to assume full control of the high school system.

Mr. Jakubecy has been a member of the Fair Haven board of education the past seven years. His present term expires in Feb., 1957. He has been a member of the Fair Haven regional school committee since its inception approximately two years ago and has been on the regional school board since its formation in Nov., 1954. He was appointed to the board by the county superintendent of schools. A member of the Fair Haven fire company, past scoutmaster in Fair Haven, he has served on local scout, sea scout ship and cub pack committees. He is a member of the Fair Haven Lions club, Dads Inc. and has been a member of the P.T.A. Mr. Jakubecy attended local elementary schools, Red Bank high school and the National Institute of Credits.

Mr. Jakubecy said this week, "I have seen our borough grow from a small town to a thriving residential community which, in my opinion, with the plans that are already in progress and those that will be developed with our able leadership, will be second to none. I am proud to be a member of this community and to have played a small part in its development and I will do everything in my power to see that our educational program will be recognized as one of the finest. I believe that the regional high school program will make it possible for us to provide a very fine, curricula not only for the college preparatory student but all students in our secondary school system at a reasonable cost."

Mr. Kenney
Frank Kenney, born 39 years ago in Boston, Mass. was educated in Massachusetts schools. He graduated in 1928, with a degree of bachelor of science in chemical engineering from Northeastern university, Boston. Presently head of the technical department of P. Ballantine and Sons of Newark, he was associated with the research department of the Walter Baker division of General Foods corporation from 1938 to 1943 and as chief chemist of the White Rock division of National Distillers' corporation from 1943 to 1951.

Mr. Kenney is a member of the American Chemical society, the American Society for Quality Control and the American Society of Brewing Chemists. His civic work includes two years on the planning committee for the school board in Roslyn, L. I. He is presently serving as treasurer of Boy Scout troop 24, vice chairman of Dads Inc. of Fair Haven, and a committed man of cub pack 24, Fair Haven.

Mr. Kenney is married and has two sons, David and Frank, both of whom attend the Knollwood school in Fair Haven.

Mr. Minton
Russell H. Minton is a lifelong resident of Fair Haven. He attended and graduated from the Fair Haven grammar school and Red Bank high school. He also attended

New York university and received the degree of bachelor of commercial science upon graduation. He is an assistant secretary of the United States Trust company of New York city.

Mr. Minton has been a member of the Fair Haven board of education since 1933 and has been president of that board ten years. He was a member of the board when the Willow Street school was built in 1934 and the Knollwood school in 1950.

Mr. Minton has been a member of the Fair Haven borough council since 1938, having been chairman of the fire, first aid and insurance committee most of that time. This year he was appointed chairman of the finance committee upon the retirement of Peter J. Elchele. He is a member of the Fair Haven fire company and has been treasurer of the company 13 years.

Last year, Mr. Minton was appointed a member of the regional high school board of education, and is seeking a three-year term. In a statement issued this week, Mr. Minton said, "I have always advocated and worked for the best educational facilities for the pupils of Fair Haven. I am in favor of the present plan of the Fair Haven board to add eight additional classrooms to the Willow Street school and eight classrooms and a combination auditorium and gymnasium to the Knollwood school, which propositions will shortly be presented to the voters of Fair Haven for their approval. Due to the extra time and planning which is required to bring the regional high school plan to a successful conclusion, I have decided not to run for re-election to the Fair Haven board. I believe the members have the experience and qualifications to decide the problems with which they will be confronted. I hope to continue as a member of the Rumson-Fair Haven regional board and will not be satisfied until we have established a regional high school for the pupils of Fair Haven and Rumson which will be one of the best in Monmouth county."

A biography of Mr. Magill and a statement by him regarding his candidacy appeared in last week's issue of The Register.

OUR ANNUAL DREAM TRIP UP INTO THE CLOUDS HAPPENED SUNDAY WHEN we visited the National Motor Boat show at Kingsbridge armory in the Bronx. The show was celebrating its 50th year of existence during its ten-day run, which concluded Sunday as one of the best in the history of boating.

When trips like this are made, one can't help getting on a floating cloud especially when climbing aboard a huge yacht that can be turned over to a new owner for a tidy $85,000. We happened to be one of the few "lookers," not "buyers," to go aboard Wheeler's "queen of the loonks." And we went over it from how to stern just as if we were looking for a needle in a haystack.

Just to make sure there was no danger of a fire hazard hiding below in some obscure location, we toured this beauty with Russ McCue, Rumson fire chief. Always having safety of his department in mind, the chief left the show with an interest in boating and also found an item that would improve safety in fighting fires in the brough.

When an automobile salesman hands you a bill of goods when attempting to sell you his product you might absorb it and think nothing of it. But if you are a salesman trying to sell a yacht for $85,000. For this particular one, he'd tell you the features of this craft include owner's stateroom, guest's stateroom, two baths, sunbathed lounge, stainless steel galley, convertible dinette, quarters for the crew, plus shower, enclosed navigation bridge, teak decks, teak cockpit, electric heat and a few other items. That's about the main features he'd sell. Then, of course, are the engine and instruments, such as radar, radio and ship to shore telephone that would be mentioned.

Being a Navy man and realizing just how tight quarters can be, it was hard to realize just how spacious this baby was. In fact, Chief McCue, being an Army man and sleeping in some pretty rough quarters during the war, probably had in his mind: "Did the Navy travel in this fashion?" He didn't say, but it was just as well that.

Despite the life of income taxes there are still some people in this huge country that purchase little items like that $85,000 one just as we would get on the extravagant side and order a steak at Leon's restaurant. Chatting with the salesman, he informed us that two yachts of that type had been sold during the show. Then for the yachtsmen who fall to have bundles of cabbage for the larger craft, there was one alone side that went for $43,000. This one was not quite so large, but she, too, was a beauty. While on this one there was a man opening every door that would open from the galley to the stateroom. And from the way he was whistling and looking, it was our suspicion that he had that green stuff and was about to have himself a new toy to tide away his spare time enjoying life.

All the heavy dreaming was done early on the bigger jobs and it wasn't long before we came out of the clouds and landed back into the canoe and rowboat section. Sure, they sold them, too! There must have been 250 displays of marine engine and nautical accessory items. About 350 recreational craft of all types—Inboard cruiser, inboard runabouts, outboard cruisers, outboard runabouts, dinghies, prams, canoes and rowboats were on the floor.

The largest sailboat ever exhibited in a National Motor Boat Show was a 40-foot Luders molded plywood craft that sleeps six. It has a mast 60 feet high with more than 700 square feet of sail and was the beauty of the windjammer display.

One craft, we believe it was in the Century display, appeared as if it was put on the production line for the "Zoot Shillers" as it seemed to be done up in crazy fashion, as far as we were concerned anyway. You've seen these convertibles with the leopard skin upholstery, well this model was worked up in some sort of a black design. Some were of the opinion spotted the boat. However, some long chain swinger might have had the cabbage to pick up that one.

The show doesn't exactly thrive on a huge yacht display, but also takes in practically everything with speed on the water. This speedboat class always draws huge crowds around its particular section and by studying some speed fans you could picture the thoughts going through their minds. They're behind the wheel, flying through the water and happy as a lark. Then bang, the cloud breaks and they move to the next display which might be for a small dingie. To afford the luxury of this type craft, the pocketbook would have to be fattened to the tune of from $3,800 to $4,800 or more.

Each year when speedboat manufacturers design their craft they come up with new ideas the same as automobile manufacturers. For the sports car-minded nautical enthusiasts, Century introduced its futuristic 20-foot Coronado inboard runabout and Wilson's Marine displayed the 18-foot Chris Craft Cobra with fin tail. This fin tail model gives a quick impression of one of the Sio-Mo-Shun family out of Seattle.

Despite all the interest that might attract light pocketbook boating fans to the big jobs, they'll always get back to their own pocketbook size and scan the outboard motor displays. These outboards are just as popular as ever, and even these motors are being designed these days to shove around 21 footers that might have accommodations for two and can make up to 28 m.p.h. with twin installation of 25 hp. motors.

Every year more people flock to the river front and the more they see of small craft being shoved over the water by outboards, the quicker the bug bites em. These modern motors are not like the old ones that would just as soon vibrate off the stern of a boat as they would stall out in the middle of the river. Today, companies continue to emphasize quiet, vibrationless operation through the use of resilient mountings, under-water exhaust and sound dampers on intakes. The bigger motors of Evinrude, Johnson and Scott-Atwater also play up added power, quiet operation and easy remote control for use on cruisers. In smaller motors, lightness and maneuverability, along with a combination of low trolling speed and good top speed, are the most prominently claimed qualities.

More than 80 boats in the record show fleet were of aluminum construction, including several outboard cruisers, outboard runabouts, prams, dinghies and canoes. This is three times as many aluminum models as were on display last year. The increasing popularity of laminated glass plastic for recreational craft also was noted in the display of 35 sailboats, outboard runabouts, inboard utilities and dinghies.

One of the big factors in creating boating interest is the pre-cut kits for many types of outboard cruisers, sailboats, dinghies and prams. These kits for home assembly by amateurs have caught the public's fancy and pocketbook in the last few years and has done much to make modest budget families boat conscious, halving the cost of professionally-built craft.

Abbott A. Gweer of H. A. Bruno & Associates, Inc. public relations concern handling publicity for the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, sponsors of the show, informed us that $15,000,000 in business was transacted before show time Sunday. The Wheeler concern alone went over a million.

The show is over and our boat "dreams" are a thing of the past for 1955. Comes spring we'll go down to Marine Park, Pullen's dock and Pete Pauer's establishment and watch the yachts float by. And if Dr. Anson Hoy's championship craft has a spare deck chair on a hot July afternoon, maybe we'll be able to thumb a ride from Pullen's to Irwin's. One other thought is—maybe there'll be an item in Rumson's budget for next year, one fire boat, recommended by Chief McCue.

SHORT SNORTS FROM SPORTS—Bernard B. White, Corn lane, Shrewsbury, caught a 53-pound, eight-ounce sailfish while fishing out of Islamorada on the Florida Keys with Captain Don Gurgolio of the charter boat Goshawk. He was competing in the Metropolitan Miami fishing tournament. His game and catch will be exclusively recorded on the first page of the Year Book, issued at the end of the contest Apr. 17 as the angler's individual record of achievement. He also took an 18-pound bonafide white fishing with Captain Everett Carey of the charter boat B.J. Mr. and Mrs. White returned this week. Steve Van-Vliet generally handles these items in his Surf, Field and Stream column, but the items arrived too late for his use this week.

Walter Stenken and John "Wally" Spencer stuck with their golf when we had the snowfall a couple of weeks back. In order to keep the "Snowbirds" in action, Walter and Wally went out for 18 holes to fire rounds of 100 and 90, respectively. The golfers used red golf balls and had a fine time chasing the pills over Beacon Hill Country club's hilly layout.

Allan Stern, former Rumson high school chucker, who was responsible for Rumson's only state baseball championship, very shortly heads for the sunny south where he'll enter Florida Southern college. Stern was discharged from the Coast Guard in December after four years of service. When chucking on the hill for the Rumsonians, Stern was about the fastest hurler in Shore Conference competition and he finished his high school days with a remarkable strikeout record.

Gene Booth, ex-Buccaneer cager who was mentioned in this corner last week, is in again. Booth is a newly elected member of Pi Lambda Phi fraternity at Dartmouth college, where some 500 sophomores, juniors and seniors joined 23 fraternities on the campus in the past fall. Booth is on the varsity basketball team and is majoring in zoology. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Booth of 248 Bergen pl. . . Stan Savage takes over for Dick Hearn as tournament chairman at Beacon Hill Country club. Stan has plans to revise the member-guest tournament and will also conduct a "Walter Stenken" or senior members, 50 years old and over. . . John W. Pro Cage Rules Feature Polio Court Contest

Signaleer Courtsters To Give Professional Touch for Spectators

FORT MONMOUTH—The professional touch always adds a headline event, especially tomorrow night at the field house with the annual March of Dimes basketball benefit being staged.

With the Fort Dix "All Stars," the opposition to Fort Monmouth's "Signaleers" in the second half of the twin-bill scheduled, this contest is to be played under the present pro basketball rules.

In the first game, starting at 6:45 p. m., Fort Monmouth WACs, the First Army champions, meet Fort Dix WACs in another thriller.

While the Monmouth five has won 11 out of 16 games played to date, the Signaleers definitely will be the underdogs against Fort Dix.

Termed the "team of captains," the Fort Dix squad of 12 men, all starred while in college. The term is applicable in that all but one member was team captain on his college club.

Fort Dix's record is outstanding, as it lost but one contest in nine games. The lone defeat suffered by Fort Dix was by Andrews Air Force, the All-Service champions, who are unbeaten in 22 games.

Even in losing, Dix gave Andrews a scare before the latter won by 14 points, 87-73. Andrews boasts among its victims, three wins over George Washington university, two triumphs over Maryland and a victory over Duquesne, all three presently rated among the top ten college teams in the country.

The pro rules will be new to both teams, but the caliber of ball will be topflight. Among the Fort Dix "All Stars" will be Sam Glassmire of Villanova, Bill Hogan from Siena, Andy McGowan of Manhattan, Ray Belleau of Seton Hall, and George Glasgow, a little All-American two years ago while at Fairleigh Dickinson. Colgate's Dan Warren, Tommy O'Toole of Boston College and Vinny Yokabaskas from the University of Connecticut, also are on the roster. Coaching the Dix all stars is Bill Baird, out of Rhode Island State.

This is the only appearance of Fort Dix in the campaign at Fort Monmouth. Usually the cage schedule has a few of these stars appearing here with their Regimental team throughout the season, but not this year. Also, the First Army tournament, being shifted to Fort Dix, prevents them from making a return to the field house.

Judging from the Fort Dix roster, Friday's game with 12-minute quarters, the 12-foot foul lane, 24 seconds to shoot the ball, no zone defense and six personal fouls allowed a player, among the pro rules should be added experience for the pro potentials.

Marty Brenner, Red Bank high school's point getter, is fourth in the standings with 96 points acquired on 36 baskets and 24 foul converts. Brenner, sharpshooter from the foul line, holds the season's record for the most free flips in a single 100, 13.

Dick Springsteen, Rumson high school's fast-firing forward, rides in fifth spot with Bill Utter of Matawan, both cagers sharing the spot with 87 points. Springsteen came up with 39 double baskets and nine fouls, while Utter tossed in 37 goals and 13 fouls.

Joe Fasso, also of Matawan, is seventh with 85 points. Bob Smith and Ed Bibaud, two Middletown township courtsters, are running neck and neck in eighth and ninth spots, respectively, with 77 and 75 points. Jack Kormeyer of Manasquan is tied with Bibaud.

Outside of the circuit, John Thompson of St. Rose of Belmar displays a high total of 237 points in the final to outscore the Gulls, 20-13.

Keyport ended the season's longest win streak, seven, which Point Pleasant had compiled.

The Red Raiders dropped four of its first five contests and then started a winning streak to mark up five games and each one a circuit encounter.

Jack Cottrell, Keyport's ace guard, was the spark for the victors, leading the way with 24 points. Bill Stratton, eagle eye forward on Point's squad, scored 22 points, all from the field.

At the end of three quarters the score was knotted at 48-48, but the victors poured on the steam in the final to outscore the Gulls, 20-13.

Keyport's junior varsity dropped the preliminary tussle, 48-43.

Buccaneers Wallop Middletown Cagers

Freehold's Walt Freeman Paces Individual Scoring in Conference

Walt Freeman of Freehold Regional high school is on his way to the individual scoring championship of the Shore Conference. After Friday's tussle, the big Colonial center totaled 176 points on 69 field goals and 26 charity pegs.

Freeman also comes in for honors in nearly every other department in the circuit. He has scored the most points, 41, and most field goals, 16, in a single contest. The Freehold ace also posted more than 20 points in the most games, six, and has the second highest single-game score, 32.

Joe Austin, the pride and joy of Neptune, is the only other cager with more than 100 points. The Scarlet Flier has compiled 129 points and six personal fouls allowed a player, among the pro rules should be added experience for the pro potentials.

Marty Brenner, Red Bank high school's point getter, is fourth in the standings with 96 points acquired on 36 baskets and 24 foul converts. Brenner, sharpshooter from the foul line, holds the season's record for the most free flips in a single 100, 13.

Croydon Hall Bounced, 68-60

LEONARDO—Despite a 27-point production by Jim Kerwin, Croydon Hall dropped a 68-60 cage contest to Stevens academy of Hoboken in a recent contest played by the local academy.

I was the third defeat in four outings for Croydon Hall.

Stevens opened its offensive in the third quarter when it broke loose with a ten-point margin. Croydon Hall managed to close the gap to five points on two occasions in the last period, but each time the victors rallied.

Croydon Hall's next encounter will be at New Brunswick against Rutgers prep. Feb. 7.

SPLITS and MISSES

By PAUL A. ALBRECHT

It seems that if a man has the love of any sport in his blood he will find some way to be connected with the sport world, even if it is not in the field he likes best.

Sal has been at the same stand on Shrewsbury ave. and Herbert st. in Red Bank the past 21 years. He must please his customers or he would not be there this long.

Even though Sal's tavern has been a name in the Red Bank Businessmen's loop all these years, it wasn't until April of 1931 that he accepted the winning trophy.

Those two bumper weeks are over for the Red Bank Businessmen's league and things are slightly tighter than before.

Silver's Jewelers has been up there most of the way and is currently running out in front with a two-game lead on Eatonville Television and Airport Inn.

The Monmouth County Women's International Bowling Congress tournament gets off to an early start this season due to the fact that the state tournament will be held in Red Bank.

Last Sunday afternoon, the Shore Firemen's Bowling league held a special meeting to decide the Tom Paris issue.

There was more accomplished at this meeting than allowing Tom to roll. The actual resolution passed was to allow any active or exempt bowler whose company does not have a team to roll with any team.

The Berks county affair was brought up and the usual interests were Hentelock came up with a suggestion that we believe is the best to date.

We in Monmouth county do not have the facilities for entertaining the Berks county crowd properly. Our best bet would be to give them a clam bake.

Timely Notes On The Great Outdoors

BY STEW VAN VLIET

IT WAS FUN BUSTING BRONCOS

Stew VanVliet

As if overnight I found myself transplanted from the cold, dreary confines of an Eastern University, located in the heart of a great metropolis, surrounded by man-made mountains of brick and stone and concrete to a little log cabin, nesting in a nook in the wide expanse of God's Temple—The Rocky Mountains of New Mexico.

Where, before my life had been the mastery of math, English, history, physics and all the other complicated studies which go to make a modern education, I now had only one problem—Living.

It didn't take me long to realize that my survival depended on my ability to master man's oldest friend—the horse. The only previous experience I had ever had with the "caballo" was a hobby-horse when a child, and later riding on the wide nostrilled, high plume tailed, beautifully painted steeds of a merry-go-round at Asbury Park.

With the ranch went a herd of beef cattle and a herd of wild, unbroken mountain broncos, which roamed the open range at will. In order to be able to have transportation it was necessary to round up these wild mustangs, run them into a corral, select one or two good-looking saddle horses and then go about the job of breaking them to ride.

When I took possession of the ranch I only had my old faithful companion Jeff, a raw boned, grey, Roman-nose, stubborn mountain pony, which I had bought from a Forest Ranger who had resigned from the service and gone "back East" to finish his days.

Jeff, in his younger days, had been a cow pony, and knew all the tricks. I won't go into the many exciting rides we had together up and down the sides of steep mountains, through thick growths of aspen, spruce and scrub oak, following a herd of wild horses at break-neck speed, until they had reached the point of near exhaustion when I was able to turn them into the wings of a corral.

Once they were securely penned, I would ride into the center of the milling herd with my lariat, pick out a good specimen of horse flesh and after many tries, (I never was very good with a lasso), drop the nose over his head. Then with a twist of the rope around the saddle horn the tussle started, with Jeff always facing his antagonist, and sitting back on the rope tighter and tighter by bracing his front feet until the bronco fell over from suffocation. Then quickly releasing the pressure, allowing the nose to slip through the honda until he regained his wind, then to repeat the same thing over and over again until he learned it wasn't much fun to pull back on a rope.

Much Patience Required

Slipping out of the saddle, the next move was to get a hitch around a snubbing post, a must in all corrals. From this vantage point he could be worked up to within a foot or two of the post. The snubbing post was a great protection because many times the bronco would rear up on his hind legs and strike out viciously with his front feet.

Carefully working my hand along the rope, after many tries, I would be able to touch him and finally be able to pat him on the side of his cheek and neck, always keeping the snubbing post between us. This would keep up for hours until I was able to slip a hackamore, or rope halter over his head.

Next came the saddle blanket. This never failed to produce a series of violent eruptions. After many tries he would allow it to be thrown on and removed. Now came the saddle. It was a heavy saddle, weighing about 50 pounds, mounted with iron stirrups, which made a lot of noise; double cinches for riding down steep grades, and many straps.

By using the same tactics, picking it up off the ground after he had bucked it off many times, at last it was ready to tighten, the girths. Then away he would go, high-tailing and bucking around the corral with me and my high-headed boss, which allowed a grip heeled boots, which allowed a grip digging the heels in, hanging on to the other end of the rope. After he had worn himself out, I was ready for the great adventure, and before long I was riding him around the corral like an old nag. His jumping days were over.

During all the years I lived on the ranch I broke hundreds of saddle horses, always using the same method—taming and gentling them, rather than the throw them down hogtie them, saddle them and ride 'em cowboy method, which many of you have seen in pictures, and which usually produces mean-tempered mounts.

I hate to think what might have happened to me had I tried the latter method, but I was all alone and couldn't afford to take the chance.

MOUNTAIN LIONS' BONES AND SAILFISH

That's quite an order, and covers a heap of territory. Word comes from three of Monmouth county's outstanding sportsmen—John Gardella, Jr. of Rumson, Bernard (Bud) White of Shrewsbury and Eric Cross of Oceanport—all members of the Navesink River Rod and Gun club, telling us of their activities in "The Great Outdoors."

John Gardella, writes from "Circle Z" ranch, Patagonia, Ariz., where he has gone to stalk the American Mountain Lion, Puma, which has a blood-curdling cry in a high-pitched note like a woman's scream. It will freeze the very marrow in your bones the first time you hear it.

"Dear Stew: I told you before I left for the West for a mountain lion hunting trip that I would drop you a line and let you know how I am making out. So here goes: "Fred Fendig, the owner of "Circle Z" ranch here in the lower tip of Arizona arranged my guide for me. His name is Grover Kane, and we hunted on his uncle's land in the Atascosa mountains which run between Arizona and down into Mexico.

"I had breakfast at 5 o'clock that morning and I might say we ate well. Venison steaks, six eggs each, gallons of hot coffee and a stack of home-made toast. The hounds were already out and on their way ahead to work the land before you get there. I thought we'd never find them, but I found out later that their buying is audible many miles in the canyons.

"After breakfast we went out into a very frosty corral. Temperature 17 degrees, and saddled up. My horse was a two-year-old cutting pony called Joe Tuck. A nasty little sorrel with a kicking disposition. Incidentally, these horses are one-third goat, one-third whippet and one-third meanness. It was hard to tell which one prevailed.

"For guns I carried a Winchester 30-30 and a Smith and Wesson K-22. I had carted a 270 Winchester with a two and a half Alaskan scope all the way out, but had been told to leave it at the ranch, as you could not carry such a long gun through the brush.

"Leaving the ranch we traveled for three hours over deceptively smooth looking hills, which were actually as rock strewn as a Sea Bright jetty. It was a bone-jarring jog, but Bob Kane, the uncle, told me it was smooth compared with what we would hit a little farther on. By 9 o'clock we had covered about 12 miles and entered the lower canyons of the Atascosa range.

"We soon located the hounds, which were handled by a young Mexican kid named Ernesto, and started up into the mountains. There were eight hounds, a mixture of Walker, Blue Tick and Blood hounds, all in pairs, necked together, with the exception of the "strike" hounds Pumple and Brownie, which happened to be a three-legged one. I understand the boated a five-footer, which he is having mounted. Bud landed one which measured 7 1/2 feet.

"The 'strike' hounds were sent ahead to try for first scent. The rest of us, men, horses and hounds followed behind. For two hours we climbed steadily up trails covered with boulders, rock slides, manzanita and cat claw. Every plant born in this country is born with spurs on, and they all hurt. At one point we had to jump a crevice, not bad in its width but not a thing beneath it for 500 or 600 feet. Bob Kane told me at this point we were 7,500 feet up, and the wind was howling.

"Shortly after this we got to Walker canyon, and we heard the hounds open up ahead of us. It was real 'Mountain Music! Thei, bay, bay, drifted back down the canyon like the voices of lost souls, and after riding at a break-neck pace along the side of a mountain, not even meant to be climbed, we reached the hounds. Pumple was circling the canyon, nose to the ground, and tail going madly. Everyone in a while she would lift up her muzzle and bay and then get back to work. Finally the scent was clarified as far as Pumple was concerned, and we unneaked the rest of the hounds and off they went.

"Trail Hot and Heavy "The track went hot and heavy for too many miles. We tore off behind them, fighting brush, cactus and sliding horses, until the lion went over a sheer bluff, which neither the dogs nor us could make or circle it. It was heart breaking.

"Later on in the afternoon the dogs picked up another trail, but after an hour, lost it, and we had to admit defeat. We started back for the ranch, and on the way I saw more deer than I have ever seen in Jersey, and a few good-size javilina.

"At 7 that night we reigned in at the ranch, after 13 hours in the saddle, and having covered over 30 miles of some of the toughest going in the country. Bob's wife had a tremendous dinner ready for us, which we dispatched with alacrity, and then hit the sack.

"The next morning we started out again, but had barely hit the hills when a full fledged blizzard set in and we had to quit. At this point the Atascosas are still heavy with snow, so we won't be able to try again for another two days. I'll let you know what happens. I hope the next time I write I can tell you that I have got my cat."

Bud White and Eric Cross have returned from a fishing trip to the Florida Keys, where they enjoyed some fast action with bonefish and sailfish.

They made their headquarters at Islamorada, which is located at Key Largo, where they made a number of trips for bonefish with Capt. Ev Carey, one of the best guides in the business.

The largest bonefish was taken by Bud. It tipped the scales at 11 pounds. While trolling the Atlantic side of the Keys they had excellent sport with Sails. Eric tor's iceboat ran out of ice. Bob Howie suffered a dunking when his boat went through the ice. He also was cut on the face.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT The Fish and Game Council will conduct a public hearing regarding the proposed new regulations for the 1955 fishing season. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday, February 8, in the Assembly Lounge, State House, Trenton, which meeting the general public is invited. Following the hearing, the regulations adopted will become the Fish and Game Code.

Capt. Ad Howland of Rumson has taken off for Mexico, where he expects to spend some time hunting mountain lions.

Capt. Jack Weller of the party boat Flash King, out of Atlantic Highlands, has returned from a trip to Florida, where he fished with Capt. Paul Humber of Boynton Beach. Capt. Weller reports that he enjoyed excellent sail fishing and king mackerel. Paul Humber was formerly out of Rahr's Landing, Highlands.

The January issue of "New Jersey Outdoors" is off the press. It contains one of the most interesting and instructive articles on Fox Trapping, written by Grant and Marjorie Heilman, which we have ever read. It shows a picture of one night's catch by predator controlmen of 20 from Monmouth county. Sportsmen, this is your publication and is well worth the $1 a year subscription. Send check to the Division of Fish and Game, Trenton.

The Atlantic Highlands Yacht club will hold a meeting at its club rooms at 8:30 Feb. 2. The purpose is the election of officers for the coming term.

News from the Navesink

by Karen Lindsay

This week there was much excitement on our river once again. The ice was frozen almost clear across and skating and iceboating prevailed.

Saturday and Sunday were a heyday for those long waiting iceboaters. If you'll remember back to last year, we had ice on the river the last two week-ends in January. Iceboating then were Ed and Joe Irwin in Georgie, Steward Cook in Pat, John Mulvihill in Buckaroo, Dr. Douglas Hoyt in Say When and Dr. Enslie White in Duz. A race was scheduled which the Irwin boys won.

This year some six or eight iceboats were congregated at the Monmouth Boat club, Andy Murray's Daisy and John Mulvihill's Buckaroo were there along with those of Carl Schwenker, Bob Howie, "Unc" Keator and Mickey White.

Many minor mishaps occurred Sunday morning. Carl Schwenker broke the mast on his small iceboat.

Harvey Schenck and Howard Hathaway got wet when "Unc" Kea-

tor's iceboat ran out of ice. Bob Howie suffered a dunking when his boat went through the ice. He also was cut on the face.

Many of the well known figures of the club in the summertime were down to see what was going on. Included in these were "Unc" Keator, Mr. and Mrs. Schenck, Johnny and Barb Bull, Ken Altreuder, Ed Waters, Ted and Charlie Formoso, Norman Schenck and Ted and Elaine Engberg.

Thanks for reading, folks. Tune in next week for more news of ice or otherwise on our Navesink.

Other scores posted in the winter tourney were Robert Kilzen, 82-10; Louis Boehme, 102-29-73; David Jones, 92-18-74; Stan Savage, 78-74; Walter Stenken, 90-16-74; John Spencer, 90-12-78; Ed Savidge, 85-8-77; Charles Keyler, 85-8-77; Bernie Dupree, 87-7-80; Sam Gianni, 88-8-80, and Jim Risenberger, 102-25-77.

The golfers completed the fifth week of the tournament Sunday and expect to start match play in April for numerous trophies. Mr. Dupree is defending champion.

Outboard Boating Rise Predicted

Representatives of the Boatman's shop, 24 Wharf ave., who attended the National Motor Boat show in New York, expressed the opinion upon their return here that outboard boating in and around Red Bank should enjoy an unprecedented rise in 1955.

Marshall VanWinkle, 3d, one of the representatives, joined more than 500 dealers at a luncheon at the Plaza hotel while in the city for the show. Among the highlights at the luncheon was a showing of "The Big Chance," a documentary film, which defined the consistent trend from spectator to participant sports such as boating and fishing.

"The changes shown in the film are taking place here in Red Bank and vicinity," said Mr. VanWinkle. "Locally, we are going through a period of transition. There is more boating in the Navesink and Shrewsbury rivers than ever before. The most apparent change is in the number of families taking to the water. Boating is a family sport and more and more families are spending their leisure and week-end time on the water."

Rumson Bulldogs Win Second Circuit Contest, Defeating Hoffman, 71-66

SOUTH AMBOY—Coach Don Trotter's Rumson Bulldogs won their second class B Shore Conference victory of the season Friday night when the Purple and White club knocked off Harold Hoffman, 71-66, on the Governors' court.

Rumson leaped off to a fast start in the first half by leading the contest, 39-26, at intermission time after chalking up periods of 19-12 and 20-14.

The Governors took over the offensive in the second half to outscore Rumson in both periods, but just couldn't produce enough points to overhaul the Bulldogs' first half lead. Hoffman nipped Rumson, 23-20, in the third session and 17-12 in the final chapter.

Dick Springsteen sparked Rumson's attack with 22 markers. Three other Rumsonians to hit double figures were Curtis Lundin and Nino Sharabba, 15 points each, and George Terry, ten. Fred Clambone almost hit double digits with nine points.

Bill Lake was top man for the losing five with 21 points. Frank Grimley had 15. Jim English and Charlie Rehusus tossed in 12 and 11, respectively.

A thriller developed in the preliminary contest when Hoffman re-secured pulled out a 31-29 victory over the Bulldogs in a double overtime contest.

Matawan enjoyed a 33-26 lead at intermission time, after getting away to a 20-9 first quarter lead. The Tigers sliced the gap to 51-48 at the end of three quarters, but Matawan picked up nine points in the final session with an 18-9 quarter.

The Tigers walked off the court with the preliminary contest, running away from the Huskies, 51-35.

Huskies Hand Tigers 5th Loss

MATAWAN—Atlantic Highlands, still seeking its initial Shore Conference class B win, dropped a 69-57 contest to Matawan Huskies Friday night on the Huskies' home court.

Matawan's ace, Bill Utter, sparked the triumph with a 30-point performance with only two points coming from the four lane. The Huskie forward held the target in range for 14 field goals for the night. Connecting with one-hander, Utter dropped in six baskets in the opening period and dunked in nine tallies in the second quarter.

Joe Fasso and Ronnie Carlson also were in double figures for the Huskies with 17 and 11 points, respectively.

Ronnie Bahr led the losers with 19 points acquired on eight field goals and a trio of fouls. Tom Derby hit for ten markers and Jim Kehoe flipped in 11 tallies.

Matawan slipped in third place in the class B bracket with three victories in five battles. The Tigers, defending champions from the Hudson days, lost all five circuit encounters.

Matawan enjoyed a 33-26 lead at intermission time, after getting away to a 20-9 first quarter lead. The Tigers sliced the gap to 51-48 at the end of three quarters, but Matawan picked up nine points in the final session with an 18-9 quarter.

Enjoyed Their Visit At The Register Plant

Last Friday, 30 pupils of Mrs. Stern's third grade of the Mechanic st. school, accompanied by their teacher, paid a visit to The Register office and were escorted through the plant by Reginald Van Brunt of The Register staff.

The pupils took notes relative to what they saw at the plant of Red Bank's home newspaper, and asked many questions of Mr. Van Brunt, particularly in relation to operations of the mechanical department. They were deeply interested in The Register's large news press and its battery of typesetting machines.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Van Brunt received a letter from the class, a paragraph of which stated, "We don't know how to thank you enough for the lovely trip through The Register plant, which you allowed us last Friday. The answers you gave us helped very much in our study of Red Bank. Thank you again."

Mr. Van Brunt states that it was a pleasure to have escorted this group of local pupils, as they were not only interested in what was being shown them, but they were little ladies and gentlemen and exemplified what they had been taught of deportment and courtesy.

Riverview Operated Last Year 103.2 Per Cent Over Capacity

The monthly meeting of the officers and trustees of Riverview hospital was held last night in the hospital solarium at which an exceptionally large percentage of the official family of the institution attended.

James S. Parkes, who was re-elected president of Riverview last month, presided and named his committees for the ensuing year which were unanimously approved by the board.

On the executive board with him are F. Palmer Armstrong, Burton T. Doremus, Frank F. Blaisdell, Raymond DeRidder, Charles H. English, C. M. Cunnage, Mrs. James R. Clarke, M. Harold Kelly and Alfred King.

The finance and auditing committee comprises Mr. DeRidder, Mr. Armstrong and Mr. English. Robert de la Reussille, Mrs. G. L. Van Deusen and Mr. Kelly will be responsible for public relations. Mr. King, Miss Laura Harding and F. Dwight Foster comprise the building and grounds committee and Mrs. Florence Best was named chairman of the medical and nursing committee with authorization to select her committee associates.

The medical board of the hospital recently elected its officers for the ensuing year and their action was unanimously endorsed by the hospital officials. The officers elected are: president, Dr. William Matthews; vice president, Dr. C. C. Perrine; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Frank F. Goff, and assistant secretary-treasurer, Dr. Melvin Walnright.

Elected to the staff of the hospital by the medical board are Drs. Walter A. Rullman, R. E. Wilson, S. W. Haxman, William Matthews, D. V. Manahan, Frank J. Goff, John B. Boyd, Stanley O. Wilkins, C. C. Perrine, V. M. Whalen, Melvin Walnright, F. L. Hinde, John B. Movelte, Stephen Casagrande, W. J. Perrotta and William Heatley. Dr. Whalen and Dr. Matthews were elected representatives to the board of governors. Dr. Matthews, who is president of the medical staff, is an ex-officio representative to the board.

Members of the medical staff elected to be directors of their respective services are: surgery, Dr. Rullman; medicine, Dr. Perrine; obstetrics, Dr. Wilson; pediatrics, Dr. Heatley; anesthesia, Dr. Perrotta; radiology, Dr. Whalen, and eyes, ear, nose and throat, Dr. Matthews.

President Parkes stated that a singular honor had been conferred upon Riverview which was represented by a beautiful framed certificate which has a prominent place on the wall of the hospital's reception room. The certificate states that "The Joint Commission of Accreditation of Hospitals of the United States and Canada has accredited Riverview hospital, which has complied with the standards of the Joint Commission." Last summer a thorough inspection of Riverview was made by the commission which found the local institution meeting all the strict requirements as to management, service, equipment, safety, sanitation, etc.

This certificate remains the property of the commission and should Riverview at any time fail to continue to meet the required standards the certificate can be recalled. Mrs. Julia Throckmorton, superintendent of Riverview, gave a detailed report of the service rendered during the past year which showed a marked increase of activity in every department of the institution. Mr. DeRidder reported on the financial condition of Riverview which is operating slightly within its budget. He also stated that during 1954 Riverview had operated at 103.2/10 per cent of capacity.

An interesting part of the evening's session was hearing the reports of the various auxiliaries during the past year. Some were short and concise, others were given in great detail, all showing that each group of women were constantly on the job for Riverview, and all had outlined active programs for the ensuing year.

The report of the operation of the coffee shop proved that this feature of the hospital could do more business if more room was available but however it was paying its way.

Last year Red Bank lodge, No. 277 of Free Masons, inaugurated a blood bank in connection with Riverview. The initial attempt proved to the Masonic fraternity that a greater effort should be put forward this year and a new drive is now under way for donors.

Two Retired Postal Employees Honored

Frederick A. Crine, Red Bank postmaster, third from right, presents a purse to Arthur S. Trafford, who recently retired after 39 years of postal service. Mr. Trafford was superintendent at the Fair Haven office. William F. Baldwin, left, carrier, holds purse presented to him upon completion of 30 years' service. Others looking on are Walter A. Schroeder, assistant postmaster, and Arthur E. Slattery, superintendent of mails. Presentations were made at a testimonial dinner Tuesday night at the Old Union house.

Neighbors to Fight Oceanport Change

EATONTOWN — The mayor and council last night authorized Borough Attorney Howard W. Roberts to have legal representation at the Oceanport school auditorium Wednesday when a "town meeting" will be held to discuss creating a business section at Main and Broad sts., Oceanport.

Lawrence A. Carton, a partner in the law firm of Roberts Pillsbury and Carton, will present this borough's objections to changing the area from its residential status. About a year ago, Mr. Carton made a similar appearance before the Oceanport council. At that time, principally because of the protests of Oceanport residents, the proposal was withdrawn.

2d National Re-Elects Directors; Bielitz Named Vice President

All seven directors of the Second National bank were re-elected at the institution's annual meeting Tuesday morning. The number of shares voted totaled 330,280 out of a possible 520,000. Frank F. Blaisdell of River Plaza and William Hittelman of Rumson were proxies. The judges were Edward W. Wise, E. Allaire Cornwell and Hubert M. Farrow.

The directors are Alston Beckman, Jr., Weeber W. Brook, Charles M. Cabbage, J. Raymond DeRidder, Harold Kelly, William B. Lyman and W. Raymond VanHorn. Mr. Lyman was re-elected president, and James VanFelt was re-elected executive vice president and cashier. George L. Bielitz of Shrewsbury, trust officer, was given the additional responsibility of vice president. Under Mr. Bielitz's supervision, the assets of the trust department increased this year $792,725. He is a member of the Shrewsbury council.

Wilson A. Miller of Little Silver, who has served as auditor, was promoted to assistant cashier. Joseph Fetter of Interlaken was elected an assistant cashier. Other officers re-elected were Elwood A. Duncan, assistant vice president; Arthur T. Paris, comptroller and assistant cashier; Harry C. Barnard, assistant cashier; William B. Little, Jr., assistant cashier; Harry B. Mazza, assistant cashier; Harold B. Millward, assistant cashier; Paul N. Jahnes, trust officer, and Mrs. Elsie B. Mason, assistant trust officer.

In his annual report to the stockholders, Mr. Lyman pointed out that loans and discounts had increased $893,892.96 in the past year from $5,173,778.58 to $6,067,671.54. The report showed that the bank's assets had increased $1,675,959.15 in the past year from $21,709,257.78 to $23,385,216.93. The Second National leads in assets in the county and also showed the greatest growth.

Mr. Lyman explained that the undivided profits account had been increased $39,358.01, and that the reserve account had been jumped $13,000. Mr. Lyman said, "During the year our mortgages, under the management of Assistant Cashier Harold B. Millward, increased from $2,714,437 to $4,011,798. In addition to mortgages added to our portfolio, short term loans in excess of a half million dollars were made in this community to help finance the construction of new homes."

Mr. Lyman continued, "The directors decided to establish a branch bank at Little Silver and permission was asked for and granted by the controller of the currency Sept. 4, 1954. A lot suitable for the erection of the new building has been purchased on Prospect ave. at the intersection of Church st., and a modern bank building will be erected with ample parking space and drive-in facilities. A new vault with safe deposit boxes will be installed, and it is proposed to give complete banking services to all our depositors."

$382,385 Budget to Boost Tax Rate to $10.25, Up $2.06

EATONTOWN—The mayor and council last night introduced a budget totaling $382,385.20 which will increase the tax rate from $8.19 to $10.25 per $100 worth of assessed valuation.

Last year's total budget called for $235,150.17, which was less than the $235,575.06 which will have to be raised this year for local school taxes.

The tax dollar breakdown offered by Borough Auditor Wallace Jeffrey shows $16 cents for schools, 211 cents for borough and 173 for county.

In an accompanying statement, an explanation is given for increases in both school and borough expenditures. The borough must raise $80,810.14, of which $61,181.63 is required by state law as a reserve for uncollected taxes. Last year, only $35,755.42 had to be posed to give complete banking services to all our depositors."

J. Crawford Compton of Belvoir, a stockholder, said: "It is very obvious that the bank's biggest asset is not in figures, but in the courteous treatment shown to the public by its officers, directors and employees."

Mr. Wise said, "More local lawyers have found the front door of the bank with business in the past years than in many years past."

Mothers' March
Rolston Waterbury, chairman of the Red Bank March of Dimes, reminds Red Bank residents that tonight from 7 to 9 is the Mothers' March on Polio. He asks residents to turn on porch lights or light a candle or lamp in the window as a sign to invite mothers to your home.

"So far in the campaign we have received only $1,350. We have a long way to go to meet our goal of $6,150." Mr. Waterbury said. Fire engines will be out to signify the start of the "march." Reservations for the March of Dimes supper dance at Old Union house Sunday from 5 to 9 p. m. are being accepted.

Streetsways to Seek Two New Bus Routes
EATONTOWN — The mayor and council last night granted consent to Streetsways, Inc., of Red Bank for two new bus routes, both of which would start in Long Branch. One would terminate in Newark; the other Freehold.

Roland Pierson, Red Bank realtor, represented the bus firm. He said one route would bring the bus from Long Branch to Wall st. here, along route 35 to Tinton ave. and thence to Freehold. The one to Newark would be via Oceanport, Eatontown and Red Bank. The firm is operating a line from Red Bank to Freehold.

Money Was Missing
It is charged that when Mr. George ended his term as magistrate in December, 1953, $1,090 was owed to the county and $75 to Union Beach in fines collected. Further, Mr. George is alleged to have withdrawn $445 from the court account in February, 1954, after he had left office.

Yesterday, James D. Cole, senior auditor of the State Division of Local Government, testified that George's bookkeeping was "not skillful." He said he found money missing when he made an audit last summer. He also told the court how an audit is made.

Mr. Cole said that he went over the matter with Mr. George at George's office last Aug. 15 and that Mr. George paid over the various sums due Aug. 31.

Four Frause Him
Four witnesses appeared to testify about Mr. George's "good reputation" and his "observance of the law"—Freeholder Walter Sherman; Ralph J. Damiano, Long Branch funeral director; former District Court Judge Joseph Matlack of Asbury Park, and Mayor James J. Gravano of Keansburg.

Mr. George testified that it was his policy to give defendants time to raise money for fines rather than to jail; that he took money home from his Wednesday night court sessions, to keep until it could be deposited, and that he had trouble making official reports needed before the funds could be sent in.

His attorney, Mr. O'Hagan, directed that not guilty pleas be entered on "each and every count" made against the former magistrate.

Council Takes Step to Create Sewage Authority

Move Follows Several Years' Study, Surveys; Users May Save Cash

EATONTOWN—The mayor and council last night introduced an ordinance which, if adopted Feb. 9, will establish an Eatontown Sewage Authority.

Such an authority has been under study several years, the borough having gained help from federal and state surveys, which apparently convinced the local governing body that a sewage system would be workable here.

Though no specific details about such a system are immediately available, it is generally estimated the annual costs to users of the system would be less than they now pay for cleaning septic tanks.

The ordinance provides that members of the authority cannot be paid in excess of $500 in compensation, except if a member should have a dual capacity as an officer, agent or employee.

New Police Car, Hazards
In other business, Kroll Motors of Long Branch was given a contract for a new Ford police car on a bid of $717 net. The only other bidder, Ocean Chevrolet, bid $1,085.

The fire prevention bureau asked that two dwellings be condemned as fire hazards. They belong to James N. Reynolds, Vortland rd. and Walter ave., and Mrs. Lillian Holtz Parker, South st. and Willow st. Members of the bureau are Fire Chief John M. Diez, Jr., Police Chief William Zadowicz, Building Inspector Charles Roberts and Fire Marshal Russell F. Tomas.

Council approved a zoning board of adjustment recommendation that Franklin Swenson be permitted to install a dry cleaning unit at 65-67 Main st. Borough Clerk Andrew G. Becker said inflammable fluids are not used in the cleaner, which has a capacity of 20 suits of clothes. A provision of the variance is that the owner would not be permitted to enlarge the cleaner's size. Mr. Becker also said the zoning board conferred with the planning board and was advised that the restriction against cleaning plants was not intended for an operation such as contemplated.

Accept Allen Streets
Council voted to accept from Allen Brothers, developers, the following streets in Elkwood: Eaton pl. and Farm lane, the entire lengths; Pine st. from Wyckoff rd. to Campbell dr.; Campbell dr. from Meadowbrook ave. to Pine st. and Meadowbrook ave. from Wyckoff rd. to a point within 100 feet of Pine st. Councilman Carly Garofalo, street committee chairman, offered the resolution, contingent upon an agreement being signed by Allen Brothers to reconstruct a curb at Farm lane and Eaton pl. Borough Attorney Howard W. Roberts was authorized to draw the agreement.

Tax license renewals were approved for Andrew Taylor, three, and Louis Reed, Antonio Lagano and Russell Tomalino, one each. A request from Paul Francaviglia of

George Continues Cash Loss Story

FREEHOLD — Former Magistrate Walter J. George of Union Beach is due to take the stand again today to explain what happened to $1,000 in money taken in by that borough's court.

Mr. George, a Keansburg lawyer and Long Branch resident, through his attorney, William J. O'Hagan of Asbury Park, said he is the victim of bookkeeping difficulties.

J. Victor Carton, county prosecutor who is presenting the state's case in Superior court, before Judge C. Thomas Schettino, told the jury yesterday it must decide whether Mr. George was guilty of embezzlement or "sloppy bookkeeping."

Money Was Missing
It is charged that when Mr. George ended his term as magistrate in December, 1953, $1,090 was owed to the county and $75 to Union Beach in fines collected. Further, Mr. George is alleged to have withdrawn $445 from the court account in February, 1954, after he had left office.

Board Candidates Address P.T.A.

LEONARDO — Candidates for the Middletown township board of education Monday night addressed about 100 members and guests of the Leonardo Parent-Teacher association at the grammar school auditorium.

Five of the six candidates for the three seats open on the board spoke at the meeting. They were Edward A. Luedke of Nutsweeper rd., an incumbent; Harold H. Briller of River Plaza, Trowtonia B. Crawford of Leonard and Willie M. James and Melvin G. M. Reeves of Port Monmouth.

The sixth candidate, C. Leslie Rice, Jr., of Blossom Cove rd., an incumbent, was unable to attend the meeting because of a business trip. Thomas A. Plice, vice president of the school board, read a statement in Mr. Rice's behalf.

Dr. Pate Moderator
Introduced by Dr. Wylie G. Pate, superintendent of schools and moderator of the program, after a welcome to the audience by Mrs. Matthew N. Stevenson, P.T.A. president, the candidates and Mr. Plice in a 25-minute period briefly described their backgrounds and their reasons for seeking election to the board.

A question and answer period of more than an hour followed. Dr. Pate also introduced present members of the board: Harold Copeland, president; Donald Johnson, Martin V. Lawlor, Monte B. Jones and Harry S. Craver. William Hyers, another board member, also was absent from the P. T. A. meeting. He was representing the school board at a session of the Middletown township planning board.

Township voters will choose three members of the school board in the district election Tuesday, Feb. 8. They also will act on the record $1,400,000 budget for the 1955-56 school year.

Mr. Craver's term also is expiring. He did not file for re-election. He said his business activity frequently calls him to far corners of the nation for extended periods, and this forced him to decline running for another term.

Alphabetical Order
Speaking in alphabetical order, the new candidates called for more "local" education, building centers in the township and transportation of grammar school pupils to schools outside their home communities.

Mr. Luedke reviewed his record. Mr. Briller told of his education in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut and of his scientific background, his constant search for "reasons why." He said his primary interest in running for the school board was to see to it that his many-year-old daughter is treated as a citizen of this township when she also seeks "reasons why."

'No. 1 Reason'
Mr. Crawford also cited his daughter, a six-year-old, as his "No. 1 reason for running for the board." He called for attending at local schools through the fifth grade and said he would work with

Rumson School Plan Defeated 2 to 1; Board to Meet with Groups Next Week

RUMSON — In a record school vote for this borough Tuesday, the board of education's proposal for the construction of a $1,250,000 elementary school was defeated by a margin of almost one to one.

Of the total of 1,574 votes cast, 991 were against the plan and 551 in favor of it. Twenty-nine votes were voided, and three were unaccounted for.

The election Tuesday climaxed a month-long controversy between advocates of the plan and those opposed to it. The opposition was represented largely by the Co-ordinating Committee for Better Education which argued the cost of the board-sponsored plan was too high. The mayor and council also took a stand on the question when they adopted a resolution opposing the proposition because of the effect it would have on the financial structure of the borough.

Siding with the school board was the Public School Action Committee. Opponents of the plan contended costs could be cut substantially. Those in favor of the proposal, on the other hand, claimed the education program as designed would suffer materially from any cost-cutting.

Board Sets Meeting
The board of education at a special session last night agreed that the next step in finding an agreeable solution to the elementary school problem should be a meeting with representatives of groups who took a stand in the recent controversy. Mr. Moncrieff read a letter from the co-ordinating committee asking that the board join in setting up a joint committee to begin working on a feasible school plan. The co-ordinating committee suggested that the joint committee comprise three or four members of the school board and three or four members of their group.

Mrs. Anna Vroman, board member, objected to the idea of having only some board members meet with representatives of the co-ordinating group. She said she was "sick and tired" of committees "working by themselves." Mr. Moncrieff recommended that the meeting be an executive session, adding the co-ordinating group asked for such a meeting before and the board gave them a "propaganda meeting." He was referring to a mass meeting held several months ago. The board disagreed unanimously with Mr. Moncrieff and on a motion by Grandin Hammell set next Wednesday night for an open meeting.

Invitations to the session will be sent to the co-ordinating committee, Public school action committee, borough council and P. T. A.

McCart Statement
Francis McCarter, counsel for the Co-ordinating Committee for Better Education, issued the following statement after Tuesday's election: "We are gratified at the outcome of the school referendum held in Rumson on Tuesday, and pleased that the controversy is ended.

"Those in the minority should take comfort in the fact that everyone is unanimous in their desire to work out a feasible school plan for the Rumson children as promptly as possible.

"Any disagreement was only as

J. R. Garvin Heads YMCA Fund Drive; Youth Carnival Saturday

J. Russell Garvin, Rumson, has been named general chairman of the 1955 fund-raising campaign to be held next month for the Red Bank Community Y.M.C.A.

The announcement was made by Robert Eisner, president of the Community "Y," during a talk in which he reported on the 1954 activities, which were the greatest in the 84-year history of the organization, and the observance this week of National Y.M.C.A. week.

Y.M.C.A. week will be concluded Saturday night with a carnival at the Riverside ave. branch to which boys, girls and parents have been invited, whether they are members of the "Y" or not. A number of contests will be held and prizes will be awarded.

To Solicit 2 Towns

The general campaign for funds this year is limited to Middletown township and Eatontown, the only two towns served by the "Y" which do not have community appeals.

Mr. Garvin, a business and estate agent who is district manager of the Connecticut General Life Insurance company office at 12 Broad st. here, said more details of the campaign will be announced next week.

Mr. Garvin is secretary of the "Y" board of directors and a member of the Rumson board of education and the Rumson regional district board of education.

'Y' Open to Public

He is special events chairman of the Red Bank Lions, member of the board of Monmouth chapter, American Cancer society, member of the fund-raising committee for the new Hazard hospital, Long Branch, associate vestrman of St. George's Episcopal church, Rumson, and a member of the Rumson and the church school. He was the first president of the Rumson Community Appeal association.

This week the facilities of the "Y" have been made available to the public gratis as part of the observance of Y.M.C.A. week. The secretaries at the Riverside ave. and Westside branches have expressed pleasure at the large turnout and interest shown in "Y" activities so far this week.

The second of the swimming class will get under way Saturday afternoon at the Asbury Park "Y" pool.

The junior centennial will celebrate "Y" week Friday night with a variety show. The following junior high school pupils will participate in the show: Lillian Weinstein, Suzzy Perkins, Sam Zimmerman, Danny Murphy, Helen Morris, Bonnie MacLaughlin, Karen Dittmar, Diane LaFreschi, Judy Martin, Connie Lewis, Rachel Fogacci, Judith Osprey, Judy Serbe, Janet Gillespie, Virginia Jacques, Susan Olsen, Donna Sellick, Mary Louise Sullivan, David Maize, Kenneth Pfeiffer and Carol Smith.

to the means and not to the end. The obvious interest in the question, as illustrated by the huge turnout, should be an indication of continuing interest in school affairs.

"This interest can best be shown by electing to both school boards candidates who are demanding the best in education, supported by a financially sound program.

"Next Tuesday, Feb. 1, we urge the support of John Black and William Fanning as members of the new regional school board."

Regional Question

During the controversy over the elementary school, the Rumson-Fair Haven regional board of education has been unable to act. A hearing scheduled for yesterday before the State Commissioner of Education on the regional board's plan to hold a referendum asking voter approval to buy Rumson high school for $760,000 was postponed after the defeat of the elementary school plan Tuesday, pending further action on the elementary school question.

The regional board originally was to act to purchase the high school before action was taken on the grammar school. However, it was learned that to buy the high school the regional board would have had to use about $209,000 of Rumson's municipal borrowing power and about $118,000 of Fair Haven's. That would have left Rumson with only about $100,000 borrowing margin and the regional board felt it didn't want to "hamstring" the borough to that extent.

It later was explained that should the elementary question be considered first, the expenditure of $1,250,000 would exhaust the borough's borrowing margin so that when the regional question came up there would be no municipal borrowing margin to dip into. The plan then was for the regional board to seek an extension of credit to purchase Rumson high school. The Rumson board was then to use part of the $760,000 it received from the sale of the high school to replenish the borough's borrowing margin.

It is questionable now whether the regional board will continue to wait until the elementary school problem here is solved. The regional board meets tomorrow night and some decision of the regional question may be forthcoming.

Illegal Beer Sale Charge Dropped

FREEHOLD—Daniel Dayko, operator of the Sea Horse tavern, 2 Ocean ave., East Keansburg, was charged Tuesday by County Judge John C. Giordano of selling beer to two teen-agers last April.

Mr. Dayko, who was represented by Benjamin Kleinberg, South River, contended he refused to sell the youths beer and that he ordered them off the premises. Five witnesses corroborated his testimony.

Assistant Prosecutor, George A. Gray said the youths, Robert C. Saxon, 17, Middletown township, and William L. Malinka, 16, Keansburg, were taken by police as they left the tavern and both testified they had no container of beer in their possession.

Stout Reported Ready to Seek Bingo Changes

Firemen's Requests Receiving Action, Speaker Says

FAIR HAVEN—Sen. Richard R. Stout (R-Mon.), a leader in bingo control, is expected to start efforts tomorrow to bring about changes in rules for the operation of charitable games in this state.

This was reported Tuesday night to the Monmouth County Firemen's association by Edgar Dinkelspiel, chairman of the association's legislative committee, following a talk he said he had had with the senator.

Mr. Dinkelspiel said Mr. Stout assured him that the senate's legislative committee had gone over a list of suggestions offered by the firemen's association and others and tomorrow will go before the state Games of Chance commission to request that changes be made in operating rules.

May Go To Senate

If the commission will not grant the changes, Mr. Stout was reported as saying, he will carry the issue to the floor of the senate in the form of new legislative proposals to "clearly and categorically define the whole bingo and raffle problem."

On other matters the firemen's association:

Expressed thanks for Christmas gifts sent to sick members.

Heard that the legislature is now considering bills for the payment of firemen hurt or suffering heart trouble in the line of duty. It recommended that the bills be amended to give the same rights to paid and volunteer firemen.

Unanimously voted opposition to a bill that the state set up the office of Chief of Fire Services at a maximum salary of $10,000 a year, to supervise all fire units in the state and enforce fire safety laws. The association called the job, recommended by the N. J. State Firemen's Advisory Council, "tailor made" and "not open to volunteer firemen."

Commission Asks $3,000 in Budget

HIGHLANDS—The Twilight commission Tuesday night said it will ask borough council to include an appropriation for $3,000 in the 1955 municipal budget for a contribution toward the rehabilitation and maintenance of the lighthouse as an historic monument.

Painting and carpentry repair projects at the lighthouse are continuing, it was reported, at the meeting. Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post here and the Lions club are seeking additional volunteers, commission members said.

The commission accepted the resignation of Mrs. D. D. Steelman, who represented the Garden club. Mrs. Steelman said her resignation was prompted by illness. Mrs. Robert Bolster, publicity chairman, was appointed secretary of the commission in Mrs. Steelman's place.

James McGough was appointed temporary chairman of the commission. He will act in the stead of G. V. Kadenbach, chairman, who told commission members that he will be spending a month in Florida.

The commission received a contribution of $3 from a Mrs. J. Thomas of Brooklyn, who said that she had seen Mayor Frank J. Hall and former Mayor Charles Hatzenbuehler on WRCA-TV, telling of plans to rehabilitate the light. She said her husband's grandparents, named Kelly, once lived in Water Witch, and the television program prompted "fond memories" of the Twilighters.

Summons Dismissed Against Grathwohl

SHREWSBURG—Magistrate Whitney Crowell dismissed a careless driving complaint Tuesday against Hollis W. Grathwohl of Sycamore ave., and fined Ziegler Forsters of Neptune City $13 when he found him guilty of improper passing. Summons were issued both drivers by Trooper Walter King of the Shrewsbury state police barracks following a head-on crash on Shrewsbury ave. Jan. 6.

At the hearing, Forsters, 18, admitted he pulled out of a line of cars to pass them and could not turn back in time to avoid hitting the Grathwohl car, which had pulled over to the right shoulder of the road in an attempt to avoid the collision. Samuel Carotenuto of the Appleton Foster, Reussville and Cornell law firm represented Mr. Grathwohl.

Also fined was Burroughs C. Hendrickson of Lakewood, $10, careless driving. Hendrickson's car slid and struck a utility pole on Shrewsbury ave. Jan. 13. Howard Overby of Long Branch was fined $10 for speeding.

Council Takes

Long Branch for a license was referred to Councilman Harry Kirkgaard, chairman of the police committee.

Trailer court licenses were approved for Circle ct. and Pine Tree inn. A conditional license was reluctantly granted Van's Trailer park. Councilman Leon B. Smock said he inspected the three camps, and that only Van's did not meet thorough requirements. He said, however, that great improvements had been made there, and bad weather prevented them from completing the job.

Van's Revamped

Charles Morgan, attorney for the owners, said $25,000 has been spent on bringing the park into condition, and that what remains is minor by comparison. Mayor F. Bliss Price said frequent extensions have been granted the owner, but council finally agreed to one more conditional license, which will expire Apr. 1.

Councilman Ralph L. Lewis reminded residents that a fire engine will tour the borough tonight with sirens blowing to signal the start of the Mothers March on Polio.

Mayor Price proclaimed the week of Feb. 6 to 12 Boy Scout Week.

A letter from the Eatontown Veterans association was forwarded to Mr. Roberts for a legal opinion. In it the veterans asked if, because they are renting their building, they will be required to pay local taxes. Chartered as a non-profit organization, the Internal Revenue Bureau advised them that income taxes would not have to be paid.

Teenagers' Club

The local Teenagers' club received Councilman Smock's assurance that a request from David Geschwenter for $150 for "essential supplies" would be met. It was pointed out that $85 in donations last year resulted in a worthwhile crafts program. Mrs. Norman Theiford also reported that club members have offered to supply labor if the borough supplies paint and material to renovate the borough hall basement.

Councilman Howard Meyer said provision already has been made to obtain the items needed.

Mrs. E. E. Sharp asked if council is taking steps to insure that the borough pond is safe for skating. Councilman Smock said he ordered signs which will be posted when there is safe skating, but Borough Attorney Roberts cautioned that attending to such a sign might prove a grave responsibility. Councilman Kirkgaard was asked to determine if the police department could assume the responsibility.

Rumson Board Hit by Bascome

RUMSON—J. Radford Bascome of the Coordinating Committee for Better Education this morning criticized the board of education for action it took last night in setting next Wednesday night as the date the board will meet with representatives of the Coordinating committee, Public School Action Committee, P.T.A. and borough council.

At last night's board meeting, a letter was received from the coordinating committee asking that a joint committee comprising board members and members of the coordinating group be formed to begin working on a feasible school plan. The board agreed to a meeting with the group about including the board as a whole and that if it were to meet with the Co-ordinating committee other groups, that took a stand on the recent school controversy should also be invited.

Mr. Bascome said this morning: "It is unfortunate that the school board refuses to grant our request for a joint meeting in light of the results of Tuesday's election."

The Coordinating committee was a leading figure in defeating the board's $1,250,000 elementary school plan in Tuesday's election.

Meyner Explains Abbott's Firing To Churchmen

King Gets Governor Conduct Was Lacking

Gov. Robert B. Meyner Tuesday night defended here the dismissal of Hansford J. Abbott as director of the New Jersey Highway Authority.

Speaking at a question-and-answer session following his talk before the Council of Presbyterian Men at Westminster house, the governor said:

"I never cared for the type of conduct displayed by Mr. Abbott while he was receiving $18,000 a year salary."

While Mr. Abbott was running the authority, said the Democratic governor, "you couldn't find a Democrat collecting tolls on the Parkway south of Ocean county." It was Mr. Meyner's view that the same rules that apply to business also should apply to government.

The governor's remarks were prompted by questions by Ross E. King of Little Silver, president of the men's council.

Mr. King told the governor that he had heard him speak at Peddie school Jan. 14 against the way some people who offer little personal responsibility to good government speak out against politicians.

Mr. King referred to Mr. Abbott's 18 years of public service and to his being a veteran of both world wars. He asked the governor how he could disassociate the qualifications of duty he applies to politicians and what has happened to this man who is not of your political party?

The governor said that when Mr. Abbott was injured, in a car accident in May, 1953, "the highway authority paid all of his expenses." And he suggested Mr. Abbott, a Republican, through his hiring methods, showed favoritism to Republicans.

Mr. Meyner also revealed that he had asked for Mr. Abbott's resignation Jan. 18, 1954, almost a year before he lost his job.

One question involved Mr. Abbott's pension rights—whether or not he was fired just two days before he would have been eligible for a state pension.

The governor said no, Mr. Abbott would have been qualified for a pension in March, 1956, and that the pension would have cost the highway authority $51,000.

Mr. King later told a newsmen that "those present considered that the governor gave his answers in a very forthright and honest manner."

Other Points Made

On other matters, the governor: Said no Asbury Park-Trenton toll road is planned in the immediate future.

Asserted that the state's motor vehicle licensing system will be revamped.

Held that he still wants to develop a state medical-dental college.

Declared that he sees no simple solution to Jersey's juvenile delinquency problem.

Asked that more interest be given by the people to workings of their government.

At a business session, the club installed Mr. King as president; William L. Ford, vice president; Robert W. Edmundstone, treasurer, and Richard E. Stuart, secretary.

It also voted to send three delegates to the Eastern area meeting of the National Council of Presbyterian Men at the New Yorker hotel Feb. 25-27.

Police Continue Robbery Probe

WEST KEANSBURG—State police at Keyport barracks are still investigating the robbery of a $40 and $50 in cash by an armed man who held up Wheatley's gas station on rt. 36 here Monday night.

State police said the robber drove an old model car with Florida license plates. He was described as blond, about 25 years of age, and wearing an Army jacket and trousers.

Boro Schedules Sale of 4 Lots

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS—Borough council Tuesday night set 8 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 8, for public sale of borough-owned lots on Valley dr., Mount ave. and Garfield ave.

Council's action was taken on the recommendation of Councilman Patrick J. McConnell, chairman of the finance committee. Offers have been received for the four lots. Bidding at public sale will determine their sale price.

Harvey H. Bowtell, real estate and insurance broker, has increased two $500 offers to $750 each. It was in view of these increases and an offer of $200 from Joseph Wynne of 73 East Garfield ave. for a lot for which Mr. Bowtell has offered $250 that Mr. McConnell recommended public sale.

Mr. Bowtell later commended Mr. McConnell and council for its action on the public sale. He said he has been working for sales of this nature since 1945.

To Hit 'Prime'

Mr. Bowtell said it was his opinion that in a real estate sense Atlantic Highlands will "hit its prime this spring." He suggested that council also study the advisability of a personal property tax for non-home-owning residents of the borough.

Council President Everett C. Curry told the governing body that he will investigate a procedure failure in which the plumbing inspector, Dr. Edwin F. Stewart of Fair Haven, who also is health officer here, is not informed of street openings for sewer connections and of the installation of septic tanks, as board of health regulations require.

Mr. Curry also will study the need for more stringent regulation of the installation of water meters. To be considered is a plan whereby the water department would "set" water meters after installation by plumbing contractors.

To Prepare Budget

Council filed the annual reports of the board of health, health officer and registrar of vital statistics, and referred a budget request for $1,300, submitted by the board of health, to the finance committee for consideration during the preparation of the 1955 budget. Council will meet Monday night with Borough Auditor William A. Sternkopf, Jr., to work on the budget.

Mr. Curry also told council that the installation of automatic equipment for the addition of chlorine to the sewer plant already has reduced the cost of water at 10 percent. He said he expects that this will increase during a period of some months. At an annual chlorine cost of $4,000, the equipment will effect savings of its own cost with several years, he added.

Councilman H. E. Donoghue, chairman of the fire committee, will confer with Borough Attorney John M. Pillsbury about the need for an ordinance to restrict the setting of bonfires. Mr. Donoghue made reference Tuesday night to several grass fires that have required fire-fighting equipment to be summoned to extinguish resulting blazes.

$50,000 Note Purchase

Mayor Waldron P. Smith told Mr. McConnell that he will confer with Mr. Pillsbury and James B. VanMater, president of the Atlantic Highlands National bank, about the apparent failure of the bank to follow council's instructions in reference to the purchase of a $50,000 United States Treasury note in a transaction similar to one that last year netted the borough about $700 interest.

Mr. McConnell criticized the failure to follow council's explicit instructions. He said the delay already has cost the borough a return through interest on the note. Mr. Pillsbury told Mr. and Mrs. William R. Miller of 93 West Washington ave. that he will investigate their fears, expressed Tuesday night at the council session, that lumber yard is being established in the vicinity of their home.

They pointed to recent activity of a bulldozer and to large stacks of lumber as grounds for their apprehension that a lumber yard might come into existence with a tendency to depreciate the value of their home and add to their fire insurance risk.

$1,300 Due Weller

Also to be discussed at Monday night's budget session is $1,300 due Weller Auto Sales corporation for work done during a period reaching back to 1947. The firm, council member hold, has submitted vouchers improperly prepared, and council during this time has been unable to pay for work done for the borough.

Council instructed Mrs. James Posten, assistant to Acting Borough Clerk Fred Walker, to ask the firm to prepare details of services rendered with a view toward the submission of proper vouchers and the inclusion of a "line item" in the budget for the payment of the bills.

This would require specific mention of the cause for the appropriation to pay for the items.

Council will meet at 7:30 p. m. Feb. 8 with a representative of the Jersey Central Power and Light company to discuss the need for the correction of certain "dark spots" along First ave. since the installation of mercury vapor lamps.

Filterott to Attend

Also to be invited to confer with council that night is Borough Assessor John S. Filterott.

Council renewed the tax license held by John Moeck of Center ave., Leonardo, who has worked with borough taxis during heavy load periods. The payment of $135 for moving public library books from the former library in the basement of the school to storage, and from storage to the library's new quarters over the post office on First ave. at Ocean blvd., also was approved.

Council authorized the purchase of an oil stove for the Great Ob server corps post at the yacht harbor here, at a cost of about $50.

Councilman Edward G. Walder told council that a representative of every scout unit in the borough—including Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and Sea Scouts—will address council Tuesday, Feb. 22, about the contribution of his unit to the community.

for the most pressing problems. At a recent meeting of our steering committee, the following suggestions for spending state aid money were unanimously adopted:

Seven Suggestions

"Reducing the size of classes where these are notably overcrowded; providing more nearly adequate salaries where present salaries are insufficient to attract capable teachers; providing additional supervisory assistance so that more effective work can be done in the field of curriculum and classroom teaching; supplying an adequate supply of textbooks, reference books and other types of school materials; increasing the number of library books and reference materials; although state aid funds are for current operation, this additional money may ease the strain of total tax burden so that it will be easier to construct building facilities, and establishment of an adequate school health and dental program.

"We urge persons concerned with the state of our kids to lend their support in seeing to it that first consideration for the use of additional state school aid money be given to the needs of the schools. When such needs are fully met, the money may be used to consider the need for tax reduction."

Board Candidates

other board members toward this end, if elected.

Mr. James said he would work for "further education in the township for the betterment of everyone concerned." He said he was in favor of "paying for education now as we see our problem to lend our support in seeing to it that first consideration for the use of additional state school aid money be given to the needs of the schools. When such needs are fully met, the money may be used to consider the need for tax reduction."

Mr. Luedke referred to the period of his service on the school board as, in his opinion, "honestly the most productive years in the history of the township." He cited the board's unanimity in decisions leading to the construction of the 33-room central school, "the nucleus of a modern high school." He also cited increased salaries, a "deeper interest in teaching methods, books and the problems of learning," the foundation for greater school expansion, and the fact that "all activities of the board are out in the open for public airing, consideration and study" as other board accomplishments.

'Wonderful Dream'

Mr. Reeves said that running for election to the school board has been a "wonderful dream of mine for several years." He called for "centralization" of education for pupils "in their own areas," and was particularly opposed to young people riding buses long distances to schools out of their neighborhoods. He said he would work to prevent this if he is elected to the board.

Mr. Filice, saying he was "happy to be the instrument to bring Mr. Rice's message" to the P. T. A., read a statement prepared by the candidate, reviewing his education, background and other experience, and declaring: "In my opinion, there is no more important service to be rendered by a citizen to his community and to his family than his contribution toward the strength and efficiency of the public schools of his community, and in helping to direct the use of that system to the best interests and welfare of the children of the community."

Variety of Queries

Replying to queries from the audience, candidates gave their views on a variety of subjects, which ranged from a "buy-at-home" policy, through the need for board members to be able to devote time to needs of the board, transportation problems, action toward adding to the central school, and the need for more attention to problems of finance and borrowing power.

The question and answer period also became an opportunity for members of the audience to query other board members on plans, policies and actions of the board. Replying to these questions were Mr. Copeland and Mr. Filice.

Exchanges also elicited the reply from Dr. Filice that 24 rooms probably will be on double-session next fall in Leonardo, Middletown, River Plaza, Port Monmouth and Fairview schools, with more high school pupils to take occupancy of additional rooms in Leonardo grammar school.

Rutgers Study

Mr. Filice said that results of the Rutgers university survey, now being conducted, will help the board determine the necessary financial steps that must be taken to meet projected needs of the township school system.

Council also established $2,500,000 as the estimated cost of a fully-equipped high school to house 1,500 pupils. The high school would be a conversion of the $800,000 central school.

Mr. Filice and Mr. Copeland reviewed board efforts to keep up with the "tremendous growth" of the township. Mr. Copeland said 54 rooms have been added to the school system during the past seven years.

This came after Mr. Luedke had called attention to the fact that after all the additions that have been made to the system the school board finds itself in the same plight as years before as a result of the continued population growth.

PTA Reviews Marking Methods

"Report Cards, Parent-Teacher Conferences or What?" was the topic of a forum discussion meeting of Oakland Street Parent-Teacher association Tuesday. Mrs. Peter Kozachok was chairman. Parents participating were Mrs. Arthur J. Polin, Mrs. Melvin Edwards and Mrs. Arthur Ross.

Forum members said that each school is different, some using report cards and others prefer the parent-teacher conference. Forum members felt there first should be a conference between the teacher and the child so that teachers could explain to children their accomplishments. Then, if necessary, there should be parent-teacher conferences.

This discussion was followed by a question and answer period. Audience opinion on the subject was the most satisfactory. The audience also agreed that parents could discuss their children's problems whenever necessary and that report card results would show if a conference is necessary.

Mrs. John Dzielny, safety chairman, asked more "Mom Cops." She displayed the current edition of the state P.T.A. monthly magazine because the feature article dealt with the Oakland Street P.T.A. "Mom Cops."

The parent education group will discuss "How Red Bank High School Graduates Qualify for Entrance in Eastern Colleges" at a meeting, Feb. 25 at the home of Mrs. Melvin Edwards on West Front st.

Seven Rumson Residents Seek Regional Board Seats

Arthur L. Adamson

John Black

William Fanning

J. Russell Garvin

Seven candidates will seek five Rumson seats on the Rumson-Fair Haven Regional board of education in that district's election next Tuesday.

Mr. Fanning, Mr. Garvin and Mr. Black will vie for two two-year terms while Mr. Moncrieff and Mr. Leonard and Mr. Robinson will seek two one-year terms. Mr. Adamson is unopposed in his bid for the son in unopposed in his bid for the Rumson three-year term. Mr. Fanning, Mr. Garvin, Mr. Moncrieff, Mr. Leonard and Mr. Adamson were named to the regional board by Earl B. Garrison, county superintendent of schools, after formation of the district.

The following biographies and statements by the candidates were compiled by Rumson members of the League of Women Voters, Red Bank region. A non-partisan organization, the league does not support individuals or political parties.

Mr. Adamson

Mr. Adamson has lived in Rumson on Clover lane five years. Three of his children go to the Lafayette Street school and the fourth is at Kent. He is cubmaster of Rumson pack 11, a director of the Long Branch Chamber of Commerce and past president of the Long Branch Kiwanis club. Mr. Adamson served as a lay member of the elementary school committee and of the regional high school committee of the Rumson board of education. He became a member of the Rumson-Fair Haven regional high school board of education when that board was appointed last year.

Mr. Adamson graduated from the public school system of Hempstead, L. I. in 1931, Princeton in 1935 and Harvard Law school in 1939. After a year of law practice in Providence, R. I., he was drafted into the Army. He served in the Signal corps in radar and was released from active duty as a captain in 1945. He then joined with fellow members of his Army unit and helped form Electronic Associates, Inc. Since that time, he has been vice president and a director of this company which is located in Long Branch.

Mr. Adamson is a member of the American Bar association, the Institute of Radio Engineers and Phi Beta Kappa.

Mr. Adamson said he is convinced that a high school can and should provide challenging instruction not only for the slow and average student as is commonly done, but also for the outstanding student.

Mr. Black

Mr. Black has been a resident of Rumson nearly all of his life.

William B. Leonard

William Moncrieff

William Robinson

His family purchased property in the borough in 1922. He attended Rumson grade school for part of his primary education and graduated from Red Bank high school. Mr. Black received his degree in mechanical engineering at Stevens Institute of Technology in 1940. At present he is a licensed professional engineer in the state of New York, and is working for the Babcock & Wilcox company, steam boiler manufacturers, in the capacity of assistant chief contract engineer.

Mr. Black has had some experience in teaching to help in his understanding of the board's problems. He was an instructor in civil engineering for two summers at the Stevens camp for freshmen, and taught mechanical drawing at a evening course at the same school. At present he is teaching a review course in structural design for professional engineers examination sponsored by his company for its engineering personnel.

Mr. Black served in the Navy aboard the cruiser Helena during World War II and shortly after his discharge purchased property in Rumson. Since that time he has been active in many borough functions. He served on the planning board for a short period and then transferred to the zoning board, of which he is still a member. Mr. Black was one of the original group that formed the Rumson first aid squad in 1949. He was in charge of the squad during their organizational period and served as president the first five years.

Mr. Black is married to the former Jean Jaquet of this borough, and they have two children of school age.

Mr. Black has stated: "I believe the education received in high school is of prime importance to the youth of our country. With the formation of a regional high school board, it is essential that this group do everything in its power to raise the school rating of our high school by having a high caliber teaching staff and sufficient teaching equipment and not accepting second best in either category."

Mr. Fanning

Mr. Fanning has lived in Rumson most of his life. He attended the Lafayette Street school and was graduated from Rumson high school in 1943. During World War II he served with the U. S. Army in Europe two and one-half years. He attended Rutgers university and is the branch manager of Universal C.I.T. Credit corporation in Newark.

Mr. Fanning is married to the former Dorothy Cadman of Fair Haven, who is also a graduate of Rumson high school. The couple have two children, William, Jr., and Patricia.

Mr. Fanning, in a statement issued this week, said "I am vitally interested in maintaining and furthering the high standards in the new regional program that have been attained in our present high school."

Mr. Garvin

Mr. Garvin was appointed to the Rumson board of education in Nov. 1953, to fill an unexpired term. It was his motion to erect a K-8 elementary school and sell the present high school to a proposed regional district that ended a six months' controversy in the community over the proposed school plan.

Prior to his appointment to the board, Mr. Garvin and Thomas V. Jardine headed a committee investigating the entire school question. He also was a member of the petition committee headed by Bertram H. Borden. Mr. Garvin is a business and estate analyst and district manager for the Connecticut General Life insurance company, Red Bank. He is a former district manager of the Commercial Banking corporation of Baltimore, Md.

During World War II, he was commissioned an engineering officer in the U. S. Navy, and later was appointed by Adm. Charles E. Rosendahl to establish and direct the Naval Airship Supply center, the navy's first. For outstanding work in the performance of this duty,

Mr. Garvin received two citations from the Atlantic and Pacific Fleet commands.

Mr. Garvin is this year's special events chairman for the Red Bank Lions club, member of the board of directors of the Red Bank Community Y.M.C.A., member of the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce, member of the board of the Monmouth chapter of the American Cancer society and served as the first president of the Rumson Community Appeal association. He is an associate vestryman of St. George's Episcopal church, and is on the faculty of the church school. Mr. Garvin is on the fund-raising committee for the new Hazard hospital and is serving on the "Man of the Year" committee for Monmouth county.

Mr. Garvin is married to the former Virginia Sherman, graduate of Montclair Teachers college and a former social studies teacher at Union high school and eighth grade teacher at Belmar. Mr. and Mrs. Garvin are the parents of a son and daughter, who attend Rumson public schools.

Mr. Garvin, in a statement issued this week, said, "I believe that the public school system is basic to the functioning of our democracy and I am willing to devote and give my time, energy and resources through taxation to try to provide, within our means, the best possible educational facilities and opportunities for the children of Rumson."

Mr. Leonard

William B. Leonard, president of the Red Rock Bottling company of Rumson, has been a resident of the borough 18 years. He is a World War II veteran, having enlisted at Fort Monmouth; served 38 months in the Pacific with the 13th Air Force and was discharged after four years of service with the rank of major. He was awarded five Bronze Stars for battle participations and the Bronze Star medal. Before enlisting he was in the brokerage business in New York. He is a graduate of Brown university. Mr. Leonard is married to the former Doris Borden of Rumson.

In a statement issued this week, Mr. Leonard said, "The progress of the newly formed regional high school district of Rumson and Fair Haven depends largely upon the development of our K to eighth grade school in Rumson. We are constantly working to bring to a successful conclusion our long range planning for the educational program that we consider best for the children of our borough. Again, I urge a large turnout to vote for a strong and united Rumson delegation to the regional board of education."

Mr. Moncrieff

Mr. Moncrieff has been a member of the Rumson board of education 15 years and its president for four and one-half years. He has been in the building contracting business in Rumson for many years. Mr. Moncrieff is seeking a one-year term on the regional board as he thinks he has a job to complete, having been one of the strong advocates for regionalization, and with the knowledge and experience he has gained in helping to form the regional district he hopes to see the regional system in operation during the one year term he is seeking.

Mr. Robinson

William W. Robinson has been a resident of the borough since 1946. He is 26 years old, married to the former Jane Dimock, and has three children ages 11, 9 and 6. He is a graduate of Pingry school of Elizabeth, and cum laude from Princeton university in 1939. He is the present secretary of his class.

Mr. Robinson saw four years of naval service during World War II and is now a lieutenant commander in the inactive reserve. He commanded a subchaser in the Southwest Pacific and was awarded two Bronze Stars for combat. He also served one year as an instructor at the Naval Training center in Miami.

Mr. Robinson is a sportswriter and the boat columnist for the Newark Evening News. For the past three years he has been baseball coach for Rumson Club pack 11. He is a board member of the National Sweepstakes Regatta association and is vice commodore of the Shrewsbury Sailing and Yacht club and junior sailing chairman of the North Jersey Yacht Racing association.

In a statement issued this week, Mr. Robinson said: "The school situation is the number one problem in Rumson today. To progress properly as a modern community, the borough must face it intelligently and with foresight, never allowing it to drift into an emergency status. As the father of three school age children, and through having done recreation work with young people from all parts of Rumson, I am vitally interested in the problem and anxious to help in handling it and in keeping the citizens informed on it."

TO THE PEOPLE OF RUMSON We are gratified at the outcome of the school referendum held in Rumson on Tuesday, and pleased that the controversy is ended. Those in the minority should take comfort in the fact that everyone is unanimous in their desire to work out a feasible school plan for the Rumson children as promptly as possible. Any disagreement was only as to the means, and not to the end. The obvious interest in the question, as illustrated by the huge turnout, should be an indication of continuing interest in school affairs. This interest can best be shown by electing to both School Boards candidates who are demanding the best in education, supported by a financially sound program. Next Tuesday, February 1st, we urge the support of John Black and William Fanning as members of the new Regional School Board. The election will be held at the Rumson High School, and the polls will be open from 4 P. M. to 9 P. M. Over 1,600 votes were cast in Tuesday's referendum, the greatest number ever cast in a Rumson school election. The results clearly indicate a mandate by the people. This must not be sacrificed by staying away from the polls next Tuesday. Your vote will be necessary to the success of our candidates, so that another school plan can be prepared and submitted to the voters with the utmost speed. Co-ordinating Committee for Better Education Rumson, N. J.

State Plans To Widen Rt. 35

A plan to widen Riverside ave.—which is part of rt. 35 through Red Bank—has been included by the State Highway department in its program for the current year. Plans call for widening the highway by ten feet from Bridge ave. where it enters Red Bank at Cooper's bridge, to West Front st. If widened the road would be increased to 44 feet. It is now 31 feet for most of its length.

Enslay M. White, Red Bank borough administrator, when questioned about the project this week said there is nothing definite but that it is highly probable the work will be started this spring. He said officials of the borough and highway department have been in conference recently about the traffic problem on rt. 35, which becomes serious in the summer especially during the racing season at Monmouth park. A report is current that the job will be started in April.

Part of an over-all traffic plan submitted to borough council in July, 1953, called for one-way traffic at the intersections of Riverside ave., Front st. and Maple ave. The plan further called for southbound traffic to be routed across an island at Riverside ave. and Front st. into Pearl st. Southbound traffic then would return to Maple ave. on an extension of White st. Northbound traffic would continue to travel down Maple ave. to Front st. then west on Front st. to Riverside ave. A half block of Front st. was widened recently from Riverside ave. to Maple ave.

Black for Parties

DATE BAIT . . . Princess style junior date dresses in crisp black faille, for holiday festivities. Left, jeweled velvet dog-collar and cuffs add glitter to a coat dress which zips down a fly front. Right, demure velvet collar and four-in-hand tie embroidered with fake jewels trim a simple, waist-whittling dress with flared and pleated skirt. Both are designed by Natlynn, come in junior sizes, budget priced.

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Editor

There's nothing like a good black date dress to see a girl smartly through the holiday party season.

Though the straight silhouette is the thing for suits and workaday clothes this season, the younger set still likes full skirts and crinolines for dress-up wear.

You'll find lots of full-skirted junior styles in black faille, velveteen or crepe in the shops for holiday buying, usually budget priced and often trimmed with a bit of glitter, for gaiety.

The princess style, with fitted midriff and widely flared skirt is still a favorite, because of its flattery for the slim-waisted junior figure.

For less than $25 a girl can buy a gay and well-styled frock for holiday festivities, and have a party outfit that can be changed about with different accessories to do duty for many occasions.

Synthetic Sewing

MIRACLE SEWING . . . This smart dress of Orlon-and-wool jersey is easy to stitch if you know the special tricks of sewing on synthetic fabrics. Because the fabric is 50 per cent Orlon and only 20 per cent wool, a Dacron thread is used. Fashion details include cording at waist and a furry collar of white yarn, made on sewing machine with guide attachment—simple if you know how.

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Editor

With all the new synthetics appearing on the market, the average woman is becoming an expert on fabrics and fibers, blends and construction.

However, while most women appreciate the advantages of man-made fabrics, such as their quick-drying, easy-to-iron qualities, many home seamstresses haven't mastered the finer points of sewing with synthetics.

Local sewing center experts suggest that it's a good idea to learn the tricks involved in stitching synthetic fabrics, and offer a few down-to-earth tips.

There are four basic points to remember in sewing synthetics, and these concern the machine stitch, the tension, the pressure and the equipment—needle, thread, scissors and pins.

As a rule, the machine stitch should be shorter when stitching synthetics, especially those of firm weave. The tension should be lighter than usual, and the presser foot also should exert a lighter pressure.

Most synthetic fabrics, such as nylon, offer considerable resistance to the needle. Therefore it is wise to use a small needle, No. 9 or 11, very sharp scissors and sharp pins such as those made especially for fine dressmaking. Thread selection, too, is important, for while mercerized thread may be used on some synthetics, there are nylon and dacron threads which have been developed specifically for certain fabrics, and now are available in a range of colors. A new monocord nylon thread is superior to ordinary twisted nylon thread for some purposes. It offers greater resistance to abrasion, it does not snarl and the ends don't unravel. Also, since it is slightly translucent, it has unique color blending qualities. For instance, a white monocord nylon thread can be used for sewing on any pastel shade.

Even though your synthetic fabrics may be labeled "no pressing," remember that seams and construction details must be steam-pressed as you sew, just as in other fabrics.

For further free instructions on stitching with synthetics, and detailed information concerning the properties of nylon, Dacron, Orlon, dymel, vicara and acrilan, send stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Stitching with Synthetics, Box 415, Grand Central Postoffice, New York 17, N. Y.

Jail?—Should Be, But Where? Sea Bright Ponders the Question

SEA BRIGHT—Plans for the construction of a new borough jail, at an estimated cost of $10,000, were discussed Tuesday night by the mayor and council. Officials then decided more planning was necessary.

The governing body will meet privately Sunday afternoon to make a number of decisions—whether the jail should have three or four walls, a police office or not and should be located behind either the borough hall or a new fire house.

The jail could have three walls if built squarely behind borough hall but that would cut off daylight in the clerk's office. It could have four if it extended out from the borough hall, in a northeast-southwest "T" shaped structure but that would cost more money.

Headquarters or Sidewalks? The jail could have its own police headquarters' office and then it would not be necessary to bring prisoners through the borough hall. But Councilman Neils Jacobsen said this might be needlessly expensive—and he wants to save money "and build sidewalks in our town."

The jail might be built between borough hall and the prospective new fire house and then, conceivably, only need two walls and still have its own entrance. But the question here is how much of the valuable space on the beach parking lot—from which the borough takes in a good income in the resort season—would be lost.

This sort of thinking and talking went on between the mayor and councilmen for a considerable time Tuesday night before, at Mayor Thomas Farrell's suggestion, it was decided to make a detailed property inspection Sunday afternoon and work the problem out.

3-Cell Jail Everyone seemed to like the general design of the jail as put before the council by Hugo E. Magnuson, Highlands architect. It would have two cells for men and one for women, with plumbing in all three. They would be set off from a police headquarters room by a wall. There also would be a utility room in the 25x30-foot building.

Need for the building was outlined by Police Commissioner Robert F. Keehn, Jr., who said he thought it ought to go on to the rear of the prospective fire house. Newsmen noted that, as designed, the jail building would be attached to the borough hall, with one door through to the clerk's office and questioned Mayor Farrell about that. He, in turn, questioned Mr. Keehn and general discussion followed, ending with the decision to settle the outstanding problems Sunday.

Mr. Keehn did not like a suggestion by Mr. Jacobsen that a police headquarters section be omitted as unnecessary. "If we're going to cut out the police office, I say, let's cut out the jail," he said.

Sea Bright has not operated a local jail for some years. One it had was outmoded and the borough made an agreement for Rumson to handle its prisoners.

What Car to Buy? Another discussion that ended without definite decision was which bid to accept in the purchase of a new police car. Six bids were opened.

One liked by Mayor Farrell called for a cash difference of $900, with a trade-in allowance of $1,160 for the present car, for a new Plymouth.

In another for a Plymouth, a dealer asked for a cash difference of $995 and promised to service the car for 20,000 miles, something liked by Mr. Keehn.

The one that attracted Councilman Charles Eibenberger was for a Plymouth with heavy-duty equipment and a cash difference of $946.

It was explained that on police cars it is not necessary for governing bodies to advertise for bids and that the council could buy any of the six cars offered. Decision was left to the police committee.

Long Torso Is Spring Silhouette

THE 1955 LOOK . . . Here are major silhouettes shown by New York designers in current advance previews of spring styles. The Dior line is adapted to the American taste, with the long-torso shape the most important silhouette.

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Editor

Here's how you'll know it's new this spring: The most important silhouette for the advance guard of the 1955 Easter Parade will be the long-torso shape. It comes in suits, in dresses and in three-piece-costumes.

The long-torso silhouettes is not, as previously reported, the shapeless sack of the 1940s. It hugs every curve of the figure, and requires more careful contouring than any fashions that have come along in the last decade. It is fitted from bustline to hipline, and has its belt around the hips. But woe to the gal who lets her midriff sag, if she aspires to one of these new spring outfits.

American manufacturers have adapted the Christian Dior line to the national taste. The newest spring outfits will preserve all the feminine curves, but will accent curves instead of points. The bustline will be natural, without faillies, the waistline will be as nature made it, without cinchers. The idea is a straight, stem-like line from bust to hips, with the bosom following its natural shape above.

Fabrics this spring will be more sumptuous than in many years. Pure silk tweeds, chiffon weight wools and silklike cottons are all in the picture. The top color is, as usual, navy.

There will be lots of trim white collars, and a return of the navy and white polka dot silk dress, with a prim schoolgirl simplicity. Costumes, consisting of three-quarter coat, slim skirt, and hip-length overblouse will be much in evidence. The coat is lined in fabric to match the blouse.

The year-round weatherwise theory again is evident in spring clothes, which are designed for 12-month wear. Easter suits will be lighter-weight than ever, planned to be worn throughout the summer and on into fall. Under coats, they can do winter duty also.

Necklines will be higher, skirts slightly shorter, bosoms raised and rounded—and you'll still have to diet, to be in step with the fashion parade of 1955.

JET AIRLINER IS BORN

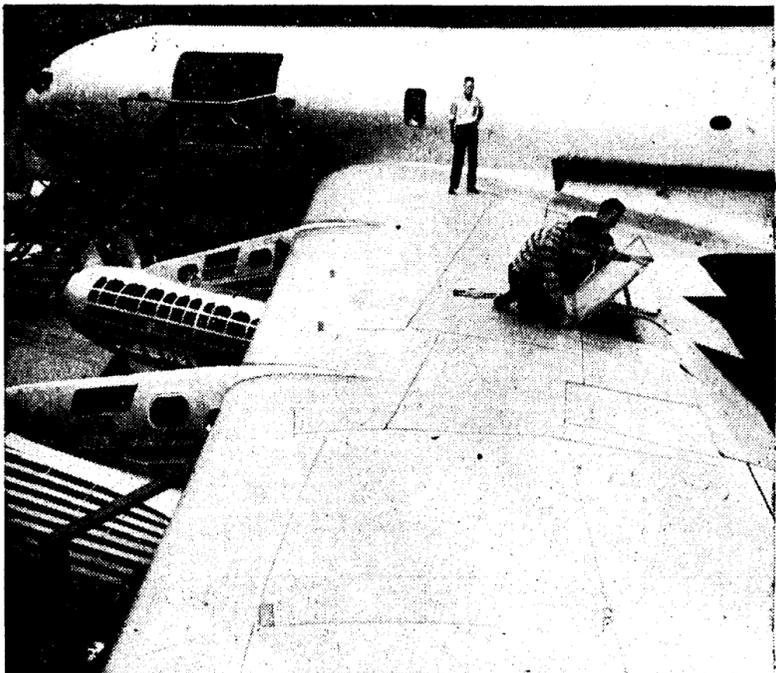

U.S. aviation has a powerful new arm—a jet tanker-transport, the world's first. It's the new Boeing 707 Stratoliner-Stratotanker, a four-jet giant, with a wing span of 130 feet and a 128-foot-long fuselage. It's been eight years in the making: six in the blueprint and designing stage and two in the actual construction. The plane was built at a cost of 15 million dollars.

The new jet—to be known as the Stratoliner in its commercial version and as the Stratotanker in the military—is now undergoing intensive test flights at Seattle. The plane has already attained speeds over 600 miles per hour, has climbed to more than 42,000 feet. As an airliner, the 707 will transport from 80 to 130 passengers, fly non-stop from New York to Los Angeles or San Francisco in less than 5 hours. As a stratotanker, it can refuel the U.S. Air Force's newest 600-miles-per-hour jet bombers and fighters, thereby greatly extending their "hitting" power. It's faster than any current transport by more than 200 miles per hour.

America's first jet transport, the Boeing 707, zooms high over the snow-capped peak of Mt. Rainier, Wash.

1. The 707 mock-up: Exact replica of the jet stratotanker-stratoliner built of wood as test bed for various installations and procedures used in building plane at Renton, Wash.

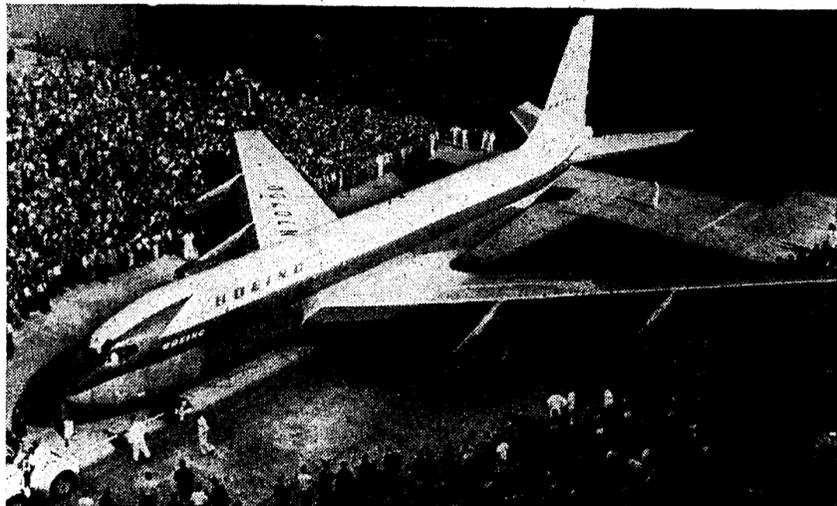

2. Wooden jig in which the Boeing 707 was built lies empty just before start of construction on actual airplane.

3. Late stage of construction shows 35-degree sweepback of the wings. Wingspan measures 130 feet.

4. Nose cowl of 707's jet engine frames nose of huge transport.

5. Watched by thousands of Boeing employees, completed giant transport makes its open-air debut.

6. Smiles and tears greet test pilot Tex Johnston after 707's first flight. Wife's happy; daughter Barbara sobs in relief.
